BRITISH GRANT RECOGNITION TO RUSSIAN REDS

Soviets Accepted as "De Jure Rulers."

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Great Britain today formally recognized the union of Socialist soviet republics as the de jure rulers of those territories of the old Russian empire which acknowledge their authority." Until an agreement has been reached on important questions no British ambassador will be sent to Moscow.

Until the negotiations on the various issues are complete Robert MacLeod Hodgson will represent the British government at Moscow as chargé d'affaires. He served seventeen years as vice consul and consul at Vladivostok and since 1921 has been head of the British commercial mission in Moscow. It was he who presented the recognition from Downing street to the Russian foreign office this afternoon.

The Russians were invited to appoint a chargé d'affaires to represent them in London.

Wants Old Treaties Validated.

This document, after shaking hands with the soviets, states:

"In order, however, to create normal conditions of complete friendly relations and full commercial intercourse it will be necessary to conclude definite and practical agreements on a variety of matters, some of which have no direct connection with the question of recognition and some of which, on the other hand, are intimately bound up with recognition.

"In the latter category may be cited the question of the existing treaties. His majesty's government are advised that the recognition of the soviet government will, according to accepted principles of international law, automatically bring into force the treaties concluded between the two countries previous to the Russian revolution where these have been denounced or are otherwise judicially lapsed. It is obviously to the advantage of both countries that the position in regard to these treaties should be regularized simultaneously with recognition.

Would Restore Russia's Credit.

"Technically not connected with recognition but clearly of the utmost importance are the problems of the settlement of the existing claims by the government and nationals of one party against the other and the restoration of Russia's credit.

"It is also manifest that genuinely friendly relations cannot be said to be completely established so long as either party has reason to suspect the other of carrying on propaganda against its interests and directed to overthrow its institutions.

"In these circumstances his majesty's government invites the Russian government to send to London at the earliest possible date representatives armed with full powers to discuss these matters and to draw up a preliminary basis of a complete treaty to settle all questions outstanding between the two countries."

RIOTS IN JAPAN; STRONG HAND OF CENSOR RULES

The Tribune received no dispatches from its correspondent in Japan yesterday. The news service seemed to be in a similar position. E. H. KUTTNER, IN SENSATIONAL DIVORCE, DIES

Emanuel H. Kuttner, wealthy vice president and treasurer of the Illinois Slag and Ballast company, who was married last summer to Dr. Florence M. Fowler, resident alienist at the county hospital, died suddenly yesterday in Stuart, Fla. Mr. Kuttner, who was 57 years old, figured in a sensational divorce action brought against him by his first wife, Mrs. Helen J. Kuttner of Lombard, in April, 1922.

Mrs. Kutther named Dr. Fowler as corespondent in the suit, charging that her husband had established a "love nest" for the alienist in Chicago. She also charged he had brought Dr. Fowler to their Lombard home for the purpose of observing her with a view to having her adjudged insane.

Mr. Kuttner retaliated with a suit accusing his wife with being unduly familiar with a Hindu mystic in Chicago, and Dr. Fowler filed a $100,000 damage suit against Mrs. Kuttner.

Both suits were settled out of court and Mrs. Kuttner was granted a divorce at a private hearing in Wheaton. The marriage of Kuttner and Dr. Fowler followed on Aug. 4 last.

The body will be brought back to 420 Williams street, River Forest, for burial.

McAdoo Admits Being Hired by Doheny in "Mexican Oil"

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1.—William G. McAdoo received $150,000, not $250,000, as stated today by E. L. Doheny before the senate oil lease investigation committee, for legal services to the Doheny companies, according to a declaration made at McAdoo's offices here late today.

When shown a report of the Doheny testimony, Mr. McAdoo first issued a statement characterizing as "wholly without justification of any sort" the dragging in of his name at the oil lease probe.

His next move was to telegraph Senator Walsh of the senate committee, asking that arrangements be made for him to appear before the committee and give his testimony. McAdoo and Mrs. McAdoo plan to leave for Washington tomorrow morning on account of the illness of Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. McAdoo's father.

His Formal Statement.

Mr. McAdoo's earlier statement said:

"The dragging of my name into the investigation of oil leases at Washington is wholly without justification of any sort. In 1919, a year after leaving President Wilson's cabinet, my former law firm in New York, McAdoo, Cotton, and Franklin, was retained as counsel by Mr. Doheny's companies and on my removal to California in 1922 I was retained as special counsel here, such employment being entirely in connection with Doheny's Mexican affairs.

"I have never at any time been employed or consulted regarding any oil leases anywhere in the United States. When Mr. Doheny sought the services of McAdoo, Cotton, and Franklin in New York in 1919 it was represented to us that under article 27 of the new Mexican constitution [against which our government had filed a protest on its adoption some years before], an attempt was being made to confiscate the valuable properties of Mr. Doheny's companies in Mexico.

Doheny's Case "Meritorious."

"My firm, after consideration, concluded the case was meritorious. We accepted it, did all we properly could for our client for two years, and the firm received a fee of $100,000.

"I regarded the Doheny companies as the outstanding independent oil companies in the country and felt perfectly free to act as counsel for them. My counsel and advice has been confined to the Mexican problems with which these companies are constantly faced.

"For the period I have acted as special counsel here I have received an annual retainer of $25,000, payable semi-annually. The employment of my former firm and myself by these companies has extended over the past four years."

McADOO'S AIDS SATISFIED.

With an indication that the policy at national headquarters will continue to be "full steam ahead," David Ladd Rockwell, national chairman of the McAdoo presidential organization, last night gave out the following telegram which he had sent "the chief" at Los Angeles:

"That was a bully statement you made. Your critics have not a leg left to stand on. Your friends are glad to receive the definite information which sustains their previous conviction.

"The American people will not be deviated from their determination to nominate and elect you their President by silly rumors or sinister inferences."

Local Democrats opposed to McAdoo said privately that the Teapot Dome disclosures yesterday "put him out."

Two Are Jailed for Mail Fraud as Song Publishers

Emerson Needham and A. M. Ballee, partners in several song publishing agencies, were sentenced to the county jail yesterday by Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe for using the mails to defraud. Ballee was sentenced for two months and Needham for six months.

Needham and Ballee were placed on trial one year ago with W. L. Needham, who is now serving a sentence in Leavenworth penitentiary for using the mails to collect money on a fake song publishing scheme. They were granted a change of venue and were placed on trial yesterday.

Ancient Hero of Broom and Rifle 'Home' Again

Ole Olson, 67 years old, Evanston's supreme patriot, is back again. Ole's history is one replete with janitor's jobs. He claims, in fact, that he's been janitor in every "real" place in Evanston. In the Canadian army during the world war he acquitted himself with such bravery and courage that at the age of 60 he was given several medals and badges of honor.

Last night, dirty, bedraggled, unkempt, and unrecognizable, Ole ambled into the Evanston police station and asked for a place to sleep. He got the "sag."

AMAZING TALE OF FALL'S NOTE WITH NAME OFF

Standard Oil Aided by Daniels, Charge.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—An avalanche of new sensations in the Teapot Dome scandal, with the damage falling chiefly on the Democratic party, shook the capital again today. Outstanding disclosures and developments of the day were:

1. Edward L. Doheny, millionaire oil operator and financial "angel" of the Democratic party, testified he has paid retainers and fees aggregating $250,000 to William G. McAdoo, leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, for representing him in Washington and in California since he resigned as secretary of the treasury in Wilson's cabinet.

2. Mr. McAdoo wired the investigating committe from Los Angeles demanding a hearing at the earliest possible moment. The committee will grant the demand.

Gregory Worked for Doheny.

3. Thomas Watt Gregory, former attorney general in the Wilson cabinet, was once retained to represent the Doheny and other interests in Washington, particularly in relation to Mexican affairs, after he resigned from the cabinet, according to Doheny's testimony.

4. The White House announced that President Coolidge would confer tomorrow with Mr. Gregory to determine whether or not his business relations with Doheny disqualify him to act as special prosecutor for the President in the oil cases, as he had been requested to do by Mr. Coolidge.

Lane and Garrison, Too.

5. Doheny also testified that he had retained the late Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, immediately he left the cabinet, at a salary of $50,000 a year, and that the banking house of Blair & Co., of which he is a member, probably had employed Lindley M. Garrison, former secretary of war in Wilson's cabinet.

6. The oil magnate presented to the committee a tattered fragment of a note, from which the signature had been torn, which, he admitted, was all the security he had for the $100,000 he loaned to Albert B. Fall while the oil leases were under negotiation.

7. After hearing the report of the physicians who examined Mr. Fall the committee decided to insist that Fall take the stand tomorrow, despite his plea of ill health.

House Votes to Kill Leases.

8. The house, by a vote of 120 to 4, approved the Walsh resolution adopted by the senate yesterday authorizing the President to employ special counsel to institute court proceedings to annul the oil leases and to punish those guilty of wrongdoing.

9. The senate deferred action on the resolution calling for the resignation of Secretary of Navy Denby, and adjourned until Monday.

10. The investigating committee determined to go to the bottom of alleged stock transactions by government officials in connection with the oil leasing. An auditor will be appointed to examine the books of W. B. Hibbs & Co., and a subpœna went out tonight for James Sloan Jr., former secret service man assigned to the White House, more recently Washington representative of Samuel Ungerleider & Co., brokers.

M'ADOO'S BOOM WRECKED

Mr. McAdoo's presidential boom, in the opinion of many senators, is wrecked. They agreed that the disclosures today would necessitate a complete reshaping of the Democratic campaign plans. While there is no accusation of financial wrongdoing against Mr. McAdoo, and while no one questions his right, after he retired from the cabinet, to accept a retainer from Doheny, it was the senate consensus that Doheny's testimony would have disastrous political results on the former secretary of the treasury.

As for Mr. Gregory, it is expected at the senate that the President will promptly withdraw his name as one of the two special oil prosecutors. There is no dispute as to Mr. Gregory's

EUROPE SCANS BULLETINS ON EX-PRESIDENT

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Feb. 1.—Former President Woodrow Wilson, a month ago intensely unpopular in France on account of his Armistice day speech, has become the object of anxious national attention.

Bulletins of his condition are posted by the Matin and other newspapers with offices on the boulevards, the main streets and in the center of Paris, while the government wireless stations sent out all the information available.

The emotionalism of the French people, easily aroused, has already moved back to 1919, when every café owner and truck driver turned out for the triumphal entry of the man who was then credited with "saving France from the boche."

Every Saturday morning paper carries pictures of Mr. Wilson and lengthy reports of his sudden relapse, with captions like "Wilson Saluting the Land of France," in the Petit Parisien, and "The Great Statesman of Our Time on One of His Last Trips in the Open Air," in the Petit Journal. Louis Loucheur's paper declares that the world has listened in vain for the voice of the great idealist in the last three years. "France will mourn if that voice is stilled forever," it declares.

Quai d'Orsay throughout the afternoon received bulletins of Mr. Wilson's condition, which were given out to the native and foreign press throughout the day. The foreign office received a flood of inquiries and the afternoon editions of papers carried the news of the former President's relapse.

The interest here is acute. "In France, as throughout the world," one of the press officials said, "Mr. Wilson was one of those rare personages who either was worshiped or hated, and whichever feeling predominates France is vitally, almost personally, interested in his destiny."

British Premier's Tribute.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—[By the Associated Press.]—Opening his speech before the Pilgrims society tonight, Ramsay MacDonald, the British prime minister, referring to Woodrow Wilson, said:

"This is a moment when partisanship and party allegiance sink into insignificance. The whole English nation tonight is standing with held breath, waiting for further word of this great American. Our party differences flare up like a great beacon and die down like the flames of a great beacon, for what is great and inspiring in the actions of public men belongs not to parties, not to nations, but to the whole of humanity."

USES RADIO SET TO TRAP WIFE; WINS DIVORCE

Boudoir conversation, overheard in the basement through a combined dictaphone and radio receiving set, won a divorce yesterday for Walter C. Pearson, a broker residing at 417 West Lake street, Maywood. He named Harold Feldman, a boarder in his home, as corespondent.

"I became suspicious of Marion, my wife, on Aug. 7," Pearson told Judge Hugo M. Friend. "That night I came home unexpectedly and, on nearing our home, saw the boarder pulling down the shades. I decided to investigate. From my radio set I constructed a dictaphone and had the two headpieces fixed in the basement. The next night a friend and myself tuned in.

"We listened a few minutes, then went upstairs. It was as I suspected."

"Prepare your decree," said Judge Friend to Pearson's attorney, Harry Brown.

LIFE IS EBBING; HE CAN SURVIVE ONLY FEW HOURS

Opiates Are Used as Night Goes On.

BULLETIN.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2, 4 a. m.—(Special.)—At this hour former President Wilson is still alive, but his life is slowly ebbing away. Oxygen and morphine were administered at times through the night.

Admiral Grayson said, when the last bulletin was issued at 1:15, that he would inform the watching newspaper men of any decisive change. He has not come out since.

The kidneys have not been functioning properly and uraemic poisoning is appearing. The patient, however, is showing greater sustaining powers than his physicians thought possible.

It is feared that the dawn, when vitality is lowest, may bring the end.

All is quiet in the neighborhood of the residence. A slim ray of light pierces the night from the sickroom, while reporters and police wait outside.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Following a gradual ebbing of his strength in the last few months, Mr. Wilson was stricken two days ago with a digestive disturbance which became serious this morning and caused his physicians to despair of saving his life. It is feared that he will not live till tomorrow morning.

Says Machine Is Broken.

"The machine is breaking down," he said today. "I am ready to go."

"Mr. Wilson is as game as can be," said Admiral Cary T. Grayson, his physician. "When he saw the other doctors standing there with me he looked at me with a trace of a smile and said: 'Some times too many cooks spoil the broth.' He is fighting like a man to the very end."

Kept Alive by Stimulant.

Conscious most of the time, the man who was chief executive for eight years in one of the great war periods of the nation and who profoundly influenced the history of his times, passed the day in the shadow of death.

Late this evening the spark of life was being artificially stimulated.

A bulletin issued from the sick room at 10:20 tonight said Mr. Wilson had "gradually lost ground." The bulletin follows:

"Mr. Wilson's temperature is normal. Respiration is 20, pulse 56. He has gradually lost ground. He has no pain. Our chief present concern is to insure a restful night."

Afternoon Report.

This bulletin followed one which was issued at 4:25 this afternoon which said:

"Mr. Wilson's condition is practically unchanged. During the day he had some sleep and took a little nourishment. His vitality is very low. All we can do is hope for the best."

Admiral Grayson said Mr. Wilson had not lost his power of speech.

"Mr. Wilson is not suffering any pain," he said, "but he is gradually growing weaker. No one has seen him today excep Mrs. Wilson, who is constantly at his bedside, and Miss Margaret, who arrived this afternoon. He recognized his daughter immediately on her entrance."

Asked as to how Mrs. Wilson was standing the ordeal, Admiral Grayson said: "Mrs. Wilson is as wonderful as any one could be under the circumstances. She has been at the bedside practically the entire day. She is there now."

Efforts of Experts Ended.

Despite the serious condition of the former President, Admiral Grayson and Bernard M. Baruch came out of the house after the 10 o'clock bulletin was issued.

"I am just going out to get a breath of fresh air," Admiral Grayson said.

Behind Admiral Grayson, as he left the house, with their hats and overcoats on, were Drs. Sterling Ruffin and H. A. Fowler, who held the consultation with him. Admiral Grayson explained they were leaving for the night. The specialists can do nothing, as the end is approaching and medical skill is of no avail. After a short ride Admiral Grayson returned to the bedside to remain for the night.

Harding's Nurse at Bedside.

Miss Ruth Powderly, who attended Warren G. Harding on his last illness and had a White House experience of several years, is on duty in the sick room.

President and Mrs. Coolidge sent a message of sympathy to Mrs. Wilson and when the President received the correspondents late in the afternoon he closed the conference with an appreciation of the former President.

"I am very much disturbed," said Mr. Coolidge, "to hear of the illness of Mr. Wilson. I met him most pleasantly when he returned the first time from France. He landed in Boston. A public reception was tendered him there at which he made an address and I attended the welcome of the commonwealth.

"I have always recalled with a great deal of feeling that when I was chosen governor for the second time, though he was very ill, he sent me a message of congratulation, so that learning of the probable nearness of his end is a matter that touches me deeply."

Recent Failure Fast.

It had been apparent for months that Mr. Wilson was failing. When the hundreds of admirers marched to his house on last armistice day and greeted him he was assisted to the doorway, but was able to utter only two or three brief sentences.

On Jan. 16 last the members of the Democratic national committee called on Mr. Wilson, and, filing through his room, shook hands with him and gave him greetings that turned out to be a farewell. He seemed very feeble at that time and recognized names but rarely faces.

Most of the committeemen came away feeling that they had met with Mr. Wilson for the last time.

Within the last few days some alarming symptoms began to develop and Admiral Grayson was summoned hastily on Wednesday to return from a hunting trip in North Carolina.

At first Dr. Grayson thought that the trouble was but another recurrence of a digestive disorder that had disturbed Mr. Wilson intermittently for many years, long before the tragic attack of paralysis which fell upon him in September, 1919, as he was returning eastward from his tour of the country in advocacy of America approving the league of nations.

Realized His Own Condition.

Late last night, however, the patient did not show any sign of throwing off this attack, and at 2 o'clock this morning Dr. Grayson and Mrs. Wilson, who had been watching at his bedside through the night hours, became alarmed over the symptoms developing. There were unmistakable signs of failure of vital organs to function, and a consultation of physicians was ordered.

Early in the morning Dr. Sterling Ruffin, heart specialist, and Dr. H. A. Fowler, specialist in kidney diseases, who had treated Mr. Wilson when President, were summoned to the Wilson home. In the meantime Dr. Grayson had issued a bulletin announcing that the former President's condition was "extremely serious."

"Mr. Wilson is very low," said the admiral. Tears were streaming down his face as he spoke. Woodrow Wilson had been more than a patient to him. As naval physician he had been assigned to the White House when Wilson took the reins of government in 1912. The President became attached to him as a friend and to Woodrow Wilson Dr. Grayson owed his rapid elevation to the rank of rear admiral. For more than a decade they had been inseparable.

"You've Done the Best You Could."

Dr. Grayson, after he had told the newspaper men of the gravity of Mr. Wilson's condition, started to return to the house. Then he stopped abruptly and said, the tears still streaming down his face:

"You know, he is still conscious and appears to be in little pain. A short while ago he reached forward as I was leaning over his bed. He patted me gently on the shoulder and murmired in a feeble voice, 'You have done the best you could for me, but the machine is breaking down. I am ready to go.'"

As soon as news of the gravity of the former President's illness spread over the capital messages began to pour into the Wilson home and intimate friends began to arrive. Among the first to reach the house was Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to Mr. Wilson as governor of New Jersey and as President of the United States. With him was Bernard Baruch, chairman of the war industries board during the war.

Tumulty Shows Loyalty.

It was the first time Mr. Tumulty had called at the Wilson home for more than a year. An estrangement between the former President and his loyal aid occurred more than a year ago, due to an announcement Mr. Tumulty had made at a dinner in New York given to James M. Cox, defeated Democratic candidate for the presidency.

At that dinner Mr. Tumulty had made a statement indicating that Mr. Wilson was loyal to Cox as the leader of the Democratic party. Mr. Wilson repudiated it publicly the next day and from that day to this never forgave Mr. Tumulty, who, however, remained heroically loyal to his former chief and has consistently done everything he could to make his closing years comfortable, unknown to Mr. Wilson.

None of the former President's intimate associates, however, shared Mr. Wilson's attitude toward Mr. Tumulty, and the door of the household has ever been open to him, although he did not communicate with Mr. Wilson. Several times during the day Mr. Tumulty visited the Wilson home and conferred with Mrs. Wilson and others assembled there. Mr. Baruch also visited the house several times during the day and evening, as did Vance McCormick of Pennsylvania, former chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Unable to Inform One Daughter.

Members of the former President's family were summoned early this morning. Miss Margaret Wilson, the eldest daughter, was reached at her New York home. Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo, who was Eleanor Wilson, second daughter, was communicated with at Los Angeles. She and Mr. McAdoo were preparing to leave for Hawaii, but changed their plans immediately and started east.

Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, who was Jessie, the youngest daughter, unfortunately could not be reached, having left for China with her husband a few months ago, Mr. Sayre being on an advisory mission for the Chinese government.

Joseph Wilson, brother of the former President, was summoned from his home in Baltimore, arriving early in the day. Mrs. Edith Benham Helm, who as Miss Benham was Mrs. Wilson's social secretary and accompanied the Wilsons to France, was also an early arrival. At 3 o'clock Joseph Wilson and Mrs. Helm left the Wilson home and returned at 3:30 with Miss Margaret Wilson, who arrived from New York.

Only Intimate Friends Admitted.

Early in the afternoon Mrs. Wilson, who is an Episcopalian, summoned to the household the Rt. Rev. James Edward Freeman, bishop of the diocese of Washington. Bishop Freeman remained with Mrs. Wilson for more than half an hour, consoling her in her hour of anxiety and reading the Episcopalian prayer for the afflicted.

Throughout the day there was a constant stream of notables arriving at the Wilson home. Only the most intimate friends were admitted, however, others leaving cards and expressions of hope for Mr. Wilson's recovery.

Throughout last night and all day today Mrs. Wilson remained constantly at her distinguished husband's bedside, leaving it only for a moment at a time to greet intimate friends who arrived and endeavored to cheer her.

SKETCH OF HIS ILLNESS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[By the Associated Press.]—Mr. Wilson was 67 years old on his last birthday, Dec 28. It has been a little over four years and four months since he collapsed on his special train in Colorado, after delivering forty speeches in a determined effort to stem the tide of sentiment that had risen so high against the league of nations in the senate.

The news of his breakdown was given to the world when, on the next day, Sept. 26, 1919, he was unable to leave his train to deliver an address at Wichita, Kas.

Over a clear track the presidential special sped back to the capital city, and although he was able to walk out of the Union station and wave his hat to a Sunday morning crowd that had gathered to see him come home, there was a grave development a few days later and he has been able only for short periods at a time to appear in public. He never again left Washington.

Due to Work in Paris.

From the special train it was announced by Dr. Grayson that the condition of the distinguished patient was due to overwork, following on the heels of an attack of influenza while the President was at the Paris peace conference in the early spring of 1919.

Even then Mr. Wilson was suffering from nervous exhaustion; it was said he must remain quiet for a considerable time; and out of this grew the more serious consequences that made him almost an invalid over a long period.

During his residence at the S street house, whither he went when Harding became President, he has received comparatively few visitors. Some of the distinguished men of Europe, with whom he had shared the leadership of the great years of the war, have dropped in for a few minutes during visits here. He seemed to enjoy particularly the chats he has had in the last few months with Clemenceau and Lloyd George.

But he has taken an even keener interest in talking over old times and present tendencies with that little coterie of personal friends that have remained in his confidence during the years of his confinement.

PRAISED BY AN OPPONENT.

Yonkers, N. Y., Feb. 1.—[United News.]—Senator Seldon P. Spencer [Rep., Mo.], who figured in one of the bitterest personal political battles ever waged by former President Woodrow Wilson, paid high tribute to the American war leader in the latter's last illness.

"It is with pain that I bear the knowledge that Woodrow Wilson is very near to death," Spencer said in an address.

He then proposed a silent toast to "him than whom no man ever had higher ideals," and asked that a mute prayer be mingled with it that the life of the ex-President be spared.

Children Join Silent Crowd Ebbing Past Wilson Home

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Up and down the steep, narrow street to the S street residence which has been Woodrow Wilson's home since he laid aside the presidency for the peace of private life there flowed today a curious traffic marked by the hush of an impending sorrow.

It was not very great as numbers go, for S street, where the Wilson home stands shoulder to shoulder with a half dozen other mansions, is a byway of city traffic. But as word spread the former President lay close to the end of his life's journey a police cordon was necessary to free the street of motor cars that turned that way for word from the sickroom.

Crowds Cause Inconvenience.

Police had difficulty in restraining the crowds that gathered about the home, and despite precautions many worshipers of Woodrow Wilson managed to break through the guards and cause inconvenience. There were no untoward incidents, but the police were compelled to ask several individuals, among them well meaning women, to withdraw from the front of the house.

One woman who admitted she had no personal acquaintance with Mr. Wilson was discovered half kneeling at the front door of the house in an attitude of prayer. The police did not disturb her until she entered the vestibule and sought to gain admittance to the house. An officer asked her name and mission. She said she would give her name later, but that she had come to pray for "the President."

"He must live," she added, "and I am going to pray for him." The officer urged her not to insist upon entering the house and gently escorted her across the street, where she stood for several hours in an attitude of prayer.

Opposite the Wilson home, where a high bank stands fronting a stretch of vacant, brush grown land, a line of passers by grew and thinned and grew again. For the most part they were people of the neighborhood.

Children Lose Playful Spirit.

Among them were little groups of children caught in the midst of their play by the sight of the silent watchers and come to look curiously on. Most of them have seen other crowds before that house, crowds of cheering, laughing folks come to wait patiently until the bent figure of Woodrow Wilson should emerge at the doorway and send back a smiling answer to the cheers and applause that greeted him.

There had been bands to play and orators to speak those other times, and the children who came today seemed at first to expect such another moment of excitement and pleasure. But they caught the sorrowful expectancy of the gathering very quickly and drifted silently away. It was not necessary that any should caution them to quiet.

Patient's Room in Secluded Spot.

The room where Mr. Wilson lay is high in the back part of the house, his windows looking out toward the south over the brick walled garden that rambles down to the street below. There was no fear that the coming and going at the S street entrance of the house would disturb him. Even the noises of the streets about could rise but softly to that quiet room.

As night fell a cold wind rustled through the street, chilling the watchers. The group slowly broke up, except for a knot of enlisted men from the noncommissioned officers' staff school, whose uniforms made a spot of color under the dim street lights. They were stanch admirers of the former President and came to pay what tribute they could to him. Some of them remained long after dark before they surrendered to the cold and drifted away to leave the vigil to the newspaper reporters.

NORTH SHORE ELECTRIC DEAL UP TO BUSCH

The task of concluding negotiations with the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railway to force the company's application for a franchise with the alternative of ouster proceedings in court, was imposed upon Corporation Counsel F. X. Busch by the council local transportation committee yesterday.

An earlier recommendation by the committee that the city's police and legal authority be employed to halt the electric cars at the city limits was refused by the council on Wednesday. It directed the committee to reconsider its action.

Mr. Busch has ruled that the company has no right to operate its trains on the elevated lines' rights of way.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 1.—Theodore Roberts, the actor, has developed pneumonia, his physicians announced today. Roberts was taken ill about seven weeks ago while on a vaudeville tour. His trouble then was kidney stone.

"He is holding his own, however," his doctors announced.

UNEMPLOYMENT CRISIS PASSES FOR THE WINTER

The peak of the unemployment crisis has passed for this winter, according to observations at the federal and state free employment bureau. E. D. Cahn, chief statistician for the Illinois department of labor, said that reports that had come to his office during the last week showed a slackening of the unemployment tension in many lines of industry.

The only new factor in the situation, he said, was the closing of many mines in southern Illinois. In Macoupin county especially, the closing of coal mines has thrown thousands out of work, and many of these are coming to Chicago.

In addition to this, the influx of Negroes and Mexicans continues to keep the labor market top heavy, with many more applications for jobs at the employment offices than there are jobs to give. The seasonal suspensions, however, are over, and automobile, building, and equipment concerns are taking on men. Total payments for employés and average weekly earnings have increased over last year. During the last month the state free employment office has placed 10,000 workers in positions. The turnover in jobs is less than it was a year ago.

Conditions are reported good at Rockford, East St. Louis, and Springfield, but job shortages are reported at Aurora, Decatur, and Danville.

55,000 CHILDREN ARE STINTED IN SCHOOLS, REPORT

In over 100 Chicago public schools 55,000 pupils are unwilling victims to overcrowding, it was declared yesterday at a meeting of the school plan commission recently appointed by President Charles M. Moderwell of the board of education.

The commission is studying needs of the Chicago school system. Especial emphasis will be laid on a survey of possible growth in order that plans for new schools may be laid in advance of the increase of population.

M'DONALD URGES NEIGHBORLINESS AMONG NATIONS

Praises the Friendship of U. S. and Britain.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Ramsay MacDonald made his first speech as prime minister and foreign secretary tonight at the largest banquet ever held by the Pilgrims' society. The occasion was a welcome to Frank Kellogg, the new American ambassador to London, and a farewell of Sir Esme Howard, the new British ambassador to Washington.

Mr. MacDonald has earned the title of the most handsome and most dignified prime minister of Great Britain in recent years. His speech tonight was a model of what such speeches should be. It avoided the fulsomeness which has been charactertistic of too many Anglo-American speeches in the recent past and at the same time it was friendly and, to use Mr. MacDonald's own words, neighborly. Mr. MacDonald assumed from the start that there was nothing to quarrel about and at the same time there was nothing to gush about, and he did neither.

During the dinner the prime minister engaged in an animated conversation with the prince of Wales, who sat next to him.

Mr. MacDonald began by referring to the duties of an ambassador. He said there were some ambassadors who always meant trouble when they came to the foreign office, while there were others who filled the heart of the foreign secretary with joy because they had nothing to say to him. He said that Mr. Kellogg was in the latter category, for the relations between Great Britain and the United States had never been better.

Must Learn to Be Neighborly.

Talking of international affairs generally, Mr. MacDonald said that the great trouble was that nations had not yet discovered how to be neighborly. The United States had made that discovery, he added.

"We want no alliances and no documents," Mr. MacDonald stated. "The position of the two countries is such that these are not required. We are prepared to stand side by side, not in a political alliance but in human fellowship to advance the cause of humanity and freedom.

"We have had quarrels in the past. We have disagreed, as all happy families do, but when a great cause calls we have always discovered a very shy but very faithful friendship for each other."

Kellogg Urges Arbitration.

Mr. Kellogg's address was also notable. He said:

"At this time, when Europe is divided by age long racial hatreds, commercial rivalries and national jealousies, and when some governments have broken down, and ruin and starvation face the peoples, it is my judgment that one of the greatest services that the United States and British governments can perform for the world is to set examples of fair and broad minded statesmanship in international dealings, maintain the sacredness and inviolability of their treaties, deal with all nations, large and small, with a spirit of fairness and tolerance, keep our own houses in order and maintain in their purity the fundamental principles on which our governments are founded.

"I personally favor the codification of international law rendering easier decisions of judiciable questions arising between nations under treaties and international law, arbitration through some sort of international court of justice and the limitation of naval armaments and land forces.

Let Laws Govern Nations.

"Individuals, in their relations to the state and society, are governed by principles of law. Why should not nations, in their dealings and relations, be regulated by settled principles of law?

"At the pan-American conference last spring we unanimously adopted a resolution reviving and reconstituting a commission for the study and codification of public, private, and international law and to renew the work interrupted by the breaking out of the war. I believe that this will be accomplished and that it will be the foundation for the establishment of settled principles for the government of nations.

"No question is of more importance today than the extension of arbitral and judicial settlement of disputes on all questions arising under treaties and the well settled principles of international law. In this aftermath of the war, when the passion, prejudice, and rivalry aroused by the great conflict still exist, it would be to the material interest of all nations, large or small, if their controversies should be settled in the calm atmosphere of judicial or arbitral tribunals rather than by the arbitrament of arms.

Favors Limitation of Arms.

"Another problem that is attracting the attention of the peoples of the world is the limitation of armaments; so far as this question is concerned, the position of my country is well known and was clearly defined at the Washington conference of 1921. The treaties for the limitation of naval armaments were the first constructive step taken through all the long centuries of war to limit the building of armaments."

Sir Esme Howard, in a frank and cordial speech, put in a plea for old diplomacy, of which he is an avowed exponent.

Two Men Nabbed by U. S. for $3,000 Embezzlement

On a charge of embezzling nearly $3,000 from the National Bank of Commerce, Max Goldman, bookkeeper, was arrested in Philadelphia on Thursday, and his roommate, Philip Kornblitt, 1243 North Artesian avenue, was taken into custody yesterday by Deputy United States Marshals Oros and Car.

If you knew what ageing in wood does for pipe tobacco

Even the finest Kentucky Burley Tobacco (and that's the kind we use) is green and raw when it's pulled. You could hardly smoke one pipe load of it.

And here's where Velvet is different: Our ageing takes out that rawness and harshness, and makes the tobacco mild and mellow and gives it fine flavor. Ageing in wood does what no artifical treatment can do, Remember—Velvet Tobacco aged in wood.

$500,000 BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT WAR OF LETTERS

Candler and Mrs. De Bouchel's Notes Read.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 1.—Trial of the $500,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Onezima De Bouchel against Asa G. Candler Sr. today developed into a battle of letters in the United States District court here.

Attorneys for the Atlanta millionaire closed presentation of direct testimony this morning without offering a witness and relying upon the evidence adduced through the introduction of thirty-two letters written by Mrs. De Bouchel to Mr. Candler. In one of them she proposed a secret marriage to be announced after the divorce proceedings from her former husband were assured of a firm legal status. The plaintiff's counsel immediately opened with rebuttal evidence 41 forty-one letters which she received from Mr. Candler had been read court adjourned at 2 o'clock for the day.

To Argue Divorce Validity.

The validity of the divorce decree obtained at Reno, Nev., by Mrs. De Bouchel from Adolph Rocquet, as it affected the legal merit of her engagement to marry Mr. Candler, will be argued tomorrow in the federal court before Judge Samuel H. Sibley. This will be the principal feature of the fourth day's session of the case.

Mrs. De Bouchel's divorce has been attacked by attorneys for Mr. Candler on the ground that she was not legally domiciled in Nevada at the time the decree was granted. This will be another of the legal phases of the case to be reviewed tomorrow morning.

In reading the letters today plaintiff's counsel intimated that their purpose was to offset the contention of attorneys for Mr. Candler that Mrs. De Bouchel was the aggressor in cultivating the acquaintanceship which led to the engagement to marry. The millionaire's lawyers in reading the letters from the New Orleans society leader had termed them "pursuit letters."

Say Engagement Was Invalid.

The attack on the divorce was outlined in an amendment which Mr. Candler's lawyers filed to his original answer the day the trial began. This asserted that any engagement to marry Mrs. De Bouchel was invalid because at the time she was the legally wedded wife of Mr. Rocquet. The contention was made that she did not establish a legal residence in Reno, Nev., in obtaining a divorce from Adolph Rocquet.

The letters read by the defense counsel today from Mrs. De Bouchel to Mr. Candler were addressed to "My Darling" and signed "Sweet One."

A letter from Reno, Nev., dated June 12, 1921, and addressed to "Dearest" says in part:

"I am worried sick and upset from letters I have received from New Orleans lawyer, Mr. Sperring. He writes that Mrs. Holmes has had several interviews with Mr. R. and he will give them no satisfaction whatever. He simply says he has not made up his mind as to what course to pursue.

"If he contests, I shall undoubtedly win, but I hate and abhor the attendant publicity."

Fears Speedy Marriage.

Another letter from Reno on Sept. 11, 1921, to "My Darling" said: "I think you will agree with me that it would not be safe for us to marry within six months of my divorce, as the chances are that Mr. R. would be so furious that if we married sooner he would sue you for alienation of my affections and perhaps me for bigamy. Knowing him as I do, I know it would be better to let his rage subside and cool off.

"However, six months after would be quite a different thing and would give us ground to stand on, because six months is ample time to meet, get acquainted, fall in love, become engaged, and get married. But I have a consolation to offer. We could be secretly married in Los Angeles in October after the convention and not announce it until I enter your home as your bride in the spring."

Says He Likes "Pretty Ladies."

A letter dated May 17 and written from New York by Mr. Candler said: "It is about midnight; I am tired, but will not rest until I write you. . . . I am sad because you are not with me. . . . Don't say I am a flirt again. Just like nice pretty ladies."

Under date of Aug. 30, 1921, he wrote: "By Sept. 3 I shall expect to receive a telegram from you reading something like this:

"'Liberty bonds issued; copy mailed you.' Then I will shout. Excuse an old man's folly. . . . . Love me because I love you."

A letter of Nov. 2, 1921, was read in which Mr. Candler said he was being urged daily by people who wanted him to furnish the brains and money to finance various projects.

"There is only one business I intend entering soon," he wrote, "and that is the business of being your husband."

'FITTER' LOCKOUT MAY RESULT IN A NATIONAL STRIKE

In an effort to force a settlement of the lockout of Chicago sprinkler fitters, a national strike of 6,000 members of the union is contemplated by the United Association of Plumbers, Steam Fitters and Sprinkler Fitters, John Doris, business agent of the local organization, announced last night.

The apprenticeship question brought on the lockout, according to Doris. He said his union lived up to the Landis award, which provided one apprentice for every three journeymen. When the award expired, he said, the employers insisted on giving each journeyman an apprentice. When the union resisted and suggested arbitration as a means of settling the controversy, union fitters were locked out and their jobs filled by men hired through the Landis arbitrament committee, he said.

CALL BRIDEWELL A 'DEATH HOUSE' IF FIRE STARTS

Drills and Alarms Found Lacking.

Fire hazards, unequaled, it is said, in any group of buildings in the city, were discovered in the House of Correction yesterday by the council building committee during an inspection of the institution.

JOHN C. McDONNELL.

Immediate appropriation for remodeling and alteration of the buildings which house more than 1,000 inmates and in which sixty-three dangerous violations of fire and building codes were noted, will be recommended to the council next Wednesday by the committee.

No Fire Alarms.

Only one of the seventeen buildings in the group is of fireproof construction, it was found, and in none of them is there any system of fire alarms, drills, or brigades, nor has any ever been maintained.

It is probable that in their report to the council the committee will include the summary of a survey of the institution made a few days ago by John C. McDonnell, chief of the fire prevention bureau, at the instance of Mayor Dever.

McDonnell's report advises abandonment of the men's hospital building, rewiring of all cells, and installation of fire extinguishers, sprinkler systems, and inside standpipes as well as a general cleanup of rubbish.

Need Two Firemen.

"In view of the fact of the almost total lack of supervision over fire apparatus, its upkeep, location, etc.," reads Chief McDonnell's summary, "we would respectfully recommend the employment of two experienced, competent, able bodied firemen to be employed twenty-four hours every day, including Sundays and holidays.

"This is urgently needed in view of the fact that there is no system of fire drills, fire brigades, nor has there ever been any semblance of a fire brigade or drill maintained.

"There is located here a building which has no equal in the city. It extends from north to south, 800 feet, the main cell house, in the center of which is located the men's hospital. The cell house on the south houses 600 human beings, and the north cell house quarters 400. In the center a three story hospital. An open elevator shaft leads to the hospital in which there are seventy-five sick inmates. Only one outside stairway fire escape and a narrow inside stairway are found.

"In view of the foregoing, nothing will prevent a loss of life other than immediate installation of an improved sprinkling system throughout."

CULLERTON MAY GO

Whether Mayor Dever will demand the resignation of Fire Commissioner John F. Cullerton or brush aside the attacks which have been made upon his executive methods, will be known in a few days, it was said by an administration leader last night.

Cullerton's two hour conference with the mayor Thursday afternoon revived reports that his resignation was to be forced as soon as he returned from Europe where he accompanied the American skating team to the Olympic games.

After the conference one of the mayor's closest confidantes declared that "a demand for Cullerton's resignation, if it comes at all, will come very soon."

SURGEON, ONCE FAMOUS, HIT FOR SELLING DRUGS

Dr. Price confessed to becoming a drug addict seven years ago. He has a wife and two grown daughters who are now in Florida.

NEW IMMIGRATION BILL APPROVED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—A bill proposing restriction of immigration to this country to 2 per cent of the foreign born of each nation here in 1890 and permitting virtual selection of the immigrants at the port of embarkation was ordered favorably reported to the house today by the immigration committee.

Each nation, however, will be allowed a quota of 200 immigrants above the 2 per cent basis. The present law, restricting immigration to 3 per cent of the foreign population here in 1910, expires June 30 this year and Chairman Johnson of the committee announced he would seek immediate consideration by the house of the measure.

The bill provides that all prospective immigrants shall get certificates of entry from United States consuls before embarking, thus practically insuring selection of the immigrants abroad.

The quota based on 2 per cent of the 1890 census limits the total number of immigrants to this country to 169,083 annually, instead of about 357,000, as at present. Great Britain, including north Ireland and the Irish Free State, are allowed 62,658; Germany, 50,329; Sweden, 9,761; Poland, 9,072; Norway, 5,653; Italy, 4,089, and France, 4,078.

BEAK TO TAKE STAND MONDAY.

Kurt R. Beak, former head of K. R. Beak & Co., on Monday will take the stand before Harry A. Parkin, referee in bankruptcy, and tell of the dealings which led State's Attorney Crowe to order an investigation of his company.

ROADHOUSE HEAD GETS LIFE TERM IN MURDER CASE

Conviction Smashes "Immunity" Boast.

Life imprisonment was the sentence decreed for Harry Heywood, manager of the notorious Green Corners inn at Lyons, Ill., by a jury which yesterday found him guilty of the murder of Adolph Scoff. Scoff, who lived at 2123 North Mango avenue, was shot to death in the inn on Dec. 3 last.

Heywood's bartender, Gino Stefanni, who was tried with him, was acquitted.

According to the evidence, Scoff missed his pocketbook while in the company of a woman inmate of the place. He made a complaint and Heywood and Stefanni attacked him, witnesses testified. During the fight revolvers were drawn and Scoff was shot.

Smash at "Immunity."

State's Attorney Crowe and his assistant, Joseph P. Savage, who prosecuted the case, viewed Heywood's conviction as a victory against the boasted "immunity" of roadhouse proprietors and keepers. Mr. Crowe has brought suit to close Heywood's café.

Letters of commendation were received by Mr. Crowe during the day from Mrs. Helen M. Hartough, president of the Woman's Protective association, and from the Rev. J. P. Brushingham, secretary of the morals commission of Chicago.

Mrs. Hartough expressed her appreciation of the "earnest and immediate" cooperation of Mr. Crowe's office in investigating the "Popular Motion Pictures corporation," which, it was charged, used the lure of the movies to entice girls into the underworld.

Lauds Plans for Boys.

Mr. Brushingham's letter spoke highly of Mr. Crowe's avowed intention of salvaging boys caught in their first wrongdoing.

"Prevention is so much better than cure," his letter stated. "We shall be glad to do everything in our power to join in your good work."

SLAYERS FORCE WARDEN TO LEAD WAY TO LIBERTY

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 1.—Posses combed the countryside about Little Rock tonight in pursuit of Emory Connell and Joe and Euros Sullivan, who, after a spectacular escape from death cells in the Arkansas penitentiary today, forced Hamp Martin, prison warden, to drive them through the penitentiary gates to liberty.

The three men, all with death sentences hanging over them, escaped after they had held up the warden and three other men, locked all except the prison official, and then forced the warden to lead the way to his automobile and drive them beyond the penitentiary walls.

Martin was put out of the automobile in which the men fled about a mile from the prison. He immediately gave the alarm and a search began which continued tonight without definite trace of the fugitives.

EYES ON EAST AS CASE AFFAIR SIMMERS HERE

Pastor and Wife Go for Brief Vacation.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

With investigations in the Leland-Case divorce tangle shifted, until Feb. 19, to the minister's former eastern pastorates, the three Oak Park principals yesterday settled down to business as usual, far from the jam in Judge Charles M. Foell's courtroom.

DR. CARL D. CASE.

The pastor went on a vacation.

The husband went back to work.

Leave Home Secretly.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl D. Case left their home, 206 North Grove avenue, Oak Park, secretly yesterday for a few days' rest. Their daughter, Mrs. Glenn Prentiss, refused to say where her parents were, but stated they were close enough to Chicago to return quickly should they be needed. Flowers, telegrams, and notes, according to Mrs. Prentiss, continued to arrive all day yesterday.

"These new so-called charges of Mr. Moss'," Dr. Case's daughter said, "have served to spur our friends and acquaintances on to an even greater show of their faith in father."

Albert R. Leland returned during the day to his position as manager of the Cruver Manufacturing company, 2456 West Jackson boulevard.

"Whatever happens," Leland said, "that man Case is a wonder. He's on top of the situation at every angle. I am the first to admit it. It's that quality that makes him get converts and it was that quality that enabled him to influence my wife."

Miss Brown Angered.

It was at the Gruver office that Miss May Brown, for almost a year, was employed as Mr. Leland's secretary. She denies absolutely Attorney Frederick A. Brown's charges that she is engaged to marry Leland.

"It's a malicious lie," Miss Brown said, "and I am going to have Judge Foell let me come into court to clear my name."

Mrs. Leland, looking much younger and prettier than at any time during the trial, spent the day engaged in household duties at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Loomis, 333 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park.

"I'm very tired," Mrs. Leland admitted, "but, O, I feel so much better now that it's all out."

Attorney William R. Moss, counsel for Mrs. Leland, leaves tomorrow morning on the Century for New York to take depositions which will tend to prove, he declares, the Oak Park pastor was guilty of improper relations with women parishioners at the Hanson Place church, Brooklyn, and the Delaware Avenue church, Buffalo.

"The whitewashes that are now coming in from the trustees of those churches do not disturb me in the least," Mr. Moss said. "I have positive information that will show I am right in my contention that Dr. Case left those pastorates under a cloud."

LINK JUROR IN PEACOCK CASE TO TWO MISTRIALS

When it was learned last night that the juror who held out against the conviction of Everett Peacock, charged with looting his bank of $275,000, also had caused a mistrial a year ago in the first trial of Willie Dalton, youthful bank robber, State's Attorney Crowe started an investigation.

The Peacock jury was discharged at 5 o'clock by Judge Harry A. Lewis when it reported its members had been unable to agree after twenty-five hours of deliberation. Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Hamilton, who conducted the prosecution, then called each juror into his office and learned the jury had stood 11 to 1 for conviction since early in the deliberations.

The juror who held out for acquittal was Harry E. Richards, 25 East 55th street, according to Mr. Hamilton. Richards also served on the panel in the Dalton case.

When Richards was questioned by Mr. Hamilton he said he believed Peacock's bank, the Milwaukee-Irving State bank, had been "loosely run," but did not see that the charge in the indictment, conspiracy to "kite" checks, had anything to do with the testimony offered by the state.

MOTHER OF THREE ENDS HER LIFE AFTER QUARREL

Mrs. Clara Kaspar, 30 years old, 1317 South East avenue, Berwyn, mother of three children, committed suicide last night by swallowing poison.

"We had a little quarrel," was the motive given to the police by her husband, Frederick Kaspar, an engraver.

Shortly after 5 o'clock the husband, with their 13 year old son, went to the basement to tend the furnace.

A few minutes later they heard moans. Hurrying to the bathroom, they found Mrs. Kaspar unconscious on the floor. Her two daughters, 2 and 5 years old, were at her side.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF WHILE TWO CHILDREN WATCH

Crazed by "moonshine," Herman Rentsch, a baker, returned to his home at 2347 Clifton avenue last night and shot his wife to death in the presence of his two children.

The terror stricken children escaped death at his hands by hiding under a bed while he was reloading his revolver and muttering threats to "wipe out the whole family."

Wife Shot Five Times.

A zone crime squad headed by Sergt. William Cox was touring the district when it was notified by neighbors of the shooting in the Rentsch home. After receiving no answer to his knock on the door Sergt. Cox forced an entrance was found Rentsch lying dead in the hallway, the revolver still in his hand. On the floor in the kitchen was the body of his wife, Mrs. Marie Rentsch. She had been shot five times.

It was only when the policemen happened to turn their flashlight under the bed that they became aware of the presence of the children.

Chided by Tired Wife.

Raymond, 15 years old, and Viola 11, corroborated each other as to the incidents leading up to the shooting. They said their father, who was employed in Brooks' bakery, at 1046 Webster avenue, had come home intoxicated for several nights in succession and had been scolded by their mother.

"Father should have come home at 2 o'clock this afternoon, but didn't come until after 6," said Raymond. "He had three loaves of bread under his arm and they were all smashed. Mother had cleaned the house for Sunday and she was tired. She complained over having to warm up his dinner because he hadn't come home when he should.

Locks Door, Opens Fire.

"He became angry and they quarreled for a few minutes. Then he went to the back door, locked it, and put the key in his pocket. Then he got his revolver and without a word kept firing at mother until it was empty.

"I ran and got some water and a cloth and was bathing mother's face when I heard him throwing out the empty shells and loading the gun again.

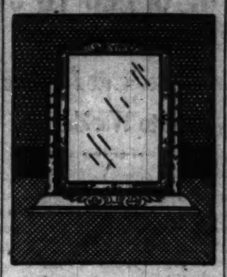

"I heard him say he was going to kill us, too, so I shoved Viola under the bed and crawled under myself.

"We lay there while father walked all over the house looking for us. I guess he thought we had gone outside. Then we heard another shot. We thought the policeman who found us was father still looking for us."

WOMAN'S DEATH RAISES TOLL OF SPEED TO 38

Two Intoxicated Drivers Sent to Workhouse.

The death in St. Anthony's hospital yesterday of Mrs. Mollie Greenberg, 69 years old, of 1321 South Homan avenue, who was struck by an automobile on Thursday raised the county's list of motor fatalities since Jan. 1 to a total of 38.

Mrs. Greenberg was crossing Homan avenue at Roosevelt road when the automobile, driven by William Miller, colored, 3208 South Wabash avenue, struck her. A coroner's jury exonerated Miller.

Two Sent to Workhouse.

Two men were sentenced by Judge John F. O'Connell in the Speeders' court to serve fifteen days in the house of correction for driving automobiles while intoxicated. They are William McGuire, 908 Bishop street, a taxicab driver, who had a bottle of liquor in his pocket when he was arrested, and Joseph Kacirek, 4122 West 41st street, who admitted having had a "little glass of beer" at a party. Kacirek's car scraped against a police flivver Thursday night.

Four Are Arrested.

Four persons, said to have engaged in a drinking bout, were injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a trolley pole in Blue Island. The injured, all of whom live in Gary, Ind., are H. J. Schwartzentut, the driver, his wife, and Robert Quine and his wife.

A deputy sheriff had been chasing the speeding car for a mile when it crashed into the pole. He arrested the four, charging Schwartzentut with drunken driving and the other three with disorderly conduct. Mrs. Quine, who sustained a broken leg, was the only one severely injured. She was taken to the St. Francis hospital.

KILLED AT CROSSING.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Harry A. McGrath, 30 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. McGrath, 1436 East 66th place, Chicago, died at a hospital here tonight of injuries received when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a train at a crossing west of Lafayette.

HANDS OF DEATH

DOZENS HURT IN CRASHES AS FOG BLANKETS CITY

Heavy fog over Chicago, with no lake breeze to drive it away, yesterday caused injury to dozens of persons in elevated wrecks, railroad smashups, and automobile collisions.

The most serious accident of the day was a rear end collision between elevated trains on the Ravenswood line. Forty persons were injured, but in the case of thirty-five the damage consisted largely of bruises.

Two other elevated smashups occurred near the 39th street station on the south side, but only a few persons were injured.

Eighteen persons were injured when two Illinois Central trains, each running in the same direction, collided at 43d street. Steel coaches prevented severe damage.

Chicago and Northwestern railway freight and passenger trains smashed into each other at Kinzie street and Le Claire avenue, resulting in injuries to several members of the train crews.

WILMETTE COPS GO ON WINE RAID; FACE TRIAL NOW

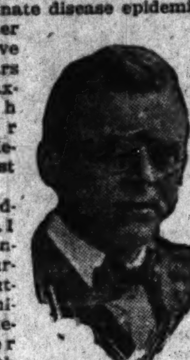

Two Wilmette policemen who were sent to the home of Robert McDaniells of 527 Park avenue to confiscate a quantity of wine yesterday returned "under the weather," according to Chief Albert Denman. As a result charges of unbecoming conduct will be made against them today.

McDaniells had been fined $25 on a disorderly conduct charge earlier in the day. Benjamin Stickney, 4869 Magnolia avenue, and W. J. Fox, 2014 Broadway were given $15 fines. Miss Jane Headley, a relative of McDaniells, was discharged when she told Police Magistrate D. M. Mickey that the men had become boisterous after drinking some wine.

It was after this that the policemen were sent to confiscate the wine on the court's order.

BUNDESEN SEES CHICAGO NEED FOR FILTRATION

Filtered and metered water would practically eliminate disease epidemics spread by water as well as save millions of dollars annually to taxpayers, Health Commissioner Herman Bundesen declared last night.

DR. HERMAN BUNDESEN.

A current medical journal sounded the danger of the recurring typhoid outbreaks until Chicago has supplemented water chlorination with filtration. However, it admitted that "until the ridiculously large waste of water has been checked the financial burden of a filtration plant could hardly be undertaken."

Not Absolute Safeguard.

"Chlorination of the water as now practiced is not absolute safeguard against typhoid outbreaks," declared Dr. Bundesen. "Chlorine under ordinary circumstances kills the germs and the water drinker becomes a germ cemetery instead of a germ aquarium.

"In the event of a heavy rainfall, accompanied by strong winds and overflow from the Calumet river and the sanitary district sewage disposal plants emptying filth into the lake, chlorine is not able to cope with the situation. Such a condition existed last fall and resulted in the recent typhoid epidemic.

"Filtration of the water would purify it beyond any possibility of danger. Of course, installation of the necessary equipment is almost impossible until the supply of water is controlled by metering.

Huge Waste Shown.

"Notwithstanding the fact that throughout the United States 100 gallons of water per capita a day has been determined as sufficient for all uses, Chicago daily pumps into its mains a total of 800,000,000, when 300,000,000 would be more than enough.

"Thus 500,000,000 gallons of water are wasted daily. It takes a ton of coal to pump 1,000,000 gallons of water. It can be seen that 500 tons of coal are wasted daily, not to speak of the unnecessary labor and other incidentals.

"People who abuse their privilege in wasting water don't pay those bills. It is the small houseowner who pays for the waste.

Husband Shoots Self in Gas Filled Room

When Mrs. Kanota returned to her home after a shopping tour she found her husband, Michael Kanota, 43 years old, owner of a soft drink parlor, shot to death in a gas filled room at 1323 West 18th street. The police believe that he ended his life over financial troubles.

PROFIT

It is the selling cost as much as the selling price that determines the profit on a real estate deal. The testimony of many dealers establishes The Tribune Want Ad as the outstanding low-cost sales medium.

"A Tribune Want Ad sold an apartment building for us," is the testimony of the Devon Realty Co., 1744 Devon Av. "We had seventeen calls and four letters and sold the building before 4 P. M. the day we advertised."

The cost of selling this $21,000 building was $2.75, or about one-eightieth of one per cent.

BY printing more than half a million copies of The Tribune every day and distributing those copies with greater speed and accuracy than is achieved even by the government mails, The Chicago Tribune enables its Want Ads to reach a vast audience in far less time than a much smaller number of people could be reached by any other method.

Even greater than their speed, is the economy of this method of telling your story.

But the feeling is general that the country would not be satisfied with the appointment of a prosecutor who had formerly been retained by the man who has now become one of the central figures in the case which he has been asked to take to court.

Surprise was expressed that Mr. Gregory had accepted Mr. Coolidge's appointment, under the circumstances. He is due here tomorrow.

Senator Dill [Dem., Wash.], in a senate speech, urged the appointment of Justice Louis D Brandeis of the United States Supreme court to prosecute the oil cases. He suggested that Justice Brandeis obtain a furlough from the court, and asserted it would require an appointment of this character to restore the confidence of the country in the government.

"Mr. Gregory is on his way here, at the invitation of the President, for the purpose of conferring with the President in regard to employment in the oil lease cases representing the government, as previously stated to the public," the official White House statement given out by C. "In view of the statement of Mr. Doheny, that Mr. Gregory had been his attorney, the employment might be an embarrassment to Mr. Gregory and perhaps would be improper."

FALL MUST TALK TODAY

After half an hour executive session, the committee threw the doors open to the public. Senator Lenroot, chairman, read the report of the physicians who examined Mr. Fall and then announced that, in view of their findings, Mr. Fall would be subpœnaed to appear as the witness stand at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The report to the committee by the doctors said:

"Mr. Fall shows the effect of severe nervous strain, but his general appearance is fairly good. He is somewhat anaemic looking and his muscles are flabby. The radials are soft, the pulse 92 to the minute and regular. The blood pressure is 170.

"The heart is normal as to size and sound. The lungs are apparently normal. The abdomen is negative except for slight tenderness in the gall bladder region.

"We are told by the attending physician that there is no evidence of disease of the kidneys. He is in an anxiety state, but there is no evidence of organic nervous disease and no psychotic symptoms.

"In our opinion Mr. Fall is in condition to appear before the committee.

"THOMAS A. CLAYTON,
"DANIEL V. STUART JR.,
"STERLING RUFFIN."

Find Astonishing Letter.

The committee examined John D. Holland Jr., secretary to Senator Walsh, and H. Foster Bain, director of the bureau of mines, concerning the discovery of a letter written by Doheny to Fall, dated Nov. 28, 1921, relating to the oil leases.

In one paragraph of the "mystery" letter, Doheny estimated that the storage tankage at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, would cost over $3,360,000, and that it would take 2,973,800 barrels of crude oil, at the current price, to pay for it.

The letter was considered important for several reasons: first, because it was dated just two days before the date on which Mr. Doheny says he made the $100,000 loan to Fall; second, because it contradicted previous testimony by Doheny to the effect that he had never discussed the leases with Fall while they were under negotiation; and, third, because of the apparent effort to keep the letter from the committee.

Holland testified he accidentally became aware of the existence of the letter through a passing reference to it made in another letter turned over to the committee from the interior department files. Search was made for the communication, and it was found in the bureau of mines. Dr. Bain said it had been located in an unindexed file.

"In view of the circumstances surrounding the finding of the letter, the committee gave Holland authority to make a thorough search of all files in both the interior department and the navy department to ascertain whether any other important papers have been withheld in the investigation.

Doheny then took the stand. As he sat down in the chair he pulled from his pocket a tattered fragment of paper and handed it to the committee. His hand trembled slightly as he tendered it to the chairman.

Amazing Signatureless Note!

"I have brought with me all of the note that is in my possession at the present time," he said. "I had the entire note." He paused for a second, and then members of the committee noted with amazement that the lower right hand corner of the note, where the signature should be, had been torn off!

"But in December, 1921," Mr. Doheny went on, "when my wife and I were on the eve of our departure for California, it was decided to divide the note into two parts. I said that in view of the fact that the $100,000 was given to help Mr. Fall out of a difficulty it would not help him much if the executor of my estate found the note and started pressing him for immediate payment. The intended benefit would have been an injury.

"The part I have here is without signature. It is dated Washington, D. C., Nov. 30, 1921. The remainder of the note is in California, I believe. I have a private box there in which Mrs. Doheny and I keep such papers, and I believe the fragment of the note must be there."

Will Take Another Look.

Mr. Doheny said he had made a search for the signature in New York and some search for it in California and had failed to locate it, but promised to make further hunt when he went back to California.

Picking up the mutilated note, Senator Walsh said to the witness that "practically only the signature is missing."

"What part of it did you keep?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I kept the part you have in your hand, and Mrs. Doheny kept the signature," Doheny answered.

"In whose handwriting is this?" Walsh asked.

"I believe it to be in Secretary Fall's handwriting," answered Doheny.

"Can you only judge by your familiarity with Mr. Fall's handwriting?"

"That and the fact that it was brought back by my son in return for the money. I am sure my son told me Mr. Fall had given him the note."

DATE ON NOTE ALTERED

"This looks as if the date had been changed," Senator Walsh suggested.

"He evidently started to write December and then wrote November; the note has undergone no change since it came into my possession," answered Doheny.

Mr. Doheny went on to explain that this left the entire note in the possession of his family and that it could be pieced together whenever they desired to demand payment. The signature had been torn off two or three weeks after it had been given.

"Did you or did you not have that circumstance in mind when you were on the stand before?" the witness was asked.

"Yes, I had it in mind but I thought I could produce the entire note — I thought it would be best to search for it."

"Why did you not tell us all you had in your mind at that time?" asked Senator Lenroot.

"I thought it would be better to wait to produce all of the note and not add any to the suspicion that this was a crooked transaction," answered Doheny.

$100,000 Legacy to ex-Senator.

"Was not the purpose of your action based on a feeling that if anything happened to you and Mrs. Doheny this was to be a gift to Mr. Fall?" asked Lenroot.

"No," replied Doheny, "the two pieces would have been in our possession. If we were both killed in a railroad wreck my son would know what the pieces meant. In case we were all killed in a wreck, of course, the $100,000 would have been a legacy to Mr. Fall."

Mr. Doheny went on to explain that the money loaned to Mr. Fall was not taken from his bank account but, on the contrary, was drawn by his son and that he repaid it to his son a month or so later by two checks, one for $40,000 and one for $60,000.

"Why did you not bring the check with you?" asked Lenroot.

"I wasn't subpœnaed to bring the check—I did not think it was necessary," Doheny answered.

Mr. Doheny was reminded that when he was on the witness stand before and was questioned as to where he got the $100,000 he had said: "I cashed a check." Senator Lenroot told the witness he had grossly misled the committee. "I told you the truth—that was the truth and it is not in variance with what I am saying now," retorted Doheny.

"Did you cash the check?"

"I had my son do it—it amounted to the same thing," Doheny said.

"Where has this fragment of the note been?" Senator Adams [Dem., Colo.] asked:

"It has been in my pocket since October or November."

"You had it when you were here last?"

"Yes."

Admits It Wasn't Truth.

"Then when you said it was in Los Angeles you were not telling us the truth?"

"Not all the truth," Doheny admitted, "but the signature which was necessary to make the note negotiable was not there. The essential part is still in Los Angeles."

When Senator Pittman [Dem., Nev.] asked Mr. Doheny a series of pointed questions, Doheny flared up and exclaimed:

"Are you trying to get me to admit I lied about this—if you are it is in evidence. What difference does it make whether I admit I lied or not. All your cross-questioning cannot make me admit I perjured myself."

IN POCKET ALL THE TIME

"At any time you could have reached into your pocket and produced this note and allayed suspicion," Senator Pittman said.

"Could I?" Mr. Doheny asked, and a laugh went around the room.

Senator Bursum wanted to know whether his friendship for Fall remained sufficiently strong to induce him to lend Mr. Fall another $100,000.

"I don't think I would under the present circumstances," Doheny answered.

"Have you," asked Senator Lenroot, "at any time given any money to any person who at any time was holding a public position?"

"No."

Once Hired Judge Gregory.

"Have you ever employed any other member of the President's cabinet?"

"Yes, I think we employed Judge Gregory for a short time," answered Doheny. "I only learned of that yesterday. Our company and half a dozen others having interests in Mexico employed Judge Gregory, who was the regular attorney of the Island Oil company, and they billed us for $2,000 as our share."

"What was Judge Gregory to do?"

"He was to go before the President or the state department and make representations as to the injuries of the Mexican government to us in refusing to allow us to drill our own lands when we had complied with the requirements of the Mexican government.

Wilson Was President Then.

"Who was President then?"

"Mr. Wilson."

"And Mr. Gregory, who had been the attorney general, was employed to do what?"

"To represent our people in filing their complaints. We thought his connection would give him entré. It would open the door for us," answered Doheny.

"Did you employ any other former cabinet officer?"

"We employed ex-Secretary McAdoo. When our people were menaced in Mexico about a year after Mr. McAdoo left the cabinet we employed Mr. McAdoo's firm to represent us on Mexican matters. They represented us in Washington until the administration changed."

"Until the Wilson administration changed?"

"Yes, he didn't represent us in Washington after that, although he still represents us, to do whatever we want him to do," answered Doheny.

"How much have you paid the McAdoo firm?"

"About $250,000 all told.

"After the Wilson administration went out the McAdoo firm represented us before the shipping board. Our ships had been taken out of our service and put in the government service."

"Were any other cabinet officers employed by you?"

"Yes, when Mr. Lane left the cabinet he was employed at a salary of $50,000 a year; and I have an idea that Mr. Garrison was indirectly in our employ. His law firm represented Blair & Co., bankers, of which I am a member."

PROUD OF FALL'S REPORT

Mr. Doheny said there might have been "one or two others" employed by his companies, but he couldn't remember names. Committee members suggested the name of A. Mitchel Palmer, but he said he had never employed Palmer.

He praised Fall, Senator Brandegee [Rep., Conn.] and former Senator Smith of Arizona for the report they wrote on the Mexican situation in 1920, and declared they performed a service of inestimable value to himself and the American people in showing up the facts about conditions across the border.

He grew extremely bitter, however, in denouncing former Secretary of the Navy Daniels, alleging that he did not adequately protect the naval reserves against drainage. He said that oil companies had drained off 4,000,000 barrels.

Sharp Remark About Daniels.

"My opinion is that Daniels knew that oil companies were drilling along the border of the reserves and that if he leased them it would interfere with their taking the oil out," Doheny declared. "You can take that or leave it just as I have said."

He charged that Daniels protected the Standard Oil company and did not interfere with its taking out oil as fast as it could for a year. In failing to interfere with its taking out oil as fast as he did his duty.

Doheny said he made a payment of $5,000 to George Creel, who, he said, was employed to assist in inducing Daniels to lease Teapot Dome. Leo J. Stack, he said, approached him and offered to get him a lease for Teapot Dome, while Daniels was still in power. He paid Stack $8,000 for his efforts, he said.

"Stack thought he could get Mr. Daniels to lease Teapot Dome, did he?" Doheny was asked.

"Yes," answered Doheny, "and I wouldn't have paid him $8,000 if I had not thought so."

How He Describes Creel.

Doheny described Creel as "the former government publicity agent" and "the man who made the head of the administration famous in Europe."

Stack employed Creel, he said, "to head off giving of leases to Republicans after the change in administration." He promised to make an effort to find the canceled $5,000 check paid to Creel.

Going back to the mutilated note, Mr. Doheny admitted he hadn't very much hope of finding the signature. Fall, he said, knew that the signature had been torn off.

"He knew it when he was here before," said Doheny, "and it is my opinion he told that white or black lie, if you want to call it that, to screen me because he knew I had only a part of the note."

"I beg to advise you and your committee that I was never consulted by any one as to the wisdom, merits, or legality of the California or Teapot Dome oil leases now under consideration by your committee, nor was the department of justice ever asked for an opinion or consulted in regard thereto.

"The attorney general is permitted to render his opinions only when requested to do so by the President and heads of governmental departments. I give you this information in justice to your committee, the department of justice, and all concerned."

"UNTRUE," DANIELS SAYS

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 1.—[By the Associated Press.]—Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, tonight declared that statements made by E. L. Doheny to the senate committee that he had during his administration favored the Standard Oil company and other prospective leases of oil reserves were "without foundation."

He added that he had declined to consider a proposition for leasing the oil reserves to two oil men whom George Creel had told him wished to lease them.

CREEL ADMITS HIS $5,000

New York, Feb. 1.—George Creel today said:

"In late November, 1920, I was visited by Leo J. Stack, who said he was in the oil business—an independent—and had a plan in connection with the Wyoming naval reserve. Why not have them go to a company that would give the navy a fair bargain and the best possible royalty terms? He offered me an advance of $5,000 to associate myself with him, and I accepted.

"I gave considerable time to the plan, and we went to Washington and made repeated calls on both Secretary Daniels and his adviser. Daniels was resolved that neither word nor act of his should lend countenance to any such procedure.

"Some weeks later I met Doheny, and he made haste to inform me that the $5,000 advanced by Stack had been Doheny money. The news was an unpleasant shock, and I withdrew at once from all connection with the affair."

STINNES WARS ON DAWES GOLD BANK PLAN FOR GERMANY

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—[Tribune Radio.]—Defeated in their efforts to gobble up Germany's railways for nothing by taking over the railway debts of 1,000,000,000 gold marks ($250,000,000)—the system is conservatively valued at 50,000,000,000 gold marks ($12,500,000,000)—Hugo Stinnes and Herr Kloeckner, leaders of the German industrial association, today began their fight against the Dawes experts committee's plans for a gold bank.

The industrialists will propose that the experts commission recommend an increase of the capital of the renten bank from 3,200,000,000 renten marks to 6,400,000,000 renten marks, the new capital to be held abroad. It will be guaranteed by mortgages on all German real estate, exactly as the renten mark is now supported.

THE TRIBUNE learns that the experts committee will not consider such a plan, as they see only a successful outcome in the formation of a bank of issue on a gold basis, or at least backed by extremely liquid assets.

Glass Casket Men Given Prison; One a Chicagoan

New York, Feb. 1.—Jail sentences ranging from one day to two and one-half years were imposed today by Federal Judge Learned Hand upon seventeen men, convicted of defrauding the public through the mails by selling stock of the Glass Casket company of Altoona, Pa., and misrepresenting its value.

Samuel Rosenblatt, Chicago attorney, member of the Crager company and its legal adviser, who pleaded guilty, was sent to Atlanta for eighteen months.

FRANCE TO HUNT GRAFT IN 25,000 DAMAGE CLAIMS

Probe All Payments Over 1,000,000 Fr.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Feb. 1. — Parliament's uproar over the devastated regions scandal, in which billions of francs are alleged to have been paid out in excess damages caused by the German invasion, ended tonight with a vote to accept the entire text of the law calling for reinvestigation of the highest awards granted. This means that from 20,000 to 25,000 cases, each involving 1,000,000 francs or more, out of a total of 3,000,000 claims, will be subjected to new examinations.

Premier Poincare made the war damages investigation a matter of confidence, and received a vote of 364 to 207. Even the enemies of the government were surprised that the premier's majority should be so small.

Gets Poincare's Reply.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The Compte de St. Aulaire, French ambassador, presented Premier Poincare's reply to Prime Minister MacDonald's letter today.

THE TRIBUNE learns that M. Poincare's letter, while charmingly expressed and couched in the most friendly terms, does not give any indication of any desire on his part to meet Minister MacDonald half way. It is described by a diplomat who claims to know the contents as a document making it clear that France has no intention of surrendering anything it has without adequate compensation.

Begins Cutting Pay Roll.

British civil servants and others whose living depends on the government's spending are having an anxious time. More than 1,000 employés of the pensions ministry, the admiralty, the board of trade, the stationary office, and the paymaster general's office have received a month's notice and there are rumors that more notice envelopes are coming.

WOODROW WILSON.

Word has gone forth from Washington that Woodrow Wilson lies at the point of death. The sincere sympathy of all the American people goes to Mrs. Wilson in the hour of her great sorrow.

In his distinguished career Woodrow Wilson has left a deep mark on the history of our country. Few of our Presidents have had such momentous questions to face. Few were called upon to make decisions of such heavy and far reaching consequence in their own time or to posterity. What merit or demerit, what wisdom or fallacy, attached to his course of conduct, his policies, or his influence must await the future verdict of mankind. We, his contemporaries and sharers of his crowded hour, must differ in the estimate, but, despite difference of judgment, there is no difference in the realization that an exceptional force now passes out of our public life.

OIL.

Far be it from us to assert that the war dance now going on in the senate is not good Democratic politics. Few and meager were the prospects of the campaign day before yesterday, with the drift steadily in favor of the Republicans. The oil lease scandal, therefore, is to our Democratic brethren like a load of coal for a widow in midwinter or a stray dog in an Indian village when the pot is empty.

But while politics is politics, may we suggest that there are other matters to be considered besides the making of war medicine for the campaign? The demand for the immediate cancellation of the leases and for the dismissal of Secretary Denby is simply an effort to foreclose on the prospect of political discredit which the Democrats are hoping to fasten on their opponents. As a matter of fact, the question of whether the leases were a bad bargain for the government is still a matter of accusation and innuendo, charge and counter charge. The Democrats want them canceled at once because that would foreclose the question of their propriety and fix at once the implication of wrongdoing which the Democrats hope will help them in the campaign. The same effort discloses itself in the demand for the removal of Secretary Denby. If this could be accompanied by retirement of Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary Work, and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, the cup of Democratic happiness would overflow. Undoubtedly it would please the Democratic national committee if Mr. Coolidge would go up Capitol hill on his knees, in sackcloth, and, while scattering ashes on his head, confess that the administration is composed entirely of crooks and announce that the Republican party, convicted of inherent depravity, is forthwith disbanded.

We suspect he will not accede to this amiable wish. He will go to the bottom of the affair. The present Democratic demands are not for going to the bottom of the affair. They are for closing the case now and for a verdict of guilty against all available Republicans. But what Republicans want is a thoroughgoing inquiry, a full disclosure of all pertinent facts, and action responsive thereto and not to the hue and cry raised for campaign purposes. The charges made are grave. The facts disclosed already throw a dark shadow on the whole lease transaction and upon the credit of all directly responsible. There should be and there will be a full disclosure, but there should be no prejudgment either as to the guilt or innocence of individuals or as to the expediency or inexpediency of the disposal of the oil lands in question.

PERIL TO THE ZONING LAW.

A matter of exceptional importance to the future of Chicago is due to come up before Judge David in the Superior court in the course of the mandamus action initiated by Thomas Walsh, former business agent of the Sheet Metal Workers' union, to compel the city to grant him a permit for the erection of a two flat building in a district zoned for one family residences only.

There is something strange in Walsh's long fight to obtain this permit, which was once issued and revoked. The outcome of the case will form an important precedent in the effective operation of the zoning ordinance, which was adopted to safeguard the growth of Chicago and its property values, only after long and expert study. The original permit was obtained by Walsh three months after the ordinance was passed. Later it was revoked, and he now seeks its reissue.

If the mandamus is allowed, forcing the granting of a permit, a staggering blow to the whole zoning law will be struck, and scientific city building work of years, and the expenditure of thousands of dollars will be imperiled. In such event, of course, the city will carry the issue on to a higher court for final decision. The interest of Mayor Dever and of the corporation counsel's office has been consistently and energetically in support of the zoning law, and continued effort along that line is assured.

But while that legal defense is continuing it might be worth while for the proper authorities to seek to discover just what special motive is prompting such a vigorous fight by Walsh to destroy the effectiveness of the ordinance. If the factors behind his battle could be brought into the open it might do much to discourage a repetition of this attack in another instance.

ANY WAY BUT THE SUBWAY.

Ald. U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the local transportation committee, is an able man in the council, but when subways are mentioned he walks right over where that other able man, Mayor Dever, is standing, and neither one can see the forest because of the trees.

Both might concede that the reason Chicago has its present system of transportation is because, for twenty years, every responsible person in the city has been talking just as they are talking now. If we keep on with the process we'll keep on with the results. And every year they'll be worse, until finally they are impossible.

Skyscrapers mean subways. The skyscrapers are going up day by day, and day by day the city hall talks of everything in the world except the one thing which will give the city transportation. Mr. Schwartz says the city has less than $40,000,000 in its traction fund, that it would not build much, that it could not make a general improvement in the street car service, but would be limited to the spot where it was used, and asks how the city could be assured that it would be used at all after the money had been spent.

It would be profitable if we all could get out of the fog and reason together. Wherever a subway is built it will benefit. The system cannot all be built at once. It cannot be laid down overnight. It cannot be one undertaking at one time in every street in the city in which subways are and will be needed. We cannot all move out of town while the builders remake the traction system.

There must be a start and it would be reasonable to make that start where traffic is heaviest, congestion worst, interference greatest, and where the subway would give most immediate relief. It would seem reasonable that this is in the loop. We cannot have a subway system without having it carry through the loop. That is the natural nucleus, the point from which the lines spread.

Considering what we've been putting up with for years, a subway through the loop would make this generation think it had reached perfection in transportation. With a loop subway the city would only be started, but the point is it would be started. That is the thing it never has done. That is why it is in its present fix.

Municipal ownership of the present lines will not make them better than they are. It will change the title, but it will not make the cars move more rapidly or put any more of them on the tracks when they are most needed. So far as THE TRIBUNE is concerned, let the municipal ownership advocates go to it. Nothing important is done when they have done it. It's our guess that whatever they do will take years in the doing. Is the needed subway to wait all this time, never undertaken, always steered away from?

If so, we're hopeless.

MURDER WILL OUT UNDER SMALL.

Jakubowski, business agent of the Hodcarriers' union, shot and killed Bernard J. O'Reilly, a union motorman, who was working odd hours as a building laborer to pay doctor bills for a sick wife and payment on a home.

O'Reilly had no card from the hodcarriers. Jakubowski convicted him, fixed the penalty at death, and executed the sentence.

A jury said it was murder and sent Jakubowski to prison for a term of fifty years. He arrived at Joliet July 6, 1920. Three years and one month later Small let him out. He is out now.

The abuse of the pardoning power by Small ought alone to be enough to bury him politically forever. The stench of it is enough to cover the country. Jury tamperers, panders, rapists, murderers have profited by the governor's favor. We think the people of Illinois have had enough of that.

But the Jakubowski case points another lesson. The man murdered in cold blood. He should have been hung. The jury put it in the power of politics to make a mockery of their deliberate verdict. Their fifty year term is cut to three. Any thug can afford to kill on such terms.

Editorial of the Day

THE INCOME TAX QUESTION.

[Cedar Rapids Republican.]

Let's see how the income tax problem works out. Here's a young man who has come into an inheritance of $5,000,000. What will he do with it? If he has any sense at all he will invest it.

What in? Some suave and handsomely dressed young Adonis with a bag suggesting gilt-edged business at its best approaches him and sells him the idea of investing it in state, county, or municipal bonds—such as those the city of Cedar Rapids issued for building the First avenue bridge, for example. The average interest rate paid on such bonds is 4½ per cent. That gives him an annual income of $225,000. And he is free to remember the title of his high school oration, "Over the Alps Lies Italy," and go there to see the roses that blow red where some buried Cæsar bled.

The point is, the federal government doesn't get 1 cent out of that young man's annual spending of $225,000. It is free from all income tax.

Supposing some one who would like to build another Penic and Ford plant in this city, or another electric line, say from Iowa City down to Washington, Ia., and bring some more trade to town or buy out the Cedar Rapids Republican, its editor included, offers him 10 per cent interest for the loan of that $5,000,000. That would be $500,000 a year. Much better than the $225,000 from municipal bonds, you say? But hold on. Some of those lynx-eyed, never sleep fellows up in the federal building would send him an income tax blank and help him to fill it out so that Uncle Sam could take 58 per cent of that $500,000, leaving the young man $210,000. And if he had the sense and the disposition that most of them have who come into possession of that much money, he would take the $225,000 tax free, no risk return from the municipal bonds in preference to the $210,000 he would receive from his business venture.

But now comes Mr. Mellon with the suggestion that we cut that surtax maximum level from 58 to 31 per cent. Then the income tax collector will take only $155,000 out of his return of $500,000 from his active business venture, leaving him $345,000, which will be so much bigger than the $225,000 from the municipal bond investment that maybe he will decide to put his money into that new business enterprise which the town has long greatly needed. If he does there will be a double benefit. The town will get its factory which not only gives employment to many men while it is being erected, but also after it has been erected. And the government will get the $155,000 tax whereas under the 58 per cent law it got none.

Again, let it be said that Mr. Mellon has no intention of reducing the taxes on large incomes; he merely wishes to reduce the tax rate on large incomes.

"CAN YOU wear your hair bobbed and be a Christian?" asked Mrs. J. S. Boles of the co-eds in her class in Bible study at Wheaton college. Blanch Wurdack retorted, "Since when do we judge Christians by their style of hairdress?" Pretty good, Blanch, but not as snappy as the comeback made by John Wesley when a convert went to him and said, "Mr. Wesley, can a man chew tobacco and be a Christian?" "Certainly," said Mr. Wesley, "a dirty Christian."

By Snowshoe Al.

It wuz 2 oclock in the afternoon. Buster Bumblbee an' Harold Hornet crawled out frum underneeth a razzberry bush an' yawned. They had been out all nite an' wuz just beginnin' ter sober up. "Hot puppies," sed Harold Hornet, "didn't the jooce uv that rotten apple have a awful kick?" "You better go home, Harold," sed Buster Bumblbee, "cause yer wife will be worryin'." "Come on with me, then," sed Harold, "an' meet the wife. You'll like her, she's a nice kid, good natured an' all that stuff." So away they went. As they approached the Hornet Home, they heard loud wails of bitter angwish. Mrs. Hornet wuz lickin' the 4 little hornets fer wastin' there strength tryin' ter sting a yella cab driver. "Be sure an' wipe yer feet befor we go in, Buster," sed Harold, "cause the old lady seems peeved." "O, here you are, you double-jointed, cloven-hoofed bum!" sed Mrs. Hornet. "Now, now, my deer—" began Harold. "An'," continued Mrs. Hornet, "wot do you meen by bringin' this uther good-fer-nuthin, ornery, low-down tramp here, wen you know they aint a thing to eet in the joint?" "My deer," sed Harold, "this is Mr. Buster Bumbl—" "I dont give three hoops in Indianner whom he is," sed Mrs. Hornet, "you git out uv here." So they beet it, an' headed over toward a farm house. Two Perfectly Strange Men Always Jump Up and Down on Our Stomach.

Sir: Why is it one cannot occasionally dream of being a sort of hero, killing a few thousand or so lions, tigers, grizzlies, and rattlesnakes, thereby saving the lives of hundreds of innocent women and children, in place of pitifully groaning in his sleep for help to fight off a couple dozen mangy wolves? SCANDALMONGER.

THE TRIB'S Perspiring Reporter yesterday morning said that the lesson for the day before had been, "What do you most enjoy reading in the newspapers?" and Mr. H. H. Maier, 924 Sheridan road, manager of the Peerless Automobile company, said: "The Line, for the simple reason that underneath the wit and humor there is a cheerful, helpful, hopeful philosophy." We wish the Perspiring One would ask us what we liked to read most in the newspapers. We would say, "We like to read the advertisements of Mr. H. H. Maier; they are the best written advertisements ever published. We buy all our Peerless cars of Mr. Maier because he is the most courteous and obliging gentleman we have ever met, and we are going to move up to Sheridan road because Mr. Maier has his office there."

REMEMBRANCE.

I remember you as moonlight
That comes with summer showers,
As sunshine flitting gently through an attic,
As the song of silver poplars
Drifting through a prison window,
As the color of evening skies
When tired men walk homeward,
As the scent of dew washed roses
When lovers seek their shadowed tryst,
As the hymn chimes of cathedrals,
Restful, consoling, caressing.
But you ignored me and I prayed
To God to hide from me the rain drenched moon,
The attic sunbeam and the tinted sky,
The scent of roses and the poplar's song,

PASSING OF TUBERCULOSIS.

IT is almost possible to predict the end of tuberculosis. More than that, it is almost possible to predict the year in which it will end. Should the rate of decline in all tuberculosis which prevailed from 1900 to 1922 continue the disease would disappear in 1955. Had the rate of decline which prevailed in 1918 continued, the disease would be due to disappear in 1924. The continuance of the rate of decline prevailing in 1920 would have doomed the disease in 1929. A continuance of the 1921 rate of decline would have ended the disease in 1926.

Dr. L. I. Dublin, as the result of a careful study, estimates that the all-tuberculosis death rate in 1930 will be about 44. That rate of decline, if continued, would end the disease in about 1937. Dr. Dublin says: "A tuberculosis rate of 50, I believe, will be found to be not far from the actual figure in 1930. In New Zealand and Australia, this low rate has already been attained. In 1921, three states in the United States had rates below 50, in fact, two had rates below 40."

Does this mean that our efforts to control the disease should lessen? He answers: "No! The tuberculosis movement must not rest on its laurels nor be allowed to drift along easy ways. The disease is on the decline. This is an opportune time to apply even greater energy along approved lines that there may be no diminishing, but rather cumulative returns in life saving."

What are the lines of work that experience has approved? Dr. Dublin says the greatest improvement has been in tuberculosis in children. An important factor in causing tuberculosis in children is drinking raw milk from tuberculous cows. Efforts to get the milk supply pasteurized and to get the milch cows' tuberculin tested, must not be lessened.

Between 1904 and 1922 the number of hospital and sanitarium beds for the tuberculous increased from 10,000 to 70,000. He estimates that 200,000 tuberculous people occupied such beds during the last ten years and that 600,000 of them are still alive. The estimated saving of lives from these beds, he says, is 6,000 a year. There must be further increase in the number of hospital and sanitarium beds.

Educational work has paid. It must be kept up. Consumption in certain trades has declined, though it still is high. Work to control occupational tuberculosis must be increased.

YOU'RE ABSOLUTELY RIGHT.

I. G. J. writes: I would like your opinion on the following matter:

I have a baby girl, 19 months old. We live next door to my wife's parents, who have two small children, a boy and a girl, who have been much given to the practice of kissing and fondling the baby. As long as they are in good health, I have made no objections, but I have insisted that when they are not well, that they keep away from her.

Last week the girl, who is about 12 years old, contracted a very bad cold, and in spite of my admonitions to keep away from the baby, fondled and kissed her as usual. About a day after this, the baby caught cold, a severe one, and though we have had her under the doctor's care, she has shown no improvement. The cold is in her head and chest, matter runs from her nose continuously, and she coughs quite often.

In spite of this, which should be the most convincing evidence, it seems that the girl is held quite blameless in the matter, which would be all right, were it not for the fact that the next time she caught cold, the baby necessarily would again be subjected to misery, since, to use their expression "they can't keep away from baby," meaning that the baby's health is secondary to their enjoyment.

I have already expressed my opinion in the matter, which cannot be given here, being unprintable, but I would like to hear your remarks in the matter. Last winter, the baby had several colds, mysteriously appearing at about the time our neighbors had colds, though I have been assured this is merely a coincidence. Naturally, having the best interests of the child at heart, I would like to get at the real truth, whether it be possible to transmit colds from one another, and whether or not the practice of kissing children is not dangerous to their health at all times.

1. Orange juice contains antiscorbutic and growth vitamines and also minerals.

2. I think so—particularly in the winter and early spring. After the fresh radishes and green peas come in the spring, it is not needed so much.

THE CHILDREN ARE CONSIDERED.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Mr. A in his youth married a girl who four years later secured a divorce, on grounds of desertion and nonsupport. During this four years of separation, before the divorce, nothing was contributed to the child [who, by the way, still carries Mr. A's name, in spite of the fact that the first wife has remarried]. At the time of divorce—which was granted in another state [the same state as the marriage ceremony took place], no alimony was granted—and nothing toward the support of the child.

In the case of the death of Mr. A, who would leave no will, would the child by his first wife share in any of his property which was left, or would Mr. A's second wife and children [if there are any] be the sole heir, under the conditions of divorce as above stated? G. A.

The child by his first marriage would share. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

IN FAVOR OF HIGH SURTAXES.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—I think Mr. Mellon is mistaken when he says a low surtax will put more money into business. In the first place, America has practically all the money in the world and needs no more, and business is getting all that it wants. In the second place, the high surtax keeps the money in business.

Corporations do not distribute their large profits and subject their stockholders to the heavy surtax; they expand their business and declare nontaxable stock dividends. A large mercantile business in Chicago recently purchased the property and business of a competitor in order to enlarge its business, and to escape the distribution of its earnings to its stockholders. It was largely paid for with last year's profits. It was an investment and saved 50 per cent surtax. It was perfectly legal, and the stockholders will receive a nontaxable stock dividend. But it was the surtax that kept this money in business. The same is true of the large expansions of the Ford Motor company. If the object is to keep money in business, then the high surtax and not the low one is the means to employ. The fact is, the objection to the high surtax is that it prevents individuals from drawing their excessive profits out of business.

The taxation of tax exempt securities is a fallacy. These securities do not keep money out of business. The money that was paid for them was immediately put into circulation by the governmental agencies that issued them. The buyer does not escape an income tax—he pays it every year by taking a 3½ to 4 per cent return instead of 6 or 6½ per cent. If these bonds are made subject to a tax the buyer will lose nothing, because the amount of the tax will be added to the rate of interest paid by the states, counties, cities, etc., issuing them and charged back in the general taxes paid by the people. The taxpayer gains nothing.

If individuals are accumulating too much money in tax exempt securities or any other kind, and are covering them up in trusts (as they are doing), then tax these trusts the same as bequests by will and put on heavy inheritance taxes, fixing the maximum amount that can be disposed of by gift or will to any one person at $500,000. THE BUS CONDUCTOR'S STORY.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—To all who read S. M. F.'s "Bus Bunk" in this morning's edition of THE TRIBUNE: I rejoice, I am filled with pleasure and happiness that at last one of the insufferable grouches I am compelled to smile at "day by day" has put his foot where I can step on it.

You, S. M. F., holler to the skies, as usual, because you stood in a warm bus and read the open air sign. Why didn't you go upstairs and get the fresh air that I (or my fellow conductor) and the sign suggested.

If we didn't let you stand you would see your alderman about it and because we do you write the papers.

I can almost tell you, S. M. F., who you are and where you get on the bus. You have a large bill on my first trip in the morning; you stand on the wrong side of the street day after day; you take up more of a seat than is necessary and hold a lighted cigar in your hand; you don't ring the passenger bell and cry if you are carried past your stop; you cry if we go slow because we are on time, and complain of danger if we go over fifteen miles per hour to make up lost time; you even blame the conductor for the time schedule that some one else gets paid double our salary for sitting in an office guessing. I won't mention the innumerable times you sit with a vacant stare while we wait for your fare, and then when we put the register in your face and holler, "Fare please," go through all your pockets before you bring out—ten pennies.

When you are driving your own car you try to pass us on the right and call upon the city hall and the police department to witness the driver's malevolent intention of forcing you on the curb, although he could not see you and you ignored the conductor's warning arm.

Now I have this off my chest, S. M. F., please remember I am writing the public generally, not you alone, so that every one will know what we contend with and help us keep that smile on our face tomorrow morning. CRABBY CONDUCTOR.

NO "RICH PRIZE" IN SOUTHWEST AFRICA.

Bradley, Ill., Jan. 29.—In your today's issue appears an article by Mr. Floyd Gibbons under the heading, "British Ignore Law of League to Soak Yanks," and "High Tariff Against U. S. Goods in Africa." Since the statements contained in this article are calculated to give an entirely wrong impression of the position, I shall be glad if you will allow me space for a few observations.

In passing, I may mention that I am in business in South Africa, where I have spent fifteen years, engaged in the sale of American agricultural implements and that, before the war, I spent some time in the old German Southwest Africa, the territory of which your correspondent writes.

According to Mr. Gibbons there are "preferential tariffs against American goods" in existence in this territory, and in spite of negotiations between Washington and London, "the barriers against American imports are still operative." One cannot read these statements without getting the impression that the preferential tariffs against American goods are prohibitive, or, at any rate, sufficient to constitute a serious impediment to trade. As a matter of fact, such is not the case. The tariff laws of the Union of South Africa give goods of British manufacture (English, Canadian, Australian, etc.) a preference of 3 per cent. For instance, American motor cars pay 20 per cent duty, while English cars pay 17 per cent. American goods pay exactly the same duty as goods from any other country outside of the British Empire.

Mr. Gibbons, in describing Southwest Africa as a "rich prize," tells your readers that "it is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, diamond mining territory in the world." It is obvious that he has not visited this territory. I have, and it is the most miserable, poverty stricken country I ever hope to see. The diamonds found there are small and of inferior quality. Of the many mines opened by the Germans, only a few are capable of earning a profit. When the country belonged to Germany government revenue fell short of expenditure by about $5,000,000 a year, which had to be made up by the German treasury. It is no wonder that the Union parliament agreed to take over the mandate for this territory only after a long discussion. In taking over this mandate we were assuming a burden—not acquiring a "rich prize." HENRIK HANSEN.

SMALL FINDS STREATOR LOYAL TO ESSINGTON

Invades His Home; Essington at Springfield.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Virtually every store, shop, and office window along Main street, which forms almost the entire business district of this city of 17,000, holds pictures of the home grown candidate. Small's lithographed countenance lonesomely looks out on Main street from two saloon windows and from one in a hotel.

Addresses Road Meeting.

Gov. Small came here to address a road meeting and make a campaign speech at the invitation of the Trades and Labor council, after the city administration had refused to invite him.

Gov. Small not only found "Main street" openly declaring its loyalty to Essington but stirred up a row among some of his own supporters over a road route in dispute between La Salle and Livingston counties.

He held a hearing tonight in advance of his speech. A delegation from Livingston county came to Streator to hear what kind of promises would be made. This delegation raised such a protest over the political maneuvers that at the close of the hearing Frank Sheets, superintendent of highways, said the matter would be taken under further advisement.

Gov. Small was given a respectful hearing by the crowd, which included many Essington supporters. Rowdies last night assaulted a Streator man who was wearing an Essington badge and tore it from his coat. He appeared on the street today with another button.

Essington at Capital.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—State Senator Thurlow G. Essington, anti-Small candidate for the Republican nomination, came to Springfield today to address the voters, while Gov. Small was asking support in Essington's home town, Streator.

Before an immense audience, composed in part of Small's statehouse employés, Essington repeated his charges of misgovernment in Illinois, and emphasized them with allusions that were readily understood and appreciated by residents of the state capital.

The meeting was held at the state arsenal. State Senator Earl B. Searcy presided, Senator Otis Glenn spoke, and former Lieut. Gov. John G. Oglesby, introducing Essington to the audience, commended his candidacy and delivered a tribute to his honesty, courage, and his fitness for governor.

There were present a great number of visitors from various points in Illinois—Bloomington, Decatur, Taylorville, Jacksonville, Carlinville, Lincoln, Boardtown, Virginia sending considerable delegations. The visitors from nearby counties came to assure Essington that the Republicans in this section had not yet been stampeded to Judge Jones, the prospective Democratic nominee.

HIRAM COMING TOMORROW TO LINE UP AIDS

Friction Arises in Illinois Camp.

BY PARKE BROWN.

National politics is expected to buzz busily in Chicago over this week-end.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson, aspirant for the Republican nomination, has wired that he will be here tomorrow. William Wrigley Jr., one of his chief backers when he announced himself two months ago, is expected back on Monday from Catalina island, where he has been for several weeks.

In addition, Senator William B. McKinley is scheduled to come on from Washington, and with Senator Medill McCormick already here, it is probable that final plans will be made for the regular slate of candidates for delegates at large to the national convention. The present proposal is to run uninstructed delegates who will agree to be bound by the result of the presidential preference primary, and this probably will be adopted.

Problems in Hiram's Camp.

The conferences in the Johnson camp and among the Illinois leaders will interlock to some extent, but the Johnsonites have some problems exclusively their own to settle. Primarily the candidate's visit to his national headquarters is said to be for the purpose of determining the management of his campaign in Illinois.

According to information published yesterday, Frank H. Hitchcock, Johnson national manager, is prepared to submit a plan for the appointment of an Illinois committee headed by a prominent ex-service man to handle the state fight. This is, in effect, a compromise intended to put an end to friction that has developed between Hitchcock and his friends on one side and former Bull Moosers led by Harold L. Ickes on the other.

May Lose Wrigley Aid.

When Johnson announced his candidacy here he also announced that Wrigley had accepted the chairmanship of his Illinois committee, but that appointment was made before Hitchcock was made commander in chief and the original plan for a big Illinois committee was dropped.

In reference to Wrigley there have been rumors for some time that may be confirmed by the absence of his name from the list of the now projected committee. Out at Catalina he is reported to have said some very pleasant things about President Coolidge and his candidacy, and some of Johnson's supporters charge that the White House has weaned him away from the Californian.

Neutrality Plan Up.

Senator Johnson, it is believed, will approve the McCormick-McKinley plan of keeping out of the fight for the eleven Illinois delegates at large of the regular organization candidates agree to support the primary winner. But there is some question of the attitude of the Coolidge headquarters in this matter.

The Coolidge people are confident they can carry the state against Johnson in the primary, but are said to feel that they are entitled to delegates at large who are "out and out for Coolidge." They are said to want a delegation that does not include Wrigley or any other Johnson sympathizers, but what they will do if the Illinois leaders insist on going ahead with their neutrality plan is not known.

William F. Butler, national Coolidge manager, is in the east where he expects to stay for the next two weeks, but, even lacking his approval, the Illinois group may go ahead as it has planned and let him select the alternative of running his own candidates against the state organization slate if he desires.

Local Republicans, discussing the situation, point to the fact that the Coolidge management has been careful to avoid taking sides in the battle over the state ticket.

SMALL'S TAXMAN DEFENDS LAVISH USE OF PARDONS

Avoids Details; Calls Tribune Imperfect.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Friends of Gov. Small apparently have become frightened at exposures of the pardon and parole system of the present state administration.

They are hastening to explain. There would be no occasion for that if they did not fear public knowledge of the way the administration has turned convicts loose.

The first "explainer" is William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission. He is one of the band of pay roll orators stumping the state for "his excellency."

Mr. Malone's effort was made before an Evanston audience. The audience had applauded the name of Frank O. Lowden, former governor, then had hissed Mayor William Hale Thompson, who arrived to continue his aggressive support of Gov. Small. Mr. Malone publicly has stated that the audience gave such expressions of preference.

He Sees by the Papers.

"I picked up a paper (TRIBUNE) the other day, I think last Sunday," Mr. Malone began at Evanston, "in my home at Park Ridge, and I read a column and a half or two columns about Gov. Small issuing a pardon to somebody, and they told what a terrible thing it was."

Malone's sole justification for the governor's act was this:

"I want you not to take everything that THE TRIBUNE says as being right, just because THE TRIBUNE said it."

The parole to which Mr. Malone referred was that of Theodore G. Lodin, who was sent to the penitentiary in a jury fixing scandal in the case of William F. Quesse and other officials of the janitors' union. That is a matter of public record in the Criminal court. The indictment number is 28,692.

The Career of Lodin.

Lodin was received at the penitentiary July 7, 1922, and was assigned the number of 8,163. That is a matter of record at the penitentiary. He was paroled Oct. 8, 1923. That too is a matter of public record.

Lodin previously had been arrested on the charge of attempted burglary of the home of Mrs. J. Riley, 5336 Winthrop avenue. That is a police record and his picture is in the rogue's gallery. That can be verified at the bureau of identification. He was not convicted that time, because a witness against him changed her story, according to James F. Riffle, the policeman who arrested Lodin.

In the jury fixing scandal Lodin offered to get on the jury and vote for the acquittal of the defendants, for a consideration. That is the statement, under oath, by Fred C. Schmidt, a lawyer who said that he went to see Quesse and later obtained $1,000 from union headquarters.

Schmidt said he kept $400 and gave the other $600 to Leonard Olson. Olson, also under oath, said he kept $200 of the $600 and gave Lodin the other $400 the day the Quesse jury was dismissed, because of failure to agree. Lodin said he voted consistently for the acquittal of the defendants, according to State's Attorney Crowe and a court reporter. That, too, is a matter of record.

An Adaptable Explanation.

The "explanation" of Malone probably is as good as any. It can be used with reference to the case of any convict turned loose from the penitentiary.

It fits the case of the two panderers and the two robbers and others, as well as that of Lodin and of the robber Lundgreen, the burglar Winkel, the colored gunman Perkins, the bank robber Straka, and the murderer Touhy. All of them have been turned loose from the penitentiary by the present administration. Malone desires that the public shall not believe the recital of these cases as printed recently in THE TRIBUNE.

TRIBUNE WRITER, HURT IN BATTLE, SENDS HIS STORY

BY JOHN HYDE.

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Mexico City, Feb. 1.—Frederick Wright, THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent with the Obregon army of the east, has been transferred from a Mexican army hospital train to the American hospital here, where he is receiving the best attention. His injuries in the battle of Esperanza consist of two broken left ribs, badly wrenched left knee, and internal injuries the exact nature of which cannot yet be ascertained.

Mr. Wright was moving into Esperanza with the staff of the commanding general, Eugenio Martinez, under rebel rifle and cannon fire. As they were passing behind a breastwork a shrapnel shell fell on the breastwork and exploded.

Caught Under Horse.

No shrapnel wound has been found on Mr. Wright. The blast, however, hurled the horse on which he was riding back upon him and both rolled down a slight embankment, where Mr. Wright incurred his chief injuries before he could extricate himself from the death throes of the animal.

The correspondent received first aid, but returned to the battle and did not enter the hospital train until late that afternoon, after writing the only detailed story of the decisive defeat of the rebels so far printed.

Yaquis in Orizaba.

Gen. Urbalejo, the Yaqui chief of the Yaquis with Obregon's army of the east, sent to the war office this laconic telegram on his occupation yesterday of Orizaba, the largest textile and power center of Mexico:

SAVES $100 FROM NEGRO BANDIT.

John Lavin, a clerk in an A. and P. store, 323 East 31st street, saved $100 from being stolen yesterday by dropping it underneath a counter when a Negro robber entered.

ALBERT FLEURY, ARTIST, WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Albert Fleury, an Art institute instructor for twenty-five years, will be buried this morning with services at 10 o'clock from the Holy Name cathedral. Had he lived until today Mr. Fleury would have been 76 years old. He retired from the Art institute faculty five years ago and during the last years of his life devoted himself to painting. Two of his most distinguished paintings flank the walls to the east and west of the stage of the Auditorium theater. Mr. Fleury was a graduate of the French Academy des Beaux Arts, Paris. A sister in Paris and a nephew, Andre de Lamare, who resided with Mr. Fleury at 642 North Dearborn street, survive.

ALBERT FLEURY.

Mrs. Sarah Shank, Wife of Indianapolis Mayor, Dies

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 1.—Mrs. Sarah Shank, 46 years old, wife of Mayor Lew Shank, died at her home here tonight from a complication of diseases, resulting from an attack of influenza. Mrs. Shank was a prominent figure in Indiana politics. She was a member of the city board of park commissioners. Mayor Lew Shank has canceled all speaking engagements in his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor.

Noted Louisville Surgeon, Dr. McMurtry, Is Dead

MEXICO RATIFIES TREATY WITH U. S. TO PAY DAMAGES

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Mexico City, Feb. 1.—The senate approved the general claims convention between the United States and Mexico at 3:30 p. m. today by a vote of 28 to 14. This is the convention drawn up during the conference in Mexico City last summer between the United States commissioners, Judge John Barton Payne of Chicago and Charles B. Warren of Detroit, and the Mexican government representatives. It provides a fair settlement of the various claims by American citizens for damage to their properties in Mexico in the various wars and revolutions.

N. Y. C. TRAINMEN, CONDUCTORS GET WAGE INCREASES

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Announcement was made by the New York Central management today of the conclusion of an agreement for a 5 per cent increase in wages with representatives of the brotherhoods representing the conductors and trainmen. The agreement followed conferences held here last week.

The wage agreement, it was said, was made upon the same terms as that with the brotherhoods representing the engineers and firemen, announced Jan. 22. It was said that the details had not yet been worked out and that another conference would be held here next Tuesday.

The lines involved, in addition to the various New York Central divisions, are the Boston and Albany; the Michigan Central; Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; Cincinnati Northern; Peoria and Eastern; Evansville, Indianapolis and Terre Haute; Muncie Belt; Louisville and Jefferson Bridge and Railroad; Pittsburgh and Lake Erie; Indiana Harbor Belt railroad; Chicago Junction railway, and Rutland railroad.

GRANT RAISE TO KEY MEN ON 3 ROADS; REFUSE 3

Telegraphers on three southern railroads were granted increases in pay and telegraphers on three other roads were refused them in a decision of the railway labor board yesterday. On the Charleston and Western North Carolina the key men were given 2½ cents an hour more. The Southern Pacific in Texas and Louisiana and the Texas and Pacific were ordered to pay 2 cents an hour more.

Telegraphers to whom the pay increase was refused were those on the Virginian railway, the International Great Northern, and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad. The increases given the others were made effective as of Jan. 16.

VENIZELOS WILL QUIT AS GREEK CHIEF MONDAY

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

The future plans of M. Venizelos will be decided Monday, when his wife and a Paris specialist will arrive. His condition has not changed.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR INSURGENTS AT MINERS' MEET

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 1.—[By the Associated Press.]—Defeated in every attack upon the conservative administration of the United Mine Workers of America, insurgents tonight planned a grand finale for tomorrow in their attempt to have Alexander Howatt of Kansas reinstated as a member of the union. Their last defeat came today when the convention voted down a resolution intended to depose Ellis Searles as editor of the Mine Workers' Journal and provide that only a practical coal miner shall hold the job.

The deposed Kansas president has a following of uncertain size in the convention, but, according to administration leaders, the great majority of delegates are solidly in support of President Lewis' policy.

Administration candidates for delegates to the world mining congress at Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, in June, were elected on the first ballots today. Walter Nesbit, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois district, by a vote of 933, and President Kennedy of district 7, Pennsylvania, by 306.

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

BOOKS

Power of Native Heath Theme of Hudson's Novel

By Fanny Butcher.

"Nowhere Else in the World" is no other spot than Chicago. Jay William Hudson has chosen that title for a novel which should give to the doubters among Chicago's population the final arguments which are necessary to their conversion to boosters. That sounds rather bald, and the book isn't bald propaganda at all, but it is such good propaganda that I can't help mentioning that phase of it.

"Nowhere Else in the World" isn't so much a story about Chicago as it is a novel of the power of the roots of one's native heath. There is, almost certainly, something strength-giving about the soil in which are one's spiritual roots, and in most cases spiritual roots are undiscernible from physical roots. It is an extremely rare person who flowers more luxuriously in a civilization other than his native one. Mostly the expatriates are either geniuses—of which there are almost none in the world, one or two a generation in each field of art is a fair average—or they remain to the end of their days sort of air plants, visitors always, charming occasionals in the routine of a life to which they contribute little and from which they take no more.

Certainly that is true of most writers. They find themselves in their periods of greatest artistic productivity drawing sustenance from the environment which was theirs in their youth. The greatest literary artists have their roots in their native soil. It is the aberration of every young writer to feel that other environments are more stimulating than his natural one. Stephen Kent, the hero of "Nowhere Else in the World," is no different than thousands of other young intellectuals.

I'll wager that at least 90 per cent of the young intelligentsia—provided they are really young—think that if they were given a chance to live in Paris or London or Singapore, or to sail the seas or be cowboys or do any of the thousands of things and be in any of the thousands of places in which they are not at the moment, they could produce the greatest literary work of the decade. They know their own background so well that they are blinded to its possibilities. They see only its nauseous dullness or its narrowness or its stupidities. They always make me think of that cartoon of Bruce Bairnsfather's of Alf and Bill extremely uncomfortable in a shell hole and of Alf's or Bill's [I can't remember which] reply to the grousings of the other, "If you know a better 'ole, why don't you go there?"

Mr. Hudson has taken for the plot of this book the story of a young intellectual who can't abide America and who adores Paris. His interest in Paris is more geographical than anything else it seems as one reads the first part of the book. He loves it because it is quaint, because he finds such wondrous foods in unexpected places, because the sun sets over the Seine, but as much because there is a girl there who would make a garden of Luxor to him.

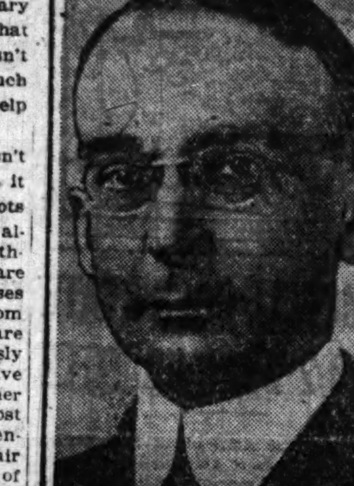

When he finds that his father refuses longer to support him as a jolly idler he wakes up with a jolt. He doesn't love Paris enough to starve there. He accepts a position as an instructor in a midwestern college. The part of the book which deals with modern college life is, to me, the most authentic part of the book—not that I know anything about modern college life from the point of view of the teacher, but there is a solid reality about the college background which impresses itself upon the reader. The circumstances of the hero's leaving college and of his secret life in Chicago aren't so convincing. But the final triumph of his environment, the slowly increasing power of the spirit of this great groping city over him is really very well done.

I have read more beautiful descriptions of Chicago, more powerful ones, but for at least half of the book "Nowhere Else in the World" is the story of the increasing strength of a native power over an artificial one, and as such it is a well done piece of work.

Mr. Hudson writes best when he is not writing conversation. His characters talk like every one else in fiction. There is a sort of biscuit-cutter conversation in practically all fiction nowadays. The same thoughts are expressed in almost the same words—a trade language, as it were. Mr. Hudson's characters talk that trade language much of the time—but Mr. Hudson doesn't write it when he is describing or narrating.

There is a tale going about the town that a very prominent citizen says this book is almost an exact picture of his son, even to the dog, whose name is Binks, the same as his son's dog. The resemblance was so striking that for a while he wondered if perhaps the book mightn't have been written by his son until he found out that Mr. Hudson is a person very much himself, a professor of philosophy at the University of Missouri and the author of another novel, "Abbe Pierre," which is as out of the metier of a young intellectual as anything might well be.

DEPICTS CHICAGO

JAY WILLIAM HUDSON.

A New Firm.

Albert and Charles Boni are the successors to Lieber and Lewis, and prominent upon their list is the novel of eighteenth century Cairo called "Goha the Fool" and written by two Egyptians, Albert Ades and Albert Josipovici, the latter the secretary to the king of Egypt. When the book was published in French in 1919 Octave Mirbeau ranked it with "Don Quixote, "Jude the Obscure," and the masterpieces of Stendahl, Flaubert, and Tolstoi. It has been translated into Italian, German, Czech, Swedish, Danish, and Dutch. This is its first English translation, so far as I can find out.

The Boosters.

When you see "The Boosters" on the front of a book you can be pretty certain that it has something to do with California—and it has. "The Boosters," by Mark Lee Luther, is the story of an eastern architect who moved to Los Angeles, deaf, blind, and with a cold in his head as far as the climate and the beauties of southern California were concerned. He had his eyes opened, regained his hearing, and used his voice, as it were, before the book ends. "The Boosters" ought to be presented gratis by members of the boosters of California. It's 100 per cent propaganda, including its love story.

A New Magazine.

The first number of the Transatlantic Review has just come out. It is edited in Paris by Ford Madox Ford, who was before his metamorphosis Ford Madox Hueffer and who edited in its day the excellent English Review. As an echo of those days, when he was a collaborator with Joseph Conrad, there is "The Nature of a Crime," by them both. There is verse by E. E. Cummings, A. E. Coppard, and Ezra Pound. There is other excellent stuff and finally the first installment of a novel by the editor, who promises, in an answer to a note which H. G. Wells writes wishing him luck, that he will not write any poetry for the magazine—which is a pity, for most of us agree with Mr. Wells that Mr. Hueffer—sorry, Mr. Ford—is "one of the greatest poets" alive. Mrs. Nancy Cox McCormack sent me a preliminary announcement of the Review from Paris in which the purposes are set forth as "the major one, the purely literary, conducing to the minor, the disinterestedly social. The first is that of widening the field in which the younger writers of the day can find publication, the second that of introducing into international politics a note more genial than that which almost universally prevails."

The Young Intellectuals.

James Joyce is the patron saint of many of the young intelligentsia. The impertinence of the group is as well exemplified in a few words that he is said to have spoken to William Butler Yeats as in anything I have heard for a long time. When they met for the first time James Joyce said to the older man: "We have met too late; you are too old to be influenced by me."

Plays for Men.

Frank Shay has edited a "Treasury of Plays for Men," which includes twenty-one plays which may be given by men alone, and a bibliography of all of the available plays for men that he has been able to find. This and his "Treasury of Plays for Women" are a great help to amateur groups who are unable to produce the ordinary plays because they lack the available playing material.

CONFESSIONS

When I wrote to Dorothy Richardson asking her what book she would rather have written than any other in the world she replied:

Dear Miss Butcher:

When a book gets me I want not to have written it, but to read it aloud from the housetops. I should, however, like to write, and then to annotate Balzac's unwritten essay, "Sur les Forces Humaines."

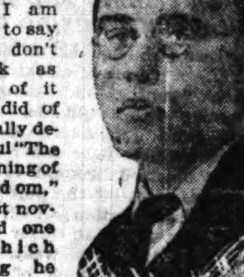

A photograph of myself I cannot send you. There are none.

Yours sincerely,

Dorothy M. Richardson.

Benet's New Novel Doesn't Win Praise His First One Did

Some of the ardent friends of young Steve Benet have taken me gently to task for neglecting his novel "Jean Huguenot." Now I am forced to say that I don't think as much of it as I did of his really delightful "The Beginning of Wisdom," his first novel, and one to which nothing he has ever done since compares, and that in real literary progress, although the second novel may not be so good as the first, the third should be better.

STEPHEN BENET.

There is nothing very startling one way or another about "Jean Huguenot." It is a well written, but not unusually well written, book. Although the heroine leaves her husband and lives with a French racer and later chooses a rather unexpected and inexplicable means of collecting a small sum with which to do another rather unexpected and inexplicable thing, there is nothing especially startling about the plot.

Mr. Benet describes some scenes in the early married life of the heroine and her husband in a frank and honest fashion. He is too much of a poet not to write with a certain poignancy. But the net result of "Jean Huguenot" seems to be not quite up to what Mr. Benet can well do. It is "spotty," like some badly made photographs. The picture is clear and lovely at moments, but one never can tell when an amateurish spot will spoil it. Stephen Vincent Benet might well be one of our best novelists. I suspect that he isn't because he finds, as any one finds nowadays, that a second best is adequate. It is all that is demanded, and it takes a great artist to give more than his public wants.

"The Rise of Christianity."

Frederick Owen Norton has given in his "The Rise of Christianity" a guide to the interpretation of the source materials for the origin and development of the Christian religion. The general reader will be especially interested in it for its vivid description of the world out of which Christianity rose.

The Flitting Wallace.

Hardly has the news been assimilated that Wallace Irwin had bought a famous old house near Port Jefferson, L. I., which was built in 1740 and once was an old coaching inn and contained a room in which Washington had slept. And now comes more news—that Wallace Irwin and his wife sailed on the 19th of January on a trip around the world, taking with them Hashimura Togo, the Japanese schoolboy, who will write his impressions of places and things. After Togo's pieces have appeared serially they will join his other books, the latest of which is "More Letters of a Japanese Schoolboy." Mr. Irwin delivered the manuscript of his new novel, "Tomorrow's Bread," before they sailed.

The Cleveland Biographer.

There has been some comment on the fact that the official biographer of Grover Cleveland should have been a prominent Republican and not one of Mr. Cleveland's own political faith. The Life—two solid and scholarly volumes—was done by Robert McElroy of Princeton. Dr. McElroy explained the other day how he came to be elected. "I have been an intimate friend of Mrs. Cleveland for years. She wished the biography written, not from a partisan but from a scholarly point of view, looking not for mercy but for exact truth. I was brought up by a father who was one of the first to appreciate that Grover Cleveland was a great national figure. I saw Mr. Cleveland first immediately after his election in 1885. I was then 13 years old." A more scholarly biographer could not have been chosen, that is certain.

Sheer Authenticity of Frontier Book Grips Its Readers

"Fifty Years on the Old Frontier" is the title of a volume of reminiscences of James H. Cook, cowboy, hunter, guide, scout, and ranchman. It is a book which holds you by the sheer authenticity of itself, not at all by its literary power.

To "Jim" Cook the daily life of a man of the plains wasn't anything so remarkable even in those days when death lurked behind a clump of bushes, when, as he says, one was liable at any moment to become a human pincushion with well aimed arrows as the pins. It was—and is in retrospect—as ordinary as the daily grind of ledger and adding machines is to the office drudge, as ordinary but never commonplace. He loved the life of the plains, but he can't be getting romantic about it. His record, therefore, is a most unembroidered one and all of the thrills that the reader gets from it are entirely the reader's business, not his.

Emerson Hough in "North of 36" regrets the fact there is no literature of the early days in the old southwest. Mr. Cook's book repairs part of that damage. He tells, for instance, of a herd which he drove from Texas to Kansas and of the trials on the road—though he never allows himself to look upon them as anything more than the exigencies of the day's work—which Mr. Hough might have taken bodily for "North of 36."

There is in Mr. Cook's narrative, however, the simple picture of a hailstorm which is a thriller beyond any storm in fiction or film. The hailstones were so large that they made blood blisters on him and as he tried to regain his camp he was in water and hail up to his waist. He expected every moment that a stone would kill him, and when he found a companion on the ground after the storm he was sure that they had done for his partner. Such a storm as to make your spine creep—and yet he tells it as if it had not been more serious than a spring drizzle. That is one of the charms of the book—its simplicity, its lack of impressiveness.

Mr. Cook was a cowboy when that word held the essence of danger and romance to youth. He was a hunter of big game when the Rockies were still visited by great game hunters of Europe. He was a friend of the Indians when the Indians knew little friendship for any white man. He was a sure shot and he took no back talk from the world. He was a figure in American history, a type now nothing but a memory. His story is a thrilling one, not because he thought it was when he was writing it, but because it actually was, and no amount of modesty or ordinariness about the way he tells it can take away the glamour of a record of the "good old days."

A Fine Biography.

Sometimes, hidden under the bushel of some official document, is something really fine and worthy. Such a thing is Katherine Peabody Girling's life of her father, "Selim Hobart Peabody," written as one of a series of biographies of the presidents of the University of Illinois.

With a real gift for pleasant writing Mrs. Girling has made of this biography one of the nicest books that I have read for a long time. The latter chapters, which tell of the life at the University of Illinois, aren't so exciting to me, but the first part of the book, the record of the early days of her parents' life, are no less than thrilling in their charm and facts. She does a very thorough job of biographing and goes back in the genealogies of both of her parents, but never for one moment is that going back dull. It serves merely to give an added flavor to the story of a life which, though touching modern times, was really a flower of the days long past.

Her father, Dr. Peabody, was always a man who made no compromises with duty (according to Mrs. Girling's delightful account), and the stern fineness of his stand for what he believed to be right is not one whit lessened by the humor of his biographer.

Mrs. Girling has written a perfectly delightful book, with a fragrance about it, an indefinable something—let us call it the reflection of an ideal—and a charm of humor which is very rare nowadays, when biographies and autobiographies are commoner than novels, and often more badly done.

If I were one of the judges of the Pulitzer prize awards I should coax it out from under its college documentary bushel and at least give myself the pleasure of comparing the charming first part of it to more formal—and less interesting—contestants.

Field Museum Leaflets.

Four new leaflets have been added to the series which are to be had at the Field museum as aids to the better understanding of the exhibits. "Model of an Arizona Gold Mine," with an explanation of the simpler technical terms used in mining; "Models of Blast Furnaces for Smelting Iron," with descriptions of the methods used in the eighteenth century, those in use in civil war times, and the complex modern furnaces; "Amber," which describes some of the unusual pieces in which insects have been trapped, and "Meteorites," which is a collection of facts which will interest the average reader.

Plans Made for Celebration of Byron Centenary

By Sidney Dark

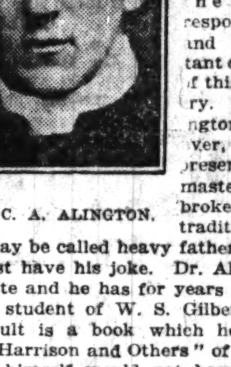

[Editor of John o' London's Weekly.]

Byron died on April 19, 1824, and plans are being discussed to celebrate his centenary in some worthy manner. Whatever is decided will probably be carried out by John Murray, the descendant of the poet's publisher, in whose publishing house in Albermarle street are many interesting Byron relics.

For the information of Byron enthusiasts among Americans who propose to visit London this year I would mention that the poet was born at 24 Holles street, Cavendish square. This house is marked by a tablet, as is also No. 8 St. James' street, where he was living when "Childe Harold" was published. As for Byron's other London residences, and there were many of them, most of them disappeared before the advance of the housebreaker, but one may gaze up at No. 1 Albermarle street, which used to be a hotel, and remember that while Byron was living there he wrote most of "The Corsair" while walking up and down the street.

Mrs. C. N. Williamson has been paying a flying visit to London. She has now gone to Vienna, a city which she greatly likes, and she proposes to go from there for a time to the Panamas and thence to her native United States.

Eton is the most expensive and aristocratic of English public schools. Only peers and profiteers ever send their sons there. Consequently to be head master of Eton is to be one of the most responsible and important citizens of this country. Dr. Alington, however, Eton's present head master has broken the tradition of what may be called heavy fatherliness. He must have his joke. Dr. Alington can write and he has for years been a careful student of W. S. Gilbert and the result is a book which he calls "King Harrison and Others" of which Gilbert himself would not have been ashamed.

DR. C. A. ALINGTON.

The bolshevists have taken Russia back to pre-Caxton days. Russian authors are forbidden by the soviet authorities to have their books printed so they now make copies in their own handwriting and these copies are illustrated and then bound in canvas or the bark of trees. A shop has been opened in Moscow for the sale of these hand made books.

Richard Burton is one of the great romantic figures of English literature. His famous translation of "The Arabian Nights" shows him to have been a great scholar and a considerable writer. He went to the east and forgot the west, learning to speak numerous languages and becoming absolutely oriental in brain and spirit. He was a born rebel and adventurer, fated to spend years of his life as British consul in a dull town, and to marry a pious wife who, after his death burnt one of his most erudite manuscripts because of its impropriety. A new book of "Collected Papers" written by Burton at various times in his life adds to one's knowledge of a strange, unusual, difficult, personality, born to be a rebel and to pay the full price of rebellion.

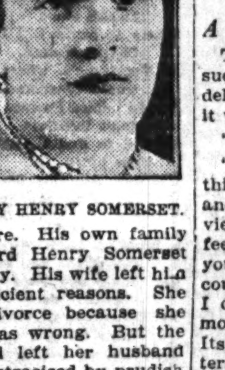

It is said that when he has finished his introductions for the new cheap edition of Stevenson, Lloyd Osbourne intends to use the many essays that he has written around his stepfather's work as the basis for an extended personal biography. Lloyd Osbourne is, of course, better equipped for such a task than any other living man. He and his wife are now living in a flat in Belgrave Gardens and London has become more or less their permanent home.

A year or so ago John Paris' novel "Kimono" had a great success in this country and also, I understand, a considerable success in America. Mr. Paris has now finished a second novel, which he calls "Sayonara," which, being interpreted, means "If it must be so." It is the story of a missionary who marries a girl from the Yoshiwara, which, it may be explained, is the last place in the world where a missionary would be expected to look for a wife. Mr. Paris is also writing the adventures of an amazing Japanese who, among other things, served during the war in the British air force.

Edmund Gosse has just revealed an interesting literary secret. When Swinburne's "Poems and Ballads" were first published an extremely scathing review was printed in the "Saturday Review" with the result that the publisher withdrew the volume from circulation. Mr. Gosse now tells us that this review was written by John Morley, afterwards Lord Morley. In later years Lord Morley altered his mind about the merit of Swinburne's poetry.

American readers will be glad to hear that Archibald Marshall has finished another country house novel, "The Progress of Anthony Dare," which is a sequel to his recently published "Anthony Dare." Mr. Marshall is at present living at Capri.

The Biography of Lady Henry Somerset, who in the later years of her life was anxious to bestow on this country the inestimable blessing of prohibition, is in a way an historical document. Lady Henry Somerset married a son of the then Duke of Beaufort in the early years of the seventies of last century. The marriage was a failure. His own family admitted that Lord Henry Somerset behaved abominably. His wife left him for good and sufficient reasons. She never sued for divorce because she thought divorce was wrong. But the fact that she had left her husband caused her to be ostracised by prudish Victorian society. She was never again allowed to enter Mr. Gladstone's house, for example. When one reads of these Victorians, one is convinced that they could not have been as good as all that. Lady Henry Somerset's ostracism was the beginning of many years of really genuine social service.

LADY HENRY SOMERSET.

The American, Frederick Chamberlin, who lives in Majorca, has just published "The Sayings of Queen Elizabeth," a sort of sequel to his "The Private Character of Queen Elizabeth." The book is to be published in America in the spring. In his introduction Mr. Chamberlin fiercely attacks Froude.

Henry Adams Bellows, former editor of the Bellman, has done a translation of the "Poetic Edda" for the American Scandinavian foundation, which the foundation says is the first adequate one in the English language of the bible of northern mythology, morality and literature, and a stupendous work. Mr. Bellows makes the Viking bards "as thrilling as the report of a baseball game"—which isn't any recommendation to me, but it may be to some of you. The stupidest writing in the world, it seems to me, is a report of a baseball game. It usually says everything in the world except what it means. No one who doesn't know baseball slang could possibly under any circumstances know what it is about. But what the foundation means is that Mr. Bellows has given to this monumental work a verve and a poetic lilt which makes it a pleasure as well as a literary duty to read it.

A Recommendation.

This letter from Mrs. Harrison is such an enthusiastic expression of her delight in "Fay" that I want to share it with you:

"Dear Miss Butcher:

"The most charming novel I've read this season is 'Fay,' by Edwin Baird; and I wonder that it has not been reviewed by you in The Tribune, for I feel that it is the sort of story that you would really enjoy reading. Of course, I may be mistaken in this, but I do know that 'Fay' is one of the most entertaining novels I ever read. Its charm of style, its quaint characters, its 'atmosphere' linger in the mind long after the story is finished, and I find myself opening the book from time to time to reread certain passages here and there. . . . It was quite by chance . . . that I obtained a copy. Since reading it I have told a number of my friends about it, but the book really merits more 'boosting' than my poor efforts can give it.

"With very best wishes,

"[Mrs.] Elizabeth Harrison."

Meetings and Lectures

Edna St. Vincent Millay will read from her poems this evening for the Arts club at the Virginia hotel, and tomorrow evening at the Grace Hickox studio. Miss Millay is lovely to look at, with a delicate head framed in red-gold hair, tilted a bit on a long neck modeled by a clever sculptor. She looks 18, though "Who's Who" says she'll be 32 on Washington's and her own birthday. She reads her poetry with a rapt vibrancy in an accent which shows what can really be done with the American voice.

Startling Truths About Love and Marriage!
Elinor Glyn, famous author of "Three Weeks," has written an amazing book that should be read by every man and woman—married or single. It is called "The Philosophy of Love." This book frankly analyzes the most vital problems of love and marriage. Tells who is to blame if a husband ceases to care for his wife—shows how to attract the one you admire—reveals what you must not do unless you want to be a "wall flower"—explains why wonderful lovers often become indifferent husbands soon after marriage, and how to prevent it—how to hold the love you cherish—how to curb a headstrong man—what makes a woman "cheap" or "common" in a man's eyes—how a wife may always remain desirable to her husband—how to make marriage a perpetual honeymoon.
Eight Editions—over 128,000 copies—of "The Philosophy of Love" have been sold in 5 months, making this one of the best-selling books in America! In many ways "The Philosophy of Love" is decidedly daring, but Madame Glyn handles her subject so sensibly that the book can safely be read by any man or woman. JACKSON'S SIDE OF CASE AGAINST SOX COMPLETED

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Attorneys for Joe Jackson rested today in the case of the former White Sox star against the Chicago American league club for $18,000 alleged salary due on a three year contract signed in February of 1920.

When Ray Cannon and James Shaw, attorneys for the plaintiff, announced that no more witnesses would be called, Judge Gregory adjourned until Monday morning, when the defense will call its own witnesses, who will be President Charles Comiskey and Secretary Harry Grabiner of the Sox, and several others.

All testimony today was given by Comiskey Grabiner, John Heydler, president of the National league, and Fred Luderus, former big leaguer, who now manages the Oklahoma City club of the Western league. As adverse witnesses, Comiskey and Grabiner were cross examined by Cannon on the happenings leading up to the signing of Jackson's contract in 1920 after the crooked 1919 world's series.

Grabiner on Stand.

Comiskey admtited that Grabiner went to Savannah, Ga., with full authority to negotiate with Jackson, but without any instructions to ask the player about what might have occurred during the 1919 series. Grabiner couldn't recall what conversation he had with the plaintiff at Savannah, but did state that the contract was signed in Jackson's house with Mrs. Jackson present, and not in the player's automobile, as Jackson testified.

The plaintiff charges that fraud was practiced in the signing of the contract because Jackson, who could not read, accepted Grabiner's word that the document contained no ten day release clause. Grabiner testified that he couldn't say whether any one had read the contract to Joe that day and that the player didn't ask that the clause be omitted. He said the crooked world's series of the fall previous wasn't discussed with Jackson at that time.

Grabiner also admitted, under questioning, that until February of 1920 he had never gone south to sign Jackson. He also admitted that Comiskey did not send for any of the suspected players during the season of 1920. When Comiskey was on the stand he was asked whether he had called Jackson into his office in 1920 and he replied: "No."

Bars Heydler's Testimony.

Cannon questioned Comiskey in regard to a fight between Ray Schalk and Lefty Williams in the clubhouse after the first or second game and the magnate said he knew nothing about it. Another question was whether Eddie Collins ever had gone to him [Comiskey] to talk about the crooked series, and the Sox boss stated that Collins didn't come to him until a week before Cicotte confessed.

Heydler's testimony amounted to nothing. He was brought from New York by the defense and all he told was that Comiskey on the morning of the second game of the 1919 series had informed him of the rumors of crookedness, that later he had talked with Comiskey in Chicago, and that he had conveyed the information to Ban Johnson, then a member of the national commission. The court barred all the conversation between Comiskey and Heydler and Heydler and Johnson.

Luderus Favors Jackson.

Luderus was called to the stand by the plaintiff to give expert testimony as to Jackson's play in the 1919 series. Luderus stated that he thought Jackson's .375 batting average in the series "wonderful" considering the class of the Cincinnati pitchers. He said he thought Jackson did all that could be expected of him.

When the defense took Luderus in tow he was asked to explain a diving "shoestring" catch such as Jackson missed in one of the series games. Cannon later questioned him on this same point and Luderus said that a catch of such nature was one of the most difficult features of playing the outfield.

COMMY DENIES COLLINS DEAL

Denial that any new bids have been received for the services of Eddie Collins, star second sacker of the White Sox, were issued last night by President Charles Comiskey and Secretary Harry Grabiner of the Sox upon their return from Milwaukee.

When informed that the story had been revived in the east, Comiskey said that the boys must have run out of news. The story printed in New York said that both the Washington club and the Yankees had made offers for the star infielder, but no such bids have been received thus far.

FARM & GARDEN

By FRANK RIDGWAY

THINGS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW ABOUT BABY CHICK.

WHEN the baby chick season opens this spring there will be many starting in the business for the first time. A high percentage of baby chicks die every spring after they leave the hatcheries and are put in the hands of unskilled feeders who are often not even familiar with the simple but important methods of feeding and brooding.

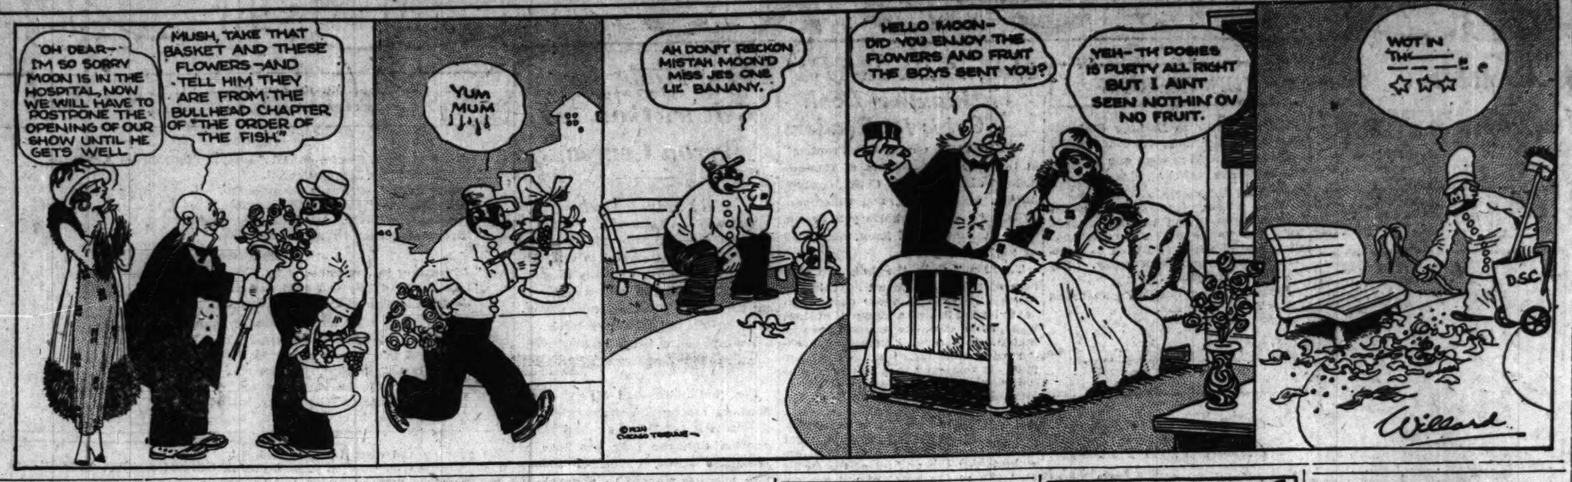

Dr. L. E. Card, University of Illinois, outlined simple methods for rearing baby chicks to farmers attending the farm and home short course at Ames, Ia., a few days ago. He says that what is fed to the chick is not as important as how it is fed.

The feed should not be given baby chicks for forty-eight to sixty hours after they hatch, and he advises the dipping of the chick's beak into sour milk or buttermilk as it is taken from incubator. Have chicken grit handy. Dry oatmeal, bread soaked in milk and fed crumbly can be given to the litter as soon as the chicks begin to scratch. Keep them hungry except after the night feed. A pound of oatmeal, finely cracked corn and cracked wheat is a good ratios for the first three weeks.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[United News Staff Correspondent.]

New York, Feb. 1.—Johnny Dundee, fifteen years in the ring and prematurely mourned as a has-been only a few weeks ago when he fought a poor fight with Jack Bernstein, suddenly came to life in old Madison Square Garden cockpit tonight and canceled the championship aspirations of Pal Moran of New Orleans. Dundee won the decision over Pal in fifteen rounds of sterling milling.

Moran is the young fellow with the explosive right fist who lately sent Charlie White down for a head spin and later stopped Johnny Shugrue, the india rubber boy from Jersey.

Moran Top Favorite.

Shortly before the fight the boulevardiers were making book on the probability of Dundee's being stopped cold by Moran. The first punch of the fight augured fulfillment of their desires, for Moran caught Dundee with a clout on the chin that sent Johnny momentarily to one knee. But before the first session was over Dundee whipped himself into one of those sustained spasms of vitality and began his own routine of snapping off the ropes.

From then to the end of the fight, excepting the fourteenth round, Moran wabbled tround, confused and ridiculous like a country cop chasing a city pickpocket through the subway. Dundee not only slapped and whacked Pal's chin with impertinent swings of his left but actually made him reel and stagger, which is a rare thing for Dundee to do to any man, Johnny being regarded as a very light hitter.

Dundee in Rare Shape.

It was the same sort of fight that Dundee made one time against Charlie White. Johnny was given farewell kisses by his friends, who only half expected to see him emerge from the ring in a conscious condition. And as soon as he warmed up to his work he made the bigger man seem slow and inexperienced. Moran weighed 134½ pounds, while Dundee came in at 133.

GARDINI, M'GILL TO GRAPPLE ON ZBYSKO CARD

Ed White and Joe Coffey, local promoters who will stage the wrestling show at Dexter Park pavilion next Wednesday night, yesterday announced the card which will support the main bout between Stanislaus Zbyszko and Hans Steinke.

In the semi-windup Renato Gardini, the Italian, and Pat McGill, the Nebraska harp, will take holds. Paul Martinson and Jim Dostal will open the show and this contest will be followed by one between Montana Jack McCarthy and Yussiff Hussane. All will be one fall matches, but none will be permitted to go long enough to prevent the main event from starting promptly at 10 o'clock.

In the Wake of the News

BEFORE AND AFTER PROHIBITION.

(Dear Harvey: The subjoined reflections on Prohibition were suggested by a conversation the writer had with a former Chicagoan who went to England before the Eighteenth amendment was enacted. The caustic sentiments are those of the expatriate, not of the writer.)

Since I returned from England, where I went some years ago,
(Before my old friend, Barleycorn, received his knockout blow)
I've been around to all the spots where spirits once were sold,
But blime me if I found a smell of any—hot or cold.

At Stillson's, Pat O'Malley's, Tom Moran's,

When Mr. Volstead did his dirt the town was sewed up right,
And the places I just mentioned closed their doors and said "Good-night."

But should I fall, I'll wander on to Vogelsang's cafe.
At Vogelsang's, where oft at eve the bunch would congregate,
A man named Powner now sells books which don't inebriate.
I failed to find a single drop to drive away the blues,

And some one runs a waffle shop where "Tuck" drew "Chey" beer.
At Haberkorn's, where city hall employés came for rye,
They told me Tommy Hanton died—ne'er lived a better scout—

My German friend, John Prosser, better known as "Coffee John," Pulled down the shades and locked the door before the lid went on.

L'ENVOI.

I'm going back to England, and it's there I'll end my days,
Where it ain't a crime to drink the stuff distilled from rye or maize.
Yes, I'm going back to London, for this country's on the blink,

JOHN KELLEY.

Not a Precedent.

And before the subject of the aforesaid tale returns to England, The Wake wishes to add that publication of a poem of this length does not establish a precedent. It is our custom on Saturday morning to give a few tales of "Earlier Chicago." The good old days referred to SEEM so long ago as to come under that heading.

Do You Remember 'Way Back When:

Dexter (2:17¼) and George M. Patchen Jr. (2:23) raced at the United States Fair held at Chicago in September, 1866 (the Fair was held between Cottage Grove avenue and State street, just south of 27th; the purse was $5,000, and Dexter won)?—G. S. B.

MINNEAPOLIS OFFERS $100,000 FOR BOUT BETWEEN GIBBONS, LUIS

FRANK M'CORMICK, president of the Minneapolis Boxing club, yesterday offered a $100,000 purse for a ten round no-decision contest between Tom Gibbons of St. Paul and Luis Firpo, to be held in Minneapolis early in May. The offer was telegraphed to Eddie Long in Chicago, who, with Eddie Kane, look after the interests of Gibbons. Promoter McCormick asserted the fighters can split the purse any way they determine and that he has cabled the offer to Firpo in South America.

If the match is closed it will be held in the open air, according to Promoter McCormick. Manager Long and Kane have already accepted the offer for Gibbons.

GOOZEMAN AND SHEA TO MEET ON FEB. 11

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Ernie Goozeman, formerly of California, who is now making Milwaukee his home, and Eddie Shea, the west side 122 pounder, yesterday were matched to box ten rounds in the windup of the boxing show to be conducted by George Oswego in East Chicago on Feb. 11. The weight will be 122 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the contest.

Shea is the west side Italian who defeated Charley Glaser in a recent East Chicago show and he has taken the place of Jimmy Kelly in the eyes of Italian boxing fans. He is a two handed fighter who can take a lot of punishment and he carries a wicked sock in his right hand. He is under the management of Ben Rhams.

Promoter Oswego will support the main event with three other contests. In the ten round semi-windup Mickey O'Dowd of Muncie, Ind., will trade punches with Jimmy Mussey of Milwaukee. They will scale 128 pounds.

Connie Curry, the Sioux City, Ia., bantamweight under the management of Johnny O'Feely, will meet Joe Scully of the stockyards in the eight round opener, while Steve Adams of South Chicago, who put up such a game fight against O'Dowd at the last show, will clash with Mickey Kramer of St. Louis in the second preliminary of eight rounds. They will weigh 128 pounds.

Promoter Oswego announced the main event of this show will start promptly at 10 o'clock and that the first preliminary will go on at 8:15 o'clock.

Jock Malone of St. Paul, a strong contender for middleweight honors, leaves this evening for Toledo, where he will meet Young Fisher of Syracuse in a twelve round bout on Monday night. Jock will take his final workout at the Arcade this afternoon.

Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., and Manager Eddie Long leave on Monday for Columbus, where Taylor will meet Eddie O'Dowd in a twelve round decision contest next Thursday night.

Johnny McCoy, the Cleveland bantamweight who is matched to meet Earl McArthur in Sioux City next Friday night, will be seen in action in East Chicago and Milwaukee if he wins the popular verdict over McArthur. Manager Ray Alvis has several offers, all of which are contingent upon Johnny's showing against the Hawkeye battler.

ED LEWIS PINS JACK M'CARTHY

Ed (Strangler) Lewis successfully defended his heavyweight wrestling crown last night at the Star and Garter by pinning Jack McCarthy in straight falls with the aid of the headlock. The champion forced, the challenger's shoulders to the mat in 38:56 for the first spill and gained the second in 2:40. Lewis' famous head lock brought about each fall.

HYDE PARK "Y" WINS.

Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. volley ball team won a triangular meet from Aurora and Racine, Wis., last night at the Hyde Park "Y" by beating the Badger representatives two out of three, and downing Aurora, two straight. Aurora took two games from Racine.

NOTES ON FISHING AND HUNTING FROM MOCKINGBIRD LAND.

NAPLES [On the Gulf of Mexico], Fla.—A couple of mocking birds are "tuning in" from the mango trees outside, there's a warm June sun overhead, from across the way we hear the plaintive notes of a bluebird brought to us by a lazy breeze from off the gulf—guess this is the combination which is responsible for a spring fever feeling that we have the June weather and birds calls make us think of Illinois in May or midsummer when the deadly fishing fever takes its annual toll from the residents of that region.

Naples is the place to give you that lazy feeling at this time of the year. It is way down on the west coast of Florida and right on the gulf. Hardly more than a village, the Tamiami trail passes through here, which some day is going to connect the west coast with the east by piercing the Everglades. As yet that automobile road is not finished. All around Naples is wilderness, into which you plunge after you leave the civilized country adjacent to Fort Myers. To the east is the Everglade country, filled with game birds, turkey, deer, bob cat, and panther. Scrub palmetto covers much of the floor of the forest, and in this the quail find splendid cover.

We have just been over to talk things over with Bud, the guide that knows where the Bob Whites are and who is on speaking terms with all the wild turkeys. Bud is quite a character and we are looking forward to some interesting times with him. He has hunted this region for thirty years, which ought to elevate him from the apprentice class and put him among the regulars. Bud is talkin' about taking us out into the cypress swamps to show how his "medicine" works on turkeys. This will mean sleeping out over night on a palmetto bed instead of balsam boughs, which are a feature of northern outdoorsman's bivouacs in the woods. There are quite a number of deer in here, too.

CAMPBELL COPS STATE 18.2 BILLIARD TITLE

Winning the final block last night, 250 to 199, Robert Campbell won the Illinois State Amateur 18.2 balk line championship from James Peabody at Mussey's. Last night's victory gave Campbell a clean sweep in the three blocks. The score for the three nights was Campbell, 750, and Peabody, 556.

HUESTON SPLITS WITH WESTON

Lorain, O., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Tommy Hueston of Chicago and Charles [Cowboy] Weston of this city divided a pair of national pocket billiard matches here today. The local cueist took the opener, 100 to 93 in 34 innings, and the Chicagoan won the second, 100 to 75 in 34 frames. Hugston turned in the higher run for the day, clicking off 33 in the evening.

Layton Bests Copulos in Two League Cue Games

Cleveland, O., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Gus Copulos of this city suffered a setback here tonight in his fight for top honors in the national championship Three Cushion Billiard league, losing both games to Johnny Layton of St. Louis, 50 to 44, and 50 to 29.

GREENLEAF WINS PAIR.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—James Maturo of Brooklyn gave Ralph Greenleaf of this city two hard contests in the National Pocket Billiard league today, Greenleaf winning the afternoon game, 100 to 91, in seventeen innings and the night affair, 100 to 71, in sixteen frames.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

Augie Kieckhefer totaled 60 ponits, with a high run of 6, in fifty innings, in a City Three Cushion league game at Kieckhefer's Recreation parlor last night, beating Pierre Fish of Syracuse, who totaled 22, with a high run of 4. It was the only league game of the night.

Charles Klima, George Kubia, Joseph Votava, with 7 won and 5 lost, tied for the championship of the Athletic Billiard parlor three cushion tournament, which was held Monday, Tuesday and Friday. They will play off the tie Tuesday.

In a home tournament three cushion billiard match at Foley's last night, McCall defeated Horcan [40], 40 to 32. Walker and McCall, both playing for 40, meet tonight.

2 SKI CLUBS IN MEET TODAY AT PALOS PARK HILL

All the thrills of skiing may be experienced this afternoon at the new Palos Park slide, to be duly dedicated to the people of Cook county by the county commissioners in a dual meet between the Norge and Grand Beach clubs. The forms of the famous jumpers will be silhouetted against the sky, if any sky shows up, promptly at 2:30 p. m., and the fun will begin.

The meet today marks the start of a long period of competition for the grand trophy set up for the winner. The skier who takes a leg on the trophy will have to win two other years to gain permanent possession of it. Seven other prizes have been provided for contestants.

Careful storing away of snow after the recent snowstorm made the contest today possible.

By automobile the best route to travel for the slide is:

Western avenue south to 111th street, west on 111th street to Keane avenue, south on Keane avenue to 112th street, west half a mile to "slide." Or autoists may take Ogden avenue southwest to Lyons, south over bridge through Summit into Archer road, southwest to Keane avenue, south on Keane avenue to 112th street, and west half a mile to "slide."

By railroad:

By motor bus:

The Willett company will run busses from the east entrance of the county building to the ski meet, leaving the loop at 12:30 and 1 p. m. Seat reservations may be made by phone. Telephone Superior 0131. These are the new type busses making scenic trips around Chicago.

YANKS, CANADA IN FINALS OF OLYMPIC HOCKEY

OLYMPIC RESULTS

CHAMONIX, France, Feb. 1.—[By the Associated Press.]—Canada leads all rivals for scoring honors in the Olympic ice hockey games, while the combination from the United States is second, but it has the added distinction of being the only team whose goal has not been dented by an opposing puck.

UPPER HALF.

	W.	L.	Gls.	Opp. gls.
Canada	4	0	104	2
Sweden	2	2	18	45
Switzerland	0	2	0	42
Czecho-Slovakia	0	2	3	39

LOWER HALF.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

CHAMONIX, Feb. 1.—[Tribune Radio.]—America beat Sweden, 20 to 0, and Canada defeated Great Britain, 19 to 2, in the semi-finals of the Olympic games hockey competition this afternoon, assuring a North American battle for the championship Sunday.

The American hockey artists silenced critics and cheered up their followers by their brilliant play, showing a big improvement in every department of the game. Drury, flashy center forward, and Clarence Abel, giant defense, led the American attack, each scoring six goals. The American team played at top speed throughout the three periods, showing greater strength at the end of the game than in the early stages.

Yanks Bombard Swedes.

Abel started scoring in the first period, which netted America five goals. The second period brought three goals by Abel and two by Drury and one each by McCarthy and Rice. The Americans bombarded the Swedish goal continually in the last half of the period after being held without scoring for the first twelve minutes.

The Swedish goal keeper, Olson, gave a remarkable exhibition of stopping the barrage of hard shots which the Americans peppered at him. During one mixup before the goal mouth, Olson broke his stick into splinters, but continued playing several minutes, stopping shots with his feet and body until a new stick arrived.

In the final period the Americans cut loose, scoring eight times. Drury got three, Abel two, and Synotte, McCarthy and Rice one each.

Victory Significant.

Although the Americans relied mostly on individual play, their team work was better in the last two periods. They outclassed the Swedes in handling the puck and proved swifter and more daring skaters.

The Americans' overwhelming victory is considered particularly significant, because it was won on soft, sloppy ice. A warm, springlike sun thawed the rink surface, which then was cut and churned into mush by the Canadian-British game, which preceded the American-Swedish contest. Lineup:

UNITED STATES.		SWEDEN.
Lacroix	Goal	Ohlson
Small	Right Defense	Johansson
Drury	Center	Molander
McCarthy	Right Wing	Burman

THUNBERG MAY SKATE IN U. S.

New York, Feb. 1.—Clas Thunberg, sensational Finnish skater, whose triumphs in the speed skating events in the Olympic games at Chamonix won him the unofficial title of world's champion, will compete in the national and international championships at Saranac Lake and Lake Placid, respectively, if he accepts the invitation of the International Skating union.

Joseph K. Savage, president of the international union, said today that William Taylor, manager of the American Olympic skating team, went abroad with an invitation from the union to Thunberg to compete in this country.

Loyola U. Cagers Battle Rose Poly Here Tonight

Loyola university's basket tossers will face the Rose Poly team on the north side floor this evening. The Indiana team carries a good record, and Coach Len Sachs has been driving his charges hard, perfecting a short pass offense and a defense which, he hopes, will hold the Tech team to a small score.

British Golf Champs Beat Kirkwood, Von Elm

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 1.—Arthur G. Havers, British open golf champion, and James Ockenden, French open titleholder, defeated Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot artist, and George Von Elm, Los Angeles amateur, 1 up, in an interesting eighteen hole match on the San Diego Country club house at Chula Vista this afternoon.

STREATOR TRIMS MEDILL.

GASOLINE ALLEY—SAFETY FIRST

MOLLA TO PLAY FOR NORWAY IN OLYMPICS

New York, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Molla Mallory, seven times American tennis champion, barred from the American Olympic team because she once played for Norway in the Olympics, will accept the invitation to play in Paris next summer for Norway, it was learned today.

Mrs. Mallory has not officially accepted the invitation extended to her by the Norwegian Olympic officials, but she will do so as soon as she feels sure of her legal grounds.

RICHARDS, NET CHAMP, ELOPES WITH N. Y. GIRL

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The elopement of Vincent Richards, national indoor tennis champion, and Miss Claremont Gushee, daughter of Ralph A. Gushee, proprietor of the Claremont Inn on Riverside drive, became known today, when the two prepared to leave New York for Palm Beach and Bermuda on their honeymoon. They were married at Greenwich, Conn., on Wednesday, despite the objections of the bride's parents.

The bride always has been a tennis enthusiast and attended all the Forest Hills matches when Richards, still a student in knickerbockers at Fordham Preparatory school, first attracted attention with his sensational playing.

MRS. JESSUP IN FINAL OF JERSEY TENNIS TOURNEY

New York, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, Wilmington, Del., tennis star, who is attempting a comeback, today advanced to the finals of the Heights Casino invitation indoor singles by defeating Miss Martha Bayard, Short Hills, N. J., 7—5, 8—6. Mrs. Jessup will play Miss Lillian Scharman, Brooklyn, for the title tomorrow.

In the final round for the doubles title Mrs. Jessup, paired with Miss Leslie Bancroft of Boston, defeated Miss Martha Bayard of Short Hills, N. J., and Miss Marie Wagner, 10—8, 11—9. Fast play closely contested featured the match.

M'LEAN'S RACES WITH M'GOWAN ARE CALLED OFF

Because of weather conditions the series of match ice races between Bobby McLean and Everett McGowan, scheduled for the Logan Square baseball park on Sunday afternoon, were officially declared off yesterday by Jim Thomas, manager of McLean. The local expert will leave on Monday for Saranac Lake, N. Y., where he will attempt to establish new professional records over various distances. The McLean-McGowan races may be held later in the month.

GOLF NOTES.

Curing your Golf Troubles BY JIM BARNES

Jim Barnes will suggest a remedy for your golf faults. Write him in care of the Sport Editor, inclosing stamped envelope if you want a personal reply.

Dear Mr. Barnes:

May I ask a little advice on the selection of clubs? I get a chance to play on an average of, perhaps, once a week during the season. Under there circumstances would it be advisable for me to use clubs possibly a little heavier than the average, or lighter ones?

Under the circumstances I would recommend clubs possibly a bit on the heavy side, that is, above the average, which is around 13¾ ounces for the driver, with others graded accordingly.

Somewhat heavier clubs tend to steady the swing and give the player more of a "feel" of the club. They also help to prevent the player from hurrying the back swing, which is a very common fault.

In the foregoing I am supposing that you have at least normal wrists. Of course, a player with weak wrists had better stick to light clubs. But light clubs permit of and require a more delicate use and touch than is needed for good average results with others a bit heavier, and as a rule rather constant use is needed to develop this.

I find a very common fault in high handicap players of rushing the swing to hit the ball, instead of bringing the club down in a real swing, and a little extra weight in the club will sometimes help to remedy this.

PURDUE TRACK ARTISTS BATTLE MAROONS TODAY

A double dose of track and field competition will be offered at Bartlett gym tonight, when the University of Chicago speed merchants and weight lifters vie with Purdue's aggregation. The third of a series of three city and suburban prep tourneys will also be held.

The high school events will start this morning at 9:30, when preliminaries in the senior 50 yard dash, low hurdles, 220 yard dash, high jump, pole vault, and shot put, and finals in the junior division 50 yard dash, low hurdles, 220 yard dash, high jump, and shot put will be held. The evening program, to be held in conjunction with the university dual meet, will consist of finals in the senior dash, high hurdles, quarter mile, half mile, mile, and relay, and in the junior relay.

Y. College Basketeers Beat Dubuque, 41 to 23

Y. M. C. A. college basket quintet last night gave the University of Dubuque its second defeat on its trip to Chicago, winning, 41 to 23, at the "Y" college gymnasium. The local tossers clearly outclassed the visitors, leading at half time, 20 to 10.

Townsend, playing at center, topped the locals in scoring with seven baskets and a free throw. Lineup:

St. Louis Golfers Oppose Adoption of New Ball

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 1.—Many St. Louis golfers say they oppose the plan of the United States Golf association to diminish the flight and power of the ball by decreasing the weight and increasing the size. Local golfers expressed the opinion that this might produce a "floater."

Maroon Swimmers Take On Purdue Here Tonight

University of Chicago swimmers will compete with Purdue in Bartlett gymnasium tank tonight. The Maroon and Boilermaker water basketball sextets engage in a Big Ten game on the same program.

DOZEN ILLINI STARS HIT BY EXAMINATIONS

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Results of mid-year examinations, announced today, jolted Illini athletic teams when a dozen athletes, including Earl Britton, full back of the football team and sharing jointly with Red Grange the honor of being a part of one of the greatest forward passing combinations in the country, were declared ineligible for competition. None of the men barred will be allowed to compete until they have worked off scholastic conditions.

Britton, a guard on the basketball team, and Rollie Popkin, who plays the other defensive position, with Evans Nelsing, substitute forward, are the basketball men who have been hit. Plato and Mieher of the track squad, and Barnes, Shatiko, and Saper, wrestlers, are also under the scholastic ban.

The aquatic teams, coached by Ed Manley, also have been hard hit, each one of the four captains-elect of the tank sport having been lost. A. D. Piggott, leader of the natators, and Mark Sutton, water basketball captain, are the two latest losses. They will not be able to swim against Purdue in the meet on Feb. 9. Two other aquatic captains, Verne Condit and Sam Semple, withdrew from school during the last semester.

PURPLE LOSES THREE

With Ray MacLennan, Northwestern basketball man, and Ralph Baker, Rockford High star who was looked on as a valuable cog in the Purple basketball machine, as sure ineligibles, and with Billy McElwain, ex-football captain, in the same boat and in danger of flunking out of school, Coach Maury Kent's court squad has been ravaged by the midyear examinations, which will end Monday. Two new men became eligible with the completion of the term, it is believed. They are Jack Carstens, a forward, and Clarence Gerecke, center.

MacLennan was a baseball man as well as a basket flipper, while Baker was considered a strong prospect for the Purple grid machine next fall. When at the University of Illinois he was a runningmate of Red Grange and in his workout on the freshman team was said to be almost as clever a player as the Wheaton flash.

PURDUE TAKES SLOW TILT FROM HANOVER, 23-19

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Purdue five won a narrow margin victory over Hanover here tonight in a sluggish game. The final score was 23 to 19 and the score at the half was, Purdue, 13; Hanover, 6. Lineup:

Skating Union Plans World's Ice Tourney

Montreal, Que., Feb. 1.—Plans for a world's skating meet, to be held either in Canada or the United States in 1925, were discussed today at a meeting of skating officials, including C. H. Goldsmith of Saranac Lake, N. Y., secretary-treasurer of the International Skating union.

The international indoor speed skating championship tournament was awarded to St. John, N. B., where it will be held late this month.

Old Exterminator to Try Comeback Tomorrow

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1.—Exterminator, champion distance gelding of America, will make his first appearance on a western track at the Tijuana racetrack Sunday in a race at one mile and seventy yards, it was announced here today by James W. Coffroth, president of the Tijuana Jockey club. It will also be his first race since last April, when his owner, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, retired him temporarily.

Lake View Basket Teams Win Pair from Hubbard

Lake View High cagers took both ends of a double bill from Hibbard yesterday in north section games at Lake View. The Red and White majors ran up a 22 to 5 triumph and the lights copped, 12 to 11. Lake View lights' victory assures them of a place in the finals.

Rough play marked both combats, three Lake View and a like number of Hibbard lights making their exit via the personal foul route. Two Hibbard heavies also were chased with three personals. Lineups:

2 BIG TEN CAGE TITLE GAMES ON TONIGHT'S CARD

GAMES TONIGHT

Chicago at Iowa.
Minnesota at Indiana.

The strength of four Big Ten basket teams will be tested tonight when Chicago meets Iowa in the Hawkeye stronghold and Minnesota tackles the Hoosiers at Bloomington.

The Gophers will try to remove the stain of defeat by Ohio State in the contest with Indiana tonight. The win by the Buckeyes Monday, though not a celebrated victory for the Columbus lads, at least established that the form they showed in defeating Iowa was not a spasmodic flash of strength. The game also put Cunningham, Ohio State guard, in the lead in scoring in the conference with sixty-six tallies.

The Iowa-Chicago tilt was scheduled as a great battle until recent announcements that Funk and Schick probably will be out of the Hawkeye lineup. This, with the previous loss of Capt. Burgitt, should make a win by Coach Nels Norgren's Maroons comparatively easy.

YOST URGES BOYS TO KEEP AMATEUR RANK

Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics and football coach at the University of Michigan, arrived in Chicago yesterday and delivered a speech before the Pilgrim Men's club of Oak Park last night. The subject of Yost's speech was "The Cost of Clean Sport."

The Wolverine mentor told the boys to play the game squarely and do nothing which would bring reflections upon themselves or the institutions they hope to represent. He urged the boys to remain amateur and to not follow athletics as a means of making a living. It was a straight from the shoulder speech, one which made a big hit with his audience.

Seated in the audience were Herbert Steger, captain of next year's Michigan football team, and Irwin Uteritz, the sterling Wolverine quarter back of the last three years. Both are products of Oak Park High school, where they were developed by Glen Thistlethwaite, who was also an invited guest.

W. W. S. Carpenter, president of the Pilgrim Men's club, acted as toastmaster, and Dr. Ernest B. Allen delivered a speech on Christian athletes. It was the annual sports night of the club and the event was featured by the singing of college and university songs, together with those of Oak Park High school.

INDIANA BEATS MAROON TEAM IN MEET ON MAT

Indiana matmen, winning five of seven events, last night captured a dual conference wrestling meet from the University of Chicago at the Midway gymnasium, 16 to 7. The Hoosiers gained two falls, while the remainder of their victories were decisions.

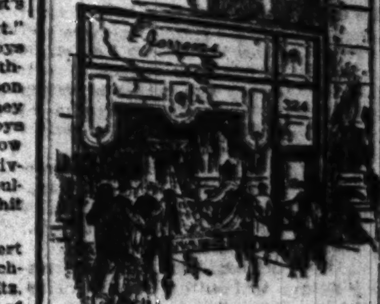

Sarpalius, the only Maroon to pin an opponent, threw Wilson in the most interesting match. Both displayed remarkable ability, Sarpalius finally getting his adversary's shoulders to the mat with a double wrist lock and cross body scissors in 8:55. Summaries:

117 pound class—Mount [I.] won decision from Takaki [C.]. Time, :12. 127 pound class—Ball [C.] won decision from Hold [I.]. Time, :12. 137 pound class—Hoffman [I.] won decision from Graham [C.]. AUTO SHOW SETS NEW RECORDS; TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Exhibits, Attendance and Sales "in High."

BY J. L. JENKINS.

"Home, sweet home" will round tonight for the huge industrial army which, with its twenty-fourth national automobile show in Chicago, has established new high standards for both manufactured products and their spectacular exhibition.

At 10:30 o'clock the curtain will ring down in the Coliseum and 131st infantry armory on the closing night celebration which every year marks the real beginning of the automobile merchandising season in the west. Deliveries on the hundreds of new car orders signed during the show will begin on Monday.

Reports last night indicated that attendance records and new car sales already had exceeded those of last year, and that today's "gate" and purchases could be marked up as excess features.

Officials in charge of the annual salon in the Drake hotel reported a like business for the week.

Prices at Stable Point.

Unlike the hectic closing hours of a year ago, the 1924 show has reached its finale with a minimum of new price announcements. Here and there factory executives have decided on slight revisions, upward for the most part, but the industry as a whole is resting on an even keel and expects to go through the first months of the year at least with its present price lists.

This long desired situation has been brought about through the development of manufacturing methods which cut overhead factory costs to bedrock, according to veteran car makers.

A. H. Erskine brought some interesting figures to bear on the price situation.

"In the five years since the war," he said, "the public paid $556,000,000 for Studebaker cars, or four times the amount it paid for all horse drawn vehicles made by the company in its sixty-eight years of production. During 1923 we spent $8,000,000 in plant extension, bringing the total spent since the war to $35,000,000.

"Man hours spent by labor on the cars produced in 1923 were 50 per cent fewer than in 1912, while the average wages paid for a man hour were 124 per cent more than in 1913. Then the average yearly wage was $760. Last year it was $1,725. In 1913 it required 600 man hours to produce a car. Last year it required 300 hours—an obvious demonstration of increased manufacturing efficiency."

Hertz Urges Taxi Rate Cut.

This cutting down of manufacturing costs was carried into the last phase of transportation during the day by John Hertz of Chicago, veteran taxicab manufacturer and head of the Yellow company. In a booklet issued to the industry in general he urged taxicab operators of America to reduce their rates, contending that the only sure way to win and hold public favor is to give more value for the money than the "other fellow."

In its session at night the Automotive Manufacturers' association urged immediate repeal of the 5 per cent excise tax on automobiles, parts, and accessories as another vital step in cost reduction. The resolution was presented by E. C. Paterson of Chicago.

NOTES OF THE AUTO SHOW

A. C. Hoof, president of the John C. Hoof company, made one of the most interesting demonstrations seen at the show yesterday in explaining the use of the fabric timing gear. He pointed out that few people know there is such a thing as a fabric gear made of ordinary canvas compressed and hardened enough to stand up between steel gears, but showed that since their invention in 1911 the fabric gears have been both practical and serviceable.

E. A. Williams Jr. has tendered his resignation as president of the Garford Motor Truck company. It was announced yesterday, following the biggest productive year in the company's history. He has not announced his plans.

BRITISH SIGN UP WITH GERMANS FOR WORLD DYES

End Competition in Many Lands.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
(Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Feb. 1.—The British dye trust and the German aniline trust, after two years of negotiations, have signed an accord which ends their disastrous competition in Asia and guarantees cooperation in Europe.

The German trust organized a heavily financed marketing and distributing company, which conquered the world for the six great companies: the Badische Anilin works; the Bayer company; the Cassella company, the Agfaf company; the Berlin company; the Kalle company, and Lucius & Bruning.

The British trust was called the British Dye company, which has been subsidized by the government since the blockade of Germany cut off all dyestuffs. The British Dye company was controlled by the government through the board of trade.

Outline of Trust.

The general lines of the accord, which is considered of great importance, both politically and industrially, follow:

1. The British Dye company is guaranteed a monopoly of the British market.

2. The German dye trust agrees to give the British a certain percentage of their colonial markets and such dyes as can be exported into the United States and South America.

3. The German dye trust will supply the British trust with information and with a personnel to utilize this information.

The accord was signed in London between Jan. 20 and 23, according to the best information that American and French agents are able to obtain.

Tariff Saves U. S.

Although of the highest importance from the point of view of the field in Asia and Europe, the United States dye industry is not affected fundamentally, as the high protective tariff and government encouragement have developed our dye industry from nothing in 1914 to 96 per cent of our total consumption in 1923.

The secrets of the German industry, however, are extremely valuable. It is asserted by a French expert that many shades of pale green, yellowish green, and other synthetic colors remain absolutely exclusive to the Bayer company of Germany and the Badische Anilin company, despite the efforts of the whole world to discover the secrets after the war stopped the supply of German dyes.

G. O. P. REBELS IN HOUSE TO FIGHT FOR 44% SURTAX

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—Displeased by the action of Republican members of the house ways and means committee in approving the Mellon surtax rates, certain Republicans favoring higher rates predicted today that the Democratic maximum surtax rate of 44 per cent will be approved as an amendment on the floor of the house.

It developed today that prior to Thursday's action the Republican committeemen were assured that if the surtax maximum were fixed at 40 per cent and if normal tax rates were cut in two instead of being reduced by one-fourth as provided in the Mellon plan, insurgent Republicans would support the bill.

Frear's Advice Disregarded.

These assurances were given by Representative Frear [Rep., Wis.], representative of this group on the committee, who has opposed any reduction in surtax rates whatever. Opposition from the administration to any surtax compromise caused the rejection of the proposal, although Representative Green [Rep., Ia.], chairman of the committee, is understood to have favored it.

Members of the agricultural group among house Republicans also had been consulted about the 40 per cent compromise proposal and had approved it.

If the compromise had gone through there seemed reasonable assurance that the Republicans could have passed their own bill, gaining such little comfort as might have come from a 40 per cent rate as against a 44 per cent rate.

Bill's Death Is Forecast.

"Of course, every member of the committee and of the house understands that the committee rates so reported will be snowed under when the bill reaches the house, notwithstanding the deluge of misleading propaganda in its favor, financed by expected beneficiaries," Frear said today.

"As a political proposition, the Mellon bill is destined to be a Teapot tax that will rival its namesake before it gets through congress. Secretary Mellon has well said that the tax bill should be a nonpartisan proposal, so no one feels bound by the action of the majority of the committee.

"Leading Republicans declare the bill as reported is political suicide, but I do not share that belief, because the bill when finally passed by congress will have little resemblance in rates to those recommended by the eleven members of the committee."

Farm Bloc Chief "Disgusted."

Representative Dickinson [Rep., Ia.], leader of the house farm bloc, who led the fight for a 50 per cent maximum surtax rate in 1921 but has favored a moderate reduction this year, was "disgusted" over the committee's action. He favors a maximum surtax rate of either 37 or 40 per cent.

CANADA SENDS 'LAKES TO OCEAN' NOTE TO HUGHES

Washington D. C., Feb. 1.—A communication from the Ottawa government, understood to be in relation to the project proposed to connect the great lakes and the St. Lawrence river, has been received by the Washington government.

State department officials declined to comment on the communication pending arrangements initiated by them to have the Ottawa authorities agree to its simultaneous publication.

The question of opening the St. Lawrence by means of a canal so that ocean going commerce might be carried on direct with great lakes ports, both Canadian and American, was placed before the Canadian authorities informally more than a year ago.

The Canadian authorities replied that they were unprepared to enter into discussions regarding such a project. Since then the matter has not been pressed by either the dominion or Washington authorities.

OLD FORD SHOALS OFFER ACCEPTED BY COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1. — The house military committee today voted to report out Henry Ford's offer of two years ago for Muscle Shoals as embodied in the McKenzie bill and the Madden amendment, providing for duplication of the Gorgas plant sold to the Alabama Power company.

The committee defeated an amendment which would have made Ford personally responsible for full performance of every phase of the contract.

The committee also reconsidered and threw out an amendment considered yesterday to put the Detroit manufacturer's offer under the federal water-power act and to limit his lease to fifty years.

The committee decided that Mr. Ford be required to pay 4 per cent interest on all money which had been expended from the time of his original offer.

Three other offers for Muscle Shoals were voted down.

The Fourth Norwood

Blue Ribbon Fiction

By ROBERT E. PINKERTON.

SYNOPSIS.

Young Rod Norwood, setting a mink trap on the banks of the Drowning river near his home at Lake Deception, in the Hudson Bay territory, sees Aaron Cron, a rival trader of his father's, coming into the district. Cron is known to the district as The Spider, not only because of the terror he has inspired in most of the inhabitants, but also because of his helpless condition. Rod is frightened, and after the man has disappeared he hurries toward home and breaks the news to his little sister, Beth. Their father, Tom Norwood, is away to dispel the children's fear of the cripple. He explains to Rod that Cron lost his legs years before on an expedition into the wilderness to buy fur. When his legs became frozen, he heroically helped to amputate them.

For three generations fur land had known a Norwood. Tom's grandfather, Hector Norwood, accompanied Mackenzie on his remarkable expedition to the Arctic sea. His son Roderick (Tom's father) was born and raised in fur land. Tom and his father became successful fur traders when Canada became a free trade ground. The Spider had come into Tom's territory once before, but in the struggle between them Tom was victorious and The Spider disappeared. Now, with him back, Tom is gripped by the desire for battle, and decides to make a friendly call; but Cron is not amiable and declares he is there to get Tom at his own game.

After attending school for six years in New York, Rod tells his father he would like to live there and devote himself to a career as a writer. Tom is bitterly disappointed, as he has just bought a new post for his son. The following spring Rod, in New York, receives word of his father's death. Rod and Beth leave for Lake Deception. The boy learns the business is nearly bankrupt. Beth goes back to school at Toronto and Rod makes up his mind to stay and fight Cron. A half-breed employé of the Norwood post tells Rod his father's death was not accidental and intimates that Cron knows how it occurred.

Both returns unexpectedly. On the train she meets Prof. Ransom and his daughter, Marian. The professor has come into the bush to make a study of the paran Indians. The Ransoms meet Rod at Heathcote and inform him they have made arrangements to stay at Cron's house at Lake Deception. Rod is greatly attracted to Marian. The Ransoms leave Heathcote for Lake Deception with the Norwoods and their brigade. On the trip into the bush Rod and Marian realize they have fallen in love.

INSTALLMENT XXX.

MARIAN FACES A MYSTERY.

Her fascination tinged with terror, Marian watched this strange scene. She felt it had lasted for hours, these two standing there confronting each other, and then the legless man spoke.

"Bo' jou', Roddy. What's eatin' you?"

Rod's rage seemed to flare to incandescence. He took one swift step toward the motionless figure in his path, and then sprang to one side and rushed past the girl's hiding place, leaving behind him an aura of blinding passion.

When The Spider had disappeared Marian emerged from the brush and started slowly down the ridge. At last a portage had led to mystery, to the brutal, primal drama of a raw land, and yet she found herself recoiling from it, shuddering before such unmasked savagery. In that moment her attitude toward Rod remained unchanged. There had been a strange, bitter sweet thrill in seeing his soul stripped and unshackled, but there was still a sympathy for the legless man, a touch of admiration for one who evidently had conquered not only the north, but had done so despite an appalling handicap.

When she reached the end of the portage she saw the canoes being loaded at the bank of a small, marsh bordered river. Rod was out there, directing the work, his back toward her. As Marian waited to let some of the Indians pass on the poles that bridged the ooze, she heard Beth call her name, and turned to see the girl and her father hovering over a smudge on higher ground at the edge of the spruce.

"Better come over here," Beth said. "It will be half an hour before we start, and the mosquitoes are bad."

"Well," she continued as she fanned the smoke about Marian with lazy sweeps of her hat, "what did you think of your future host?"

"Host!" Marian repeated, blankly.

"Yes. Aaron Cron, though you won't hear him called that often in the bush. The Indians named him Ehe-bik long ago."

"You don't mean——?" Marian began.

"The man without legs," Beth laughed. "The Spider. Didn't you speak to him?"

"Why, no," Marian hesitated. "I saw him—how can you jest about such a thing? I felt so sorry for him I hid in the brush while he went by. But I never dreamed it was——"

"He'll like that," Beth said, mischievously. "You will be the first who has ever expressed any sympathy. The Spider has always been able to take care of himself."

Marian's thoughts flashed back to Rod's arrival in the dining room at Heathcote, and for the first time she caught the significance of his short replies to inquiries as to Cron's plans.

"Is he—Mr. Cron—does he operate a rival post at Lake Deception?" she asked.

"He has tried to for nearly twenty years," Beth answered. "Dad drove him out three times, but he always came back. Dad loved those battles, but I'm afraid—I guess The Spider won out, after all, in a way."

"You mean because he is still there?"

"Partly, but he really cost us more than dad dreamed. If it hadn't been for The Spider, Rod could have sold the post and would be back in New York now, doing the thing he ought to do."

"You said your father drove him out," Marian began. "You don't mean——"

"But Rod——"

"O, Rod doesn't, of course. He says he got most of the fur this year. I wonder if The Spider is coming back."

"He doesn't seem to be greatly handicapped by his lack of legs," Prof. Ransom said.

"I am a scientist," he answered, simply. "I am interested in all things which are not commonplace, known to every one. This man, not only physically, but otherwise, is out of the ordinary. He gives one an impression of power of purpose. He seems to have a mind, or a will, that dwarfs his physical limitations, that makes one forget he is legless."

"He is stubborn," Beth conceded, "and I guess he has a will. That is why he is alive today. Most any other man would have died, but The Spider just decided he wouldn't."

"The professor's scientific interest will be aroused by that story," Beth laughed, "but it will give you the creeps, Marian."

Beth told the story, with all the trimmings of the Indian imagination, for she had never heard it from her father. She did not omit the cannibalistic tales of the Ojibwa hunters, nor their credulous conjectures as to the supernatural powers The Spider might possess because he was believed to have eaten his own legs.

"What a horrible, horrible story!" Marian exclaimed. "I don't see how you can even tell it."

"And now this man, he is trying to ruin Rod as he tried to ruin your father!"

"It amounts to it, in a way," Beth laughed, "but the fur trade has always been like that. It's always a fight, and the rules—well, they were made a long time ago and have never been changed. It's like love. All's fair, only there are never any hard feelings."

"You mean that men remain friends?" Marian asked.

"Of course. Dad didn't hate The Spider. I think he would have been disappointed if Cron hadn't kept coming back. He would call on The Spider, get out like an old friend, and drink with him. It sounds funny, but it's true. It's just the way the fur trade has always been."

"And Rod. He doesn't—how does he feel toward Mr. Cron?"

"Much the same, I imagine, as he would about a storm that tied him up on a big lake when he was in a hurry," Beth answered.

"But doesn't he—is there any reason——"

"What has Rod been telling you?" Beth demanded, quickly.

"Nothing. I just wondered. Rod has never said anything."

"O, Rod's upset because he couldn't sell the post, I suppose, and because I have to stay here. But he understands. He wouldn't hold that against The Spider."

Beth spoke with the assurance of one who understood the situation. There had been nothing in her words that would give the impression of anything except a business rivalry, and yet Marian had never seen such a hatred as had been focused from Rod's eyes, never had believed such passion possible.

She turned from the smudge and walked away. She felt her questions had been treacherous, a deliberate spying upon Rod, and yet a thought had come to her against which she struggled, but that persisted. It did not seem possible he could hate thus solely because a legitimate business conquest had come between his plans and had torn him from New York and the world he loved.

THE GUMPS—THE NEXT DAY

Stock Great Director Even with One Arm

Leads Orchestra Despite Injured Wrist.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A working basis for operations in the Chicago Symphony orchestra concerts was established yesterday afternoon by having Frederick Stock conduct the first and last numbers on the program, resigning the baton to his able assistant, Eric DeLamarter, for the middle composition, which was also the longest. Something of the sort will probably continue until Mr. Stock's injured arm recovers sufficiently to permit him to take full charge again.

In the meantime Mr. Stock is in a position to challenge the claim that John Philip Sousa used to make of being the best one armed conductor in the world. The one arm is the left, too. Certainly the Bach Concerto in G major never sounded any more mellow or flexible or enjoyable than it did yesterday, nor was there an accompaniment any more exact and forceful than the one for Carl Friedberg's piano solo.

When it came to Mr. DeLamarter's part of the performance, there was no trouble in the conducting. The trouble lay in the music, the ninth symphony from the pen of Anton Bruckner. It has been silent for eleven years, and it may as well go back on the shelves for eleven more. For it comes near to being the most uninteresting piece in the orchestra's whole repertoire, the "L'Africaine" and "Cleopatre" of symphonies. In actual time it consumed fifty-seven minutes, but it seemed as though it ran for hours and hours and hours. It has a scherzo movement with a fair degree of entertainment, a first and third that are boundless wastes, and one further merit, that its fourth movement was never written.

Mr. Friedberg, whose last visit here was in 1915, chose the Beethoven Concerto No. 5 for his return attraction. He is a wiry, resilient player, with unending energy and a snappy, highly rhythmic manner of delivery. Technically he was at times open to cavil; his scales were not entirely guiltless of smeariness. But the high spirit that he put into the venerable concerto carried it along with a dash that made it and him the popular hit of the afternoon.

SISTER MAY: I'm so sorry! Please send me your address and I'll write you a personal letter. It's always pretty wise to believe only 50 per cent (at the most) of the evil gossip you hear. For heaven's sake KEEP your illusions! They're all that make life worth living. And they're not always illusions at that.

New Superintendent of Schools Arrives Today

William McAndrew, new superintendent of schools of Chicago, will arrive in the city this morning. This was announced yesterday by Peter A. Mortenson, the retiring school head. Mr. McAndrew's first public appearance will be at a luncheon of the George Howland club, to be held at the Hamilton club at 1 o'clock today.

14th Annual Exhibit of Etchings Opened

The fourteenth annual exhibition of etchings under the auspices of the Chicago Society of Etchers opened yesterday in the print rooms of the Art institute. It is a larger show than any held hitherto. There are etchings to suit any fancy—portraits, birds, dogs, little children at play, ships at anchor and at sea, landscapes, bits of architecture, and etchings in color.

An innovation is the group of 112 miniature prints within the dimensions of three inches. Lee Sturges has a print etched within the circumference of a penny. There are three of these tiny etchings which are to hang in the Queen's doll-house in London.

The Logan prize awards were given to "La Rabonniere," by M. V. Achener; "Portrait," by Frank W. Benson; "Sleeping Child," by Lee Hankey; "Birches," by Alfred Hutty; "End of the Lake," by George Resler, and "Skipper," by Dwight C. Sturges.

Chicagoans Are Sailing for Europe Tomorrow

CLOSEUPS

In "Pied Piper Malone," featuring Thomas Meighan, there will be more children than were in "The Bachelor Daddy." While the picture was in the making the star was literally Pied Piper. He played games with the youngsters, gave presents to them, and even made speeches to them, ingenuously keeping them tuned up that their work might appear natural before the camera.

Charles Ray and Edwin August will be present at a reception given by Mrs. Letitia V. Barnum of the Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art, Feb. 7, to meet Miss Mary Shaw, exponent of Ibsen, who is at present in the city.

Charles Chaplin has begun work on his next production, a comedy based on the gold days' rush of Alaska. First time in a year the comedian has been in action before the camera.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for The Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question William Kepias, 1368 South Avers avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Should boxing be taught in our schools?

Where Asked.

The Answers.

Wayne Krause, 129 South Honoré street, clerk—I believe it should, from an athletic standpoint. I don't see any harm in it. I really enjoy seeing boxing myself, and to see a lot of school children boxing is a lot of fun for themselves and for the spectators.

Miss Florence Barton, 146 East Superior street, clerk—Yes, I should think so. It aids the physical development of the boys, but of course it wouldn't help the girls out any. I have always been anxious to see a prize fight where they were up and at it. I am always interested in fight stories.

Fred A. Kucaba, 1236 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, police officer—I believe in it. It clears the mind, quickens the eye. It's a great thing for any man in self-defense, and goodness knows they need it often enough nowadays. My own early boxing training has been valuable.

Mrs. Fay Carl, 6545 Kenwood avenue, doctor's assistant—Not only boxing. They need all kinds of exercise in school—girls as well as boys. They should never slight the physical training of girls; they need it fully as much as boys. Their health is just as important.

Joe Smith, 746 Belden avenue, clerk—Yes, sir. It is good exercise and it helps keep kids' minds on their studies and off of mischief. There isn't any disadvantage that you can bring up against boxing among children that will offset the advantages of it.

Millions Are Spent by Germans on Gay Night Life Luxuries

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—While the American public is subscribing millions of dollars to feed the German children, one amusement place in Berlin last night took in more than 400,000 gold marks ($100,000) on wine and food and nearly 200,000 gold marks ($50,000) on admittances.

This was the Sport Palast, where a six day bicycle race is being held before 15,000 spectators.

This is a good barometer of the way Germans today are spending their money. They have lost all sense of values. Twelve speculators in front of the Palast asked 400 marks ($100) for a pair of seats nominally costing from 8 ($2) to 25 marks ($6.25). They made several sales at this figure before they were arrested.

The prices of the Berlin theaters are on a similar scale. For "Fraavsuta," the new Lehar opera, prices range from 12 ($3) to 36 gold marks ($9)—prices exceeding those charged by the world's greatest operas.

The wine restaurants are asking as high as 80 gold marks ($20) for choice wines, and they are selling quantities.

Moscow Players Again; News of the Theaters

Having announced, proforma, that the high cost of travel made it out of the question again to bring the Moscow Art Players to Chicago, Morris Gest now states that they will return in April to the Great Northern.

"Peacocks" will be housed in the Cort after Mr. Ditrichstein leaves; the date is in question.

Also, the date for the coming of "Little Jessie James" to the Garrick. Mr. Garrity says, will be determined by the popular reaction to "Caroline."

And Mr. Garrity adds that the booking of "Red-Light Annie" in the Princess is confirmed, and that the play will follow "The Old Soak" on the 17th.

There is no confirmation for gossip that Miss Ulric will be followed in Powers' by Miss Frances Starr in a new play by George Middleton, the dramatist who closed Miss Marjorie Rambeau in a night.

"We Moderns" is to be the attraction in Cohan's Grand for at least another fortnight. Mr. Ridings says attendance is on the increase since the abatement of zero weather.

As to Miss Jane Cowl, her managers have obtained a New-York theater for her Cleopatra, so that her Chicago visit, recently indicated as of the near future, is again put off.

Former Chicago Opera Star Deprived of Jewels

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 1.—[Tribune Radio.]—Mme. Maria Kousnezoff, one time soprano in the Chicago Opera, and now a member of the Paris Grand Opera, has no right to her 500,000 franc ($25,000) diamond necklace until she pays Herbert Deutz, American importer, for loans advanced on it, the Paris courts ruled today.

Mr. Deutz said he got the soprano's jewels out of a municipal pawnshop by paying the interest due on them. Mme. Kousnezoff said she never saw Mr. Deutz until one day he notified her that the diamonds would be sold unless she paid all the sums due on them.

The former star of the Auditorium is still beautiful, but in severe financial straits, due to the fact that she has been unable on account of illness to sing for the last year. She sank all her Chicago and Paris earnings in an ill fated Russian troupe for a tour of America.

Sunburn Stockings Rage in Jazzy Old Paris Now

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 1.—Sunburn stockings will be introduced in France in the summer and manufacturers here are making up large stocks to meet the expected demand. The hose will be the exact color of cuticle bronzed by the sunshine, will be of gossamer fabric, and will cost 150 francs [roughly $7.50] a pair. The makers admit that they will scarcely outlast one evening of strenuous dancing.

Reception Monday for Salvation Army Secretary

Col. Alexander Damon, newly appointed chief secretary of the Salvation Army, who arrived in the city yesterday, will be given a reception on Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Salvation Army citadel, 1512 West Madison street. The reception will be conducted by Commissioner William Peart, with the headquarters and divisional staffs and the territorial staff band participating.

Opportunity Is at Your Door—With $25,000!

Name the New Magazine and Fortune Smiles.

Full directions will be contained in tomorrow's issue of this new appear in a page advertisement. But in the meantime you'd better skim through this following preliminary information:

The publishers of THE TRIBUNE and The New York Daily News are giving away $25,000 in three big cash prizes—$20,000, $4,000, and $1,000—to the persons who suggest the best names for their new national weekly magazine, which will be published early in the spring.

All you have to do is to submit a name that you think would be suitable for a magazine that will contain fiction, photos, fun, fashions, beauty, health, and many special articles—something to interest everybody. With the name you must submit a slogan and tell briefly—in not to exceed 100 words—why you think your suggestion is best.

The magazine will consist of sixty-four pages, printed on high grade paper. It will be sold on newsstands (independent of either THE TRIBUNE or The News) for 5 cents.

WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE THIS GREAT NEW WEEKLY MAGAZINE CALLED?

Surely you have some good names tucked away in your cranium! Call them out! Jot them down! Get your brains working!

Read the rules which will be printed in tomorrow's issue of this newspaper. They will tell you exactly what to do. The rules are simple. It does not cost you anything to try. Try every day, if you wish! Try several times a day! You may submit as many names as you want. You may submit the same name more than once with a different slogan and a different reason.

"THE CONSORT"—A Good Associate.

"THE OBSERVER AND SCOPE"—A Family Picture and Story Magazine.

"WEEKLY CALLER"—Always Welcome.

"HI LO"—High Class—Low Cost.

"HOBBY"—Most Everybody Has One.

"THATSIT"—The Latest Thing First.

"IRIS"—The World's News in Colors.

"TODAY, TOMORROW, AND YESTERDAY"—All Human Knowledge Herein.

"NEWS AND VIEWS"—The Most Versatile Magazine in America.

"COLORVUE"—An Illustrated Weekly, Everything New.

The contest is of national interest. It is open to every one. Every one is talking of it. It does not cost you anything to try. It does not matter where you live. It does not matter whether you are a man or a woman—an adult or a child. Everybody has the same chance!

This Mite Proves Herself a Favorite of Fashion

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—This year no one is distributing propaganda for bertha control. The bertha defies interference, and drops itself across the shoulders of the morning and afternoon frock as it sees fit. It is worn by young and old, and appears in every sort of material which lends itself to delicate effects—to frilling, plaiting, and lace edges. Often it is seen in self material with an almost tailored effect.

The precocious individual appearing today uses a bertha deep enough to resemble a cape, and thus combines two dominent style notes to prove herself a favorite of fashion. The dress is made of pink dotted swiss decorated in front with panels of tiny plaits strewn across with appliques of organdy flowers. The collar is of white net, likewise adorned with organdy appliques.

Panels have lost nothing of importance in the newest imported models. One such frock on view here of beige tone used a circular panel over a tube skirt, and split it in front to show an insert of bright red. Occasionally one sees a free panel, but more frequently are such panels as can be produced by groups of plaits, by front and back inserts of checked material in a frock of solid color and by such arrangements of embroideries or lace as to produce a novel effect.

HAROLD TEEN—HAROLD KINDLY FURNISHED THE MUSIC

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

CHAPPING: SKIN CHAPS IN THE dry air and winds of fall and winter because of the deficiency of oil in the skin. This is remedied by greasing the skin well at least once a day with a good cold cream. You must make up the deficiency of that which the skin fails to supply. Forego the use of soap and water for awhile. At any rate, use it only at night before retiring, and afterwards massage cream into the face. Too frequent washing of hands and face is the commonest cause of chapping. Before you go out rub cream lightly into the skin, and dust over with a good powder.

FRANCES: THOSE SMALL WHITE masses you call "white blackheads" often appear on the upper part of the cheeks around the eyes. They are small collections of sebaceous matter caught under the horny epidermis. They differ from the blackhead in that they are protected from the surface dirt. They are easier to get rid of than blackheads, and do not recur so persistently. Prick the cover with a sterilized needle, and press out the contents—just a few at a time.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

Clothes in Proportion.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The man who is built upon large dimensions must wear large clothes. This does not mean only that he will watch the advertisements for suits and overcoats that are made especially with the large man in view, and seek out these extra roomy garments where they are sold. But it means he must have all of the accessories of his wardrobe in proportion to his figure.

We have already suggested that the large man who has a big head must not wear a narrow brimmed hat that was intended for a slim chap of about five feet four. He needs a hat that will give him a well balanced appearance, as in the illustration. Nor is this all. The collar, the tie, the muffler and even the handkerchief that sticks out of his pocket must be big. And this bigness includes design as well as the actual amount of material used in the garment.

By this we mean that a heavily built man should not wear a shirt with a tiny pattern, nor a tie with the smallest size polka dot, nor a muffler of small checked or striped design, nor one of the sheer voile handkerchiefs that some men are affecting these days as a pocket decoration. But the large man should make sure that the checks and stripes and other patterns that he uses in his clothes are of generous size and of solid material. In this way he will look like a well set up man who knows how to dress well, and not as though he had overgrown his wardrobe overnight.

Fashionotes.

This query from one of our readers "Should a tall person with long thin face wear hats or caps?" seemed to need a few words of discussion here. The answer, of course, as all who have their fashions can tell you, is that it makes no difference what kind of hat you have—a hat has one duty in the fashion world and a cap another, and one cannot be substituted for the other. Or, at least, a cap cannot be substituted for a hat. A cap is only proper for sport wear. A hat of some kind must be worn with business and formal clothes.

Tango, Long Favored on Continent, Taken Up by Society Here

The tango, which has been the popular dance in Paris and the other European cities for several years and which took New York by storm last winter, has hit Chicago and everywhere there is dancing one sees the graceful tango being attempted. The committee in charge of the St. Luke's charity ball given on Jan. 24 struck a popular note by having as a feature of the entertainment an exhibition of the ballroom tango by Miss Claudia Dana and Frederick Larkin, and now comes the announcement that, beginning today, there are to be complimentary tango teas for the members of the Opera club. There will be instructors to teach beginners and as soon as they learn the steps they will assist in teaching the others. A special tango orchestra from Argentina has been engaged to play alternate dances with the club's regular orchestra at the Wednesday and Saturday dinner dances.

Alfred H. Granger's talk yesterday morning on "Planning the Home from the Architect's Point of View" found attentive listeners in several of society's brides and young matrons, as well as some of the mothers of potential home builders. The lecture was the first of a series of six on "The Home" being given under the auspices of the board of managers of the School of Domestic Arts and Science at the north branch, 350 Belden avenue. Mr. Granger said the chief aim of an architect should be to express the traditions, hopes, and ideals of the family for whom he was designing a house. The residences of Edward T. Blair of 1516 Lake Shore drive, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Glessner of 1800 Prairie avenue, and the house formerly belonging to Mrs. Bryan Lathrop and now occupied by the Fortnightly, were mentioned as fine examples of architecture. Charles B. Pike's Lake Forest place was cited as a perfect example of Italian architecture. Among the women present were Mrs. Alfred H. Gross and her two daughters, Mrs. Benjamin M. Thomas and Miss Freda Gross; Mrs. Jessie C. Barnes and her daughter, Mrs. Morris R. Glaser; Mrs. John D. Hales, Mrs. Thomas G. Milsted, Mrs. Frank P. Graves, Mrs. Edward Hines, Mrs. Katherine Carroll, Mrs. Eldridge G. Keith, Mrs. Ralph Clarkson, Mrs. Thomas McNulty, and Mrs. Lynden Evans, who introduced the speaker.

Several recent brides and engaged girls are to compete in a students' exhibition and contest to be held by the School of Domestic Arts and Science from 3 to 8 o'clock at the central branch, 6 North Michigan avenue, next Thursday. Among the contestants will be Mrs. Arthur Meyer (Hester Sheldon), who was married on Dec. 27; Miss Virginia Trude who is to become the bride of Chancellor Dougal next fall, and Miss Beatrice Harvey, who is engaged to be married to Charles G. Le Forge. There will be prizes for the best loaf of bread, a lingerie dress and a slip-on apron.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter and their daughter, Miss Alice Carpenter, of 1130 Lake Shore drive, are giving a dinner party tonight at the Casino.

Miss Genevieve Carpenter has invited about twenty-five young people to a dinner dance tonight at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter of 710 Rush street, for her guest, Miss Sheila Burden of New York. The guests have been asked to wear fancy dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bissell of 50 East Schiller street are giving a musical tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Cliff Dwellers, with Guy Maier and Lee Patterson, pianists, as the artists.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Irvin of 220 East Walton place, formerly of Ottawa, Ont., are departing today for Ottawa to attend the wedding on Feb. 11 of Miss Lois Booth of that city and Prince Eric Frederick Christian Alexander of Denmark. Miss Virginia Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Taylor of the Lake Shore Drive hotel, will depart on Feb. 9 for Ottawa for the wedding. She will visit her sister, Mrs. Fred Booth, whose husband is a brother of the bride-to-be. Mrs. Taylor, who is in Boston, will sail on Feb. 23 for a two months' trip to South America.

Mrs. J. Russell Forgan of 230 East Delaware place and her baby daughter arrived in Chicago from St. Louis early this week.

Mrs. Daniel Peterkin and Miss Jeanette Peterkin of 199 Lake Shore drive have gone to Coronado, Cal., for the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. Julian A. Soames (Marion Scott) of Wrexham, North Wales, is expected to arrive on Monday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamline Scott of the Ambassador. Mrs. Soames, who has been visiting friends in the east, will be in Chicago until the middle of March.

Mrs. Bryan Lathrop of the Lake Shore Drive hotel will depart soon for Europe to be gone for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Taylor of 10 East Schiller street will leave Chicago about Feb. 18 and will sail on Feb. 23 for a cruise of the Mediterranean.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Swigart of the Ambassador have gone to Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell of the Drake, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Loring R. Hoover, in New York for several days, have gone to Palm Beach, where they will be during February.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Brown of 5433 East View park and Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Fulton of 6359 Stewart avenue have departed for Palm Beach, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hayes of 6007 Sheridan road on their yacht Charmae.

BRIDE TODAY

Miss Ellen Elizabeth Boaler.
[Eugene Hutchinson Photo.]

The wedding of Miss Ellen Elizabeth Boaler, daughter of Mrs. Edwin Boaler of 937 Ontario street, Oak Park, and Duncan MacMillan Rowles, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Rowles of La Crosse, Wis., will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother in the presence of the families and close friends. The Rev. William E. Barton of Oak Park will officiate. Miss Florence Cadwallader of La Grange will be the bride's only attendant, and Dulaney Logan of Louisville, Ky., will be Mr. Rowles' best man. The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Richard A. Boaler. After a wedding trip to Tryon, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. Rowles will reside in Oak Park.

Miss Lauretta Bosch Becomes Bride Today

One of today's largest weddings will be that of Miss Lauretta Bosch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bosch of 4827 Ellis avenue, and Ben Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Watson of 6464 Cornell avenue, to take place at 8:30 o'clock this evening at St. Paul's Episcopal church. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the residence of the bride's parents. Mrs. J. Ogden Wells of St. Joseph, Mich., an aunt of Miss Bosch's, will be her matron of honor, and her other attendants will be Miss Lillian Cretors, maid of honor; Miss Isabel Prince, Miss Louise Bradley, Miss Helen Rush, and Miss Frances Cahill, bridesmaids, and the Benedict twins, Dorothy and Jack, flower girl and ring bearer. Edgar Watson, the bridegroom's father, will be best man, and ushering will be John Pest, a cousin of the bridegroom; Franklyn Brigham, Frederick Rosenbach, Nelson Wickes, James Cook, and Edward Griffin.

After a honeymoon at Palm Beach and Miami, Mr. Watson and his bride will be at home, after April 1, at 2334 East 68th street.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Esoteric alumnae of the University of Chicago will hold a bridge and mah jongg party at the Phi Psi house this afternoon. Mrs. Helen Adam Selfridge is in charge of arrangements. Proceeds will go to the Esoteric scholarship fund, to provide tuition each year for some needy girl.

The lecture to have been given this morning at 12:15 o'clock by Fortunat Strowski and the reception to have been given this afternoon at the Alliance Francaise have been postponed because of the serious illness of Mr. Strowski.

The Lazy Daisy club will give a bunco party this afternoon at K. of P. hall. Miss Dorothy Theiss is in charge of the arrangements.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Furniture to Give.

"We are breaking up our home and going to a smaller place. Consequently we have many pieces of furniture to offer. There is an old fashioned square piano, dining room chairs, other chairs, several double iron beds, and dressers to offer. Many are old and would need reupholstering, but they are good. Please have them called for soon. "J. R."

Offers an Encyclopedia.

"We have an Encyclopedia Britannica, about fifteen years old, to offer to some one who desires it and would call for it. O. W."

We are grateful to you for this generous donation. To the first applicant it shall be given. Please make a written request.

Too Heavy to Carry.

"I hope to receive a stroller through your column for my 7 months' old baby. I would like to take her outdoors, but she is too heavy to carry. I cannot afford to buy, as my husband has been working only two or three days a week and I have four small children to feed and clothe. Mrs. F."

Cheap Love Scenes of Movies Held Menace to Marital Happiness

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"The greatest determining factor that comes into a girl's life undoubtedly is love, low or high as it may chance to be," says Mrs. Margaret Eggleston, who has had twenty years of work with and for adolescent girls.

"One is almost staggered by what is seen when one looks into the love making of our young people. The movie, with its false ideas and its thrilling pictures of scenes of love, creates an unwholesome atmosphere. Our younger girls watch these pictures and the desire for love is created in their minds while they should still be playing with dolls and before reason and self-control can be developed. Our social life takes them more and more out in company with boys to spend the late hours of the night. Some of our best high schools plan dances for girls of 15 which are held at hotels—full dress affairs—and then expect the girls to keep their minds on lessons for the weeks preceding. Automobiles have been a determining factor in hasty and careless love making during recent years. Every way one turns there are things which make the thoughtful mother ask God to give her wisdom and help."

To help the girl to build a clean love life Mrs. Eggleston pleads with mothers to provide her with ideals, character habits, and a religious anchor in adolescence. Without this moral equipment it is extremely hard for a girl to weather the temptations of life later on.

She must be provided not only a standard of conduct for herself but she should be taught to demand superior qualities in her boy friends. The mother must help her to choose her boy companions from the first.

Don't wait until the girl is in love with the boy. It is too late then to teach her the requirements of a real man. A girl in love will overlook things that will ruin her own life and that of her children.

A great percentage of these young girls will marry young. Marriage will be their career. Why not train them early for it? What to expect and what is expected of them. Of all the occupations open to young women there is perhaps less real, honest, worthwhile principles of training given to this, the greatest of them all.

Our girls need ideals of love and of home. They see so much cheap love all about them. They need to be taught that it means sacrifice, thoughtfulness, unselfishness. They need to be taught that love is not to be judged by the money expended nor the gifts received. That it is not to be confounded with caresses and precocious desire to be alone together always. That moral laxity in conduct has nothing to do with the happiness of the future, and everything to do with unhappiness.

It is a fact that marriages resulting from college and school romances where the young couple have known each other for a period of time turn out more happily than the hasty culmination of dance hall meetings and associations.

Good times in a group rather than good times alone are usually safer and more to be encouraged for the girl and her boy friends.

Girls can raise the standards of the boys and of generations to come if only they will insist on good habits and high ideals in adolescent friendships.

Teach the girl, Mrs. Eggleston pleads with parents, to ask of the boy the qualities that are needed in a father, in a husband, and, therefore, in a friend. Is he honest? Is he kind to his mother? Is he truthful? Is he studious? Is he thrifty? Has he a vital faith in God? What are his habits and tendencies in relation to the future?

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

This Is Often Effective.

"Dear Miss Blake: A young friend of mine loved me, she said, dearly, but now she gives me the cold shoulder. I love her. I don't think there is any other man in the case. Please advise me. H. B."

That is rather hard lines, son, but with all the nice girls left in the world I fancy you might find one more receptive to your mood, don't you? I think I would try to find her, anyway, just by way of determining if the cold one really means what her shoulder says. She might get a little jealous if she saw you stepping out with some other girl and that might serve to melt her heart—who knows?

It Looks Suspicious.

"Dear Miss Blake: From force of necessity I had to give the girl I love a lot of cold looks. This was action forced upon me. I am still in love with her but she, of course, doubts, although I think she still loves me. She thinks I wish to get away from her and go to another. Please tell me what to do, Miss Blake, to convince her. Jenks."

Just what the force of necessity responsible for the cold looks? Some other girl whom you were trying to "string along" at the same time? Looks darkly suspicious to me, Jenks.

GOOP DIALOGUES

A Daily Lesson in Manners for Children

BY GELETT BURGESS

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THREE IS A CROWD

There are some times when we go out
We do not wish a child about.
Also, at home 'tis quite unpleasant,
At times, to have the children present.
But why should you feel hurt or slighted?
Are you a Goop, when not invited?

NOTE—If you know any Goop faults you want corrected, drop a note to Mr. Gelett Burgess, care of this paper, and perhaps he will draw a picture and write a verse about it.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Table Sirups.

Probably the pancake sirup that will suit the largest number is one that will stay on top of a griddle cake and not run off or soak in. But the French, I should say from what I have seen, want a sirup or seasoning for their pancakes (crêpes) that will soak in. Indeed, they reheat the pancakes in such.

Two cups of sugar, dissolved carefully in one-half cup of water and then cooked to the desired stage or to about 220 degrees on a candy thermometer, make an agreeable and inexpensive sirup for either pancakes or waffles, and the latter in particular is often sprinkled with cinnamon before the sirup is added.

Brown sugar makes a still more agreeable sirup, cooked in the same way, and a caramelized sugar one yet more palatable—a butterscotch sirup. I make this quite simply by dissolving caramelized sugar in a bit of water, but those who wish to make one more like maple proceed as follows: Melt one cup of sugar without any water in a frying pan, stirring constantly. Add a pint of boiling water and a cup and a half of sugar, and cook until the browned sugar is all dissolved.

Some of the commercial table sirups are no more than this, cost much more, and are not as fresh tasting. In fact, these commercial sirups may be decidedly stale, in which case they may be heated up, a little butter added, and even some flavoring. Vanilla is a flavoring which, if used in a tiny quantity in a sirup, will improve it, and there are many ways of varying our inexpensive home made sirups for which there are so many uses.

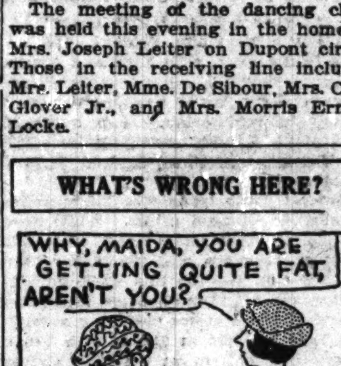

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—[Special.]—The Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes were the guests at dinner tonight of the Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William Phillips at Beauvoir.

The Congressional club gave a reception this afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock in compliment to the diplomats of Latin-American countries. Mrs. Robert Lansing gave a greeting in Spanish and a section of the Marine band played. Mrs. James Byrnes received, assisted among others by Mrs. William J. Harris, Mrs. Carter Glass, Mrs. Porter H. Dale, Mrs. William H. King, Mrs. Edward W. Pou, Mrs. Samuel E. Winslow, Mrs. Edward T. Taylor, Mrs. Finis J. Garrett, Mrs. James H. Hines, Mrs. Guy Hardy, Mrs. A. J. Gronna, Mrs. Thomas P. Gore, Mrs. Pat Harrison, and Mrs. Louis Frothingham.

The meeting of the dancing class was held this evening in the home of Mrs. Joseph Leiter on Dupont circle. Those in the receiving line included Mrs. Leiter, Mme. De Sibour, Mrs. C. C. Glover Jr., and Mrs. Morris Ernest Locke.

Let Kellogg's Bran free your children from that dangerous disease—constipation

Children are subject to constipation. In the excitement of play, they neglect themselves and foster this dread disease. More than forty other diseases can be traced to constipation. Don't delay. Begin at once to cleanse their systems of the dangerous poisons.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps the intestine clean—and purifies it. It drives out the poisons which undermine your children's health. It makes the bowels function regularly and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring results if eaten regularly, or your grocer will return your money. It is guaranteed because it is ALL bran! Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors everywhere—they know from experience that it brings results.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. They will like its wonderful, nut-like flavor—so different from common brans which are most unpalatable.

As a cereal, with milk or cream, they will enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in delicious muffins, bread, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

But start them eating Kellogg's Bran today. Start every member of your family eating it. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is made in Battle Creek and is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Ask for it at your restaurant. It is sold by all grocers.

PROFIT TAKING AT FINISH CUTS GRAIN ADVANCES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Highest prices of the season were made for July and September wheat, May corn, and May and July oats as the result of a further broadening in speculative interest in grains. May wheat sold up to $1.12⅛, the highest figure since the first week in November. Heavy profit taking developed on the bulge and the finish was on a reaction with wheat ¼@⅜c and corn ⅜@⅝c higher, while oats were ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher and rye unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Liverpool wheat, while ⅝@⅞d lower, was actually fractionally higher on account of the difference in exchange. The bulk of the new buying is going into the deferred deliveries, which are receiving increased attention on account of the lack of snow protection. May finished at $1.11¼@1.11⅜ and July at $1.10½@1.10⅝. Export sales for the day were 600,000 to 700,000 bu, mainly Manitobas.

Big Trade in Corn.

Commission house interest in corn has increased and despite heavy and persistent selling by longs May and July advanced to 81c. There were reports that a leading local professional had taken the buying side for a bull campaign and with mild weather checking the movement in the interior through the breaking up of country roads there was a more general bullish sentiment in evidence. Individual operations counted for little. Country advices of shipments show a decided falling off which will be reflected in a smaller primary run in the immediate future.

Cash corn met with a fair demand with dry grain selling at relatively firmer prices as compared with May. May closed at 80⅝c and July 80⅝@80¾c.

Backspreading between Chicago and Winnipeg oats, due to the former market having advanced faster than Winnipeg, was instrumental in lifting values sharply, with May up to 49⅝c, and the close at 49⅜c. July was up to 47⅝c on buying by houses with northwestern connections.

Lard Has Fair Rally.

Smaller packers and commission houses sold lard early, but on the decline there was buying by eastern houses. A rally followed, and at the last prices were unchanged to 7½c lower. Ribs were 12½@17½c higher and bellies unchanged. Prices follow:

National Cloak and Suit Reports Its Best Year

Last year was the most prosperous in the history of the National Cloak and Suit company. Net sales amounted to $52,399,782, embracing 9,140,076 orders. Sales increased $7,042,216 over 1922. Net profits, after all deductions, were $2,160,845, equivalent after preferred dividends to about $14 a share on the common stock. Profits showed a gain of $370,222 over 1922. Surplus now stands at $4,012,175. Current assets at the end of 1923 were $10,386,189, while current liabilities were $3,076,607.

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

[Copyright: 1924: Fairchild News Service.]

PARIS—Additional informal openings by couture houses include that of Lenief's, which exploits the casaque in various forms, richly embroidered, in day and evening costumes. Germaine sponsors three piece effect in sheer crêpes. Agnes collection retains the low waist line, with black satin featured for daytime wear. Eva Coure, a new house, shows the straight silhouette.

NEW YORK.—Opinions vary as to effect of American Woolen company opening price. Piece goods men are disappointed at low rates, as are yarn and raw wool men. Clothing manufacturers say low prices were quoted only on staple goods actually on hands and that required goods will show increases.

LONDON.—American clothing men here express satisfaction at American Woolen company's fall prices, asserting big volume of business will accrue, especially as British houses are advancing piece goods prices owing to wool cost.

NEW YORK.—Calcutta cables intimate there was no change in the Indian burlap markets, quietness continuing to prevail. In the local market trading was again dull, factors being deterred from buying by the strength of the sterling exchange rate. Adequate supplies are said to be available, hence the reluctance to pay the actual price increases imposed after the exchange advances.

NEW YORK.—There was more activity in the local gray goods market than any day since Monday week. Inquiry was general in the forenoon and a fair amount of trading was done. Prices in consequence were firmer, tending upward in the case of some numbers. In the 64x60, 5.35 yards to the pound, sales were consummated at 10 cents. In the 68x72, 4.75 yards to the pound, business was done on the basis of 11⅛ cents. The 72x76, 4.25 yards to the pound, and the 80x80, 4.00 yards to the pound, were quoted at 13 and 14⅝@15 cents respectively.

RECEIVER FOR OZARK COOPERAGE CO.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 1.—C. J. Hill of Kansas City has been named receiver for the Ozark Cooperage and Lumber company. The company is capitalized at $1,500,000. L. M. Preston, vice president, said the action was a friendly suit, brought by stockholders, with the idea of reorganizing the business.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of wheat at the seaboard of 600,000 to 700,000 bu were largely of Manitobas, but included a little amber durum. A mixed cargo of Manitoba winter storage wheat was reported sold to Montreal exporters at 7c over May for No. 1 northern, 4c over for No. 2 northern, and May price for No. 3 northern. England continues to take nearby shipment grain. There were reports of a small business in corn, but sales could not be confirmed, and a scarcity of nearby shipment checked business at the gulf.

Chicago handlers sold 25,000 bu wheat, 45,000 bu corn, 75,000 oats, and 5,000 bu barley.

Demand for cash wheat here was fair, with No. 2 red 2@4c over and No. 2 hard May price to 4c over. Receipts, 36 cars. Outside markets were unchanged to 2c higher, with Omaha leading the advance.

Dry corn was wanted by shippers here, and the basis was slightly better as compared with May, with No. 3 mixed 2@3c, yellow 1½@2½c, and white ½@1c under the future. Receipts, 337 cars. Outside markets were unchanged to 1c higher.

Offerings of cash oats were larger, but the demand fair, with No. 2 white May to ½c over and No. 3 white May to ½c under. Receipts, 116 cars.

HAY PRICES LOWERED

A readjustment of hay prices to a lower level was made yesterday and the different interests got their ideas of values into line. Choice hay sold well and the under grades while selling rather slowly, gave evidence of cleaning up. Arrivals of timothy were 41 cars; southwestern prairie, 4 cars; Illinois, 2 cars, and packing, 2 cars, rye straw, 2 cars. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

An increasing disposition to regard the grain markets as having more merit on the constructive side is noticeable. Sentiment is becoming more friendly and interest has increased. Higher prices are looked for, although setbacks are in order every few days, which is healthy and keeps the markets in better condition.

Leading commission houses are receiving more inquiries from security houses with a large speculative clientele asking about possibilities for investment in grains. It is the first time in a year or more they have shown the least interest in this line and created the impression that a bullish atmosphere exists.

Factors most prominent on the constructive side of the wheat market are the reduced acreage in winter with prospects of a smaller area being put into spring wheat this season owing to it being unprofitable to raise wheat at present values, and indications of damage to winter wheat by the recent extreme weather in the southwest and middle west. These, combined with constructive farm legislation and a belief that the United States has no surplus to export, are the basis for much of the buying and advance of late.

Good buying orders for wheat from large operators who are in California have come to Chicago the last few days. There were also large buying orders to spread between Chicago and Winnipeg. The latter market was 8⅛c under Chicago for May. Removal of hedges on 700,000 bu or more of wheat sold for export were also a factor in helping the advance. It absorbed the heavy profit taking sales at a surprising rate.

One local professional sold 500,000 bu long oats and replaced it with corn. He has been friendly to corn of late and, becoming impressed that there is to be no heavy movement after the middle of next week, decided to place all his strength in corn.

Western railroads report increased loadings of grain in the west and northwest the last few days and a tightening in the box car situation on western lines with loadings of 100 or more cars a day more than of late so the aggregate is larger than last year.

One of the largest and most aggressive local operators, after watching the corn market all day, said at the close that he regarded the market as waterlogged.

World's exports of wheat for the week are estimated at around 12,300,000 bu, compared with 16,547,000 bu the previous week. Of this week's total Argentina and Australia shipped 1,781,000 bu to non-European countries.

Little change featured yesterday's hog market, with prevailing prices 15@25c below opening day of January. Receipts at 47,000 were 7,000 below the number expected and nearly 10,000 below previous Friday. Quality was fairly good, with pigs and underweights plentiful. Shippers were best buyers early, while packers operated freely in midsession. Top butchers sold at $7.15, with average price same as Thursday at $7.00, against $7.10 a week ago.

General cattle trade was fairly active at slightly changed prices. While most grades of beef steers and desirable butcher stock are still 25c higher than a week ago, the top this week for full carloads at $11.25 is 50c below high point Tuesday. Best steers yesterday averaging 1,053 lbs sold at $11.00, with 750 lb steers and heifers at $10.50. Calves closed 50c lower yesterday. Feeding steers were slow and weak.

Sheep Receipts Decrease.

A decrease of about 25 per cent in sheep receipts this week partly offset the weakness caused by unsatisfactory dressed meat markets, which were reported unchanged yesterday. However, in spite of curtailed orders for lambs on hoof, the small supply sold largely on local account at steady to slightly higher prices, with top to city butchers at $14.40. Bulk sold at $13.50@14.25.

Market in the feeder division experienced the first sign of weakness in more than two weeks, and several large transactions reflected 10@15c decline. Best 70 lb averages were held at $13.50, while good grades moved slowly at $13.00@13.25. Aged killing sheep and yearlings were scarce and unchanged.

New Record in January.

Combined receipts of all kinds of live stock at Chicago stockyards in January totaled 2,043,897, establishing a new record and showing 342,662 increase over the opening month of 1923. Hogs alone totaled 1,273,587, or 54,211 more than in January, 1916, the previous banner month. Cattle totaled 295,521 and sheep 409,161 in January.

Average price of good beef steers last month at $9.45 stands highest for January since 1920 and $2.25 higher than two years ago. Hogs averaged $7.10, being lowest for January since 1915. Lambs averaged $13.35, with only one January higher since 1920.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for Monday are estimated from 63,000 to 80,000. W. H. Overman marked 63,000; A. G. Weltener, 65,000; G. M. Nicoll, 65,000; Charles Gross and O. Dwight, 70,000; W. S. Nicholson, 72,000; James Brown, 75,000; J. M. Waters, 76,000; F. W. Waddell, 77,000; G. M. Barker and George Chandler, 80,000.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 1,000 cattle, 3,000 hogs, and 4,000 sheep, against 408 cattle, 8,437 hogs, and 3,943 sheep the corresponding Saturday a year ago.

CANADA IN STAGE OF DEVELOPMENT TO FAVOR TARIFF

BY SCRUTATOR.

No one need be surprised if our continental colleagues in Canada begin hoisting their tariff rates at a lively clip in the next few years.

The historical stage is all set for it. Canada finds itself in virtually that overbuilt condition that we Americans experienced thirty-five years ago, from the Missouri to the coast.

It looks across the border and sees our wealth and population catching up with our overhead investments, and it deduces that if we used the tariff, it can use it, too.

Canada is not only going through a stage of industrial evolution that we are definitely leaving behind, but, in addition to that, has had to shoulder war and post-war burdens and troubles like our own, but far greater in proportion to wealth and population. Added to that is government ownership of half the rail mileage and extensive government development of hydro-electric power. Both of these enterprises have added greatly to governmental costs and piled up taxation, but the country may catch up with the investments in time. The railroad deficits are being lessened and while the Canadian experiment has certainly not helped the cause of government ownership anywhere, it is well to remember that there were peculiar conditions that put Canada into the business and that it had been previously necessary for it to foster the lines under private ownership, with no great success. As yet both the rail and electric ventures figure as factors of the general condition of too much overhead rather than as outstanding causes of distress.

Canada has a government machine now functioning which could care for 50,000,000 population, and a rail plant that would probably be ample to serve 25,000,000. The Ontario Hydro has been developed by huge expenditures, which appear to have gone far beyond the needs of the present population, and it seems that they do not know it yet, because the light bills of the small consumer, the most expensive to serve, have been kept low, while the charges to bulk consumers of power have been relatively high. The little fellow pays for that in the price of manufactured products, but it will probably take a long time for him to realize it.

Canada needs population just as we did, when we were at the same stage of development. Her manufacturers believe that we obtained population through building up industries and an active labor market by a protective tariff. That attracted immigration. Canada sees its own population pulled over the border into the United States, to share in that prosperity. It notes our increased customs receipts and reduced national debt, while its own has increased vastly since the war. It complains, as we do, of the growing army of government pay rollers, and probably sees its own swarm while not noting ours, probably notes our decreased federal burdens, and pays less attention to our increased internal taxation and officialism.

Canada is unwilling to get population by opening its doors to the cheap human material that it could probably get, even with its present spotty business condition and poor labor market. It has always noted and to some extent avoided our mistakes in that regard. But it does want more of the kind of people who would come into a high wage country—the same kind it is losing to us.

Added to all these incentives to "go thou and do likewise" is a great deal of dumping of British and German goods on the Canadian market, and the Canadians suspect that much stuff coming from British ports originated in Germany.

It may not be a difficult task to covert the Canadian farmer to higher tariff rates. Although we have heard much of Canada's advantages as a wheat grower, the Canadian farmer sells almost everything he grows to Canadian markets, except wheat, and it is stated that even including wheat, 80 per cent of the Canadian farmers' crops are sold to other Canadians. Show the Canadian farmer a way to get more Canadin customers and he will be very likely to favor it.

World Cotton Supply Put at 18,185,000 Bales

Washington, Feb. 1.—The world supply of cotton Nov. 30 last was estimated today by the department of commerce at 18,185,000 bales. The department's estimates of world cotton consumption during the four months ending Nov. 30 was 6,310,000 bales. World stocks July 31, 1923, were given as 6,341,000 bales. Production for commercial use in the 1923-'24 season was estimated at 18,075,000 bales. The total consumption of American cotton during the four months amounted to 3,710,000 bales. Of the supply on hand Nov. 30, 9,415,000 bales were American cotton.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Prices displayed a firm undertone in yesterday's active stock market, despite considerable bear selling and profit taking. Establishment of a new high record for all time by American Can at 122⅝ and a further rise in U. S. Steel common to 107¼, the highest price since last April, were among the day's features, although both stocks canceled their gains and closed at small fractional losses.

Rails made a better general showing than the industrials, Southern Railway creating another new record price at 47⅝, while the St. Louis Southwestern issues advanced about a point each, buying of all being based on speculative expectation of an early resumption of dividends.

Independent steels showed considerable strength on reports of increased operations and higher earnings. Bethlehem closed nearly 2 points higher at 60⅞; Crucible and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe each moved up 1⅜, and Gulf States Steel and Republic closed more than a point higher. Tobaccos developed temporary strength, but were unable to maintain their gains in the late wave of profit taking, although American Tobacco closed 1½ higher at 154⅝ after selling a point above that figure.

The Pan-American issues each closed about 1½ points lower. Rubbers still felt the depressing effects of tire cuts, Kelly-Springfield showing a loss of nearly 1½ points at the close. Pacific Oil and Standard Oil of California were heavily sold at the close, each dropping about 2½ points. Some of the high spots in the industrial list included Houston Oil, Otis Elevator, Fisher Body, and South Porto Rican Sugar, up 2 to 4 points.

RAILROAD NOTES

Although reorganization and sale of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad may be necessary as the result of inability to repay a government loan which became due Dec. 1, 1923, the public may be assured a continued operation of the line, W. T. Kemper, receiver, declared in a statement yesterday.

The interstate commerce commission has decided the Mathieson Alkali works multi-unit chlorine tank cars shall be given the same rating and privileges as other tank cars. When the multi-unit car was placed in operation two years ago the transportation companies refused to recognize it as a tank car, because it carries fifteen tons of liquid chlorine in one ton units, instead of in a single unit, as in the standard type tank car.

Freight car loadings for the week ended Jan. 19 totaled 895,276 cars, a high record for this season of the year, against 872,265 in the last preceding week and 864,299 in the corresponding week last year.

Philip Jacobson paid an indicated $110,000, subject to $60,000, to Nathan Beller and Benjamin W. Nathan for the twelve flats at the northeast corner of Sunnyside and Kedzie, 62x125.

Aside from That It's O. K.

Aside from the fact that Joseph Rosenberg was attorney in the sale of the Abraham Liebling leasehold at 108 North Dearborn, instead of his brother, Benjamin; that Nathan K. Aranoff and not M. K. Aranof was buyer, and that Joseph Kaplan was broker, the report of the deal in this column yesterday was accuracy itself. This misinformation was supplied THE TRIBUNE and was assumed to be correct.

The twenty apartments at the southeast corner of Rhodes avenue and 84th place were sold by Mary A. Dickson of Los Angeles to Perry B. Carr for a reported 56,000, subject to $40,000, through Howard S. Taylor & Co.

The two story apartment building at the southeast corner of Peoria and 76th, 77x124, was sold by Richard P. Fitzgerald to Mary and Margaret McMillan for an indicated $55,500, subject to $30,000.

1924 IS STARTED WITH BIG GAINS BY MAIL HOUSES

BY O. A. MATHER.

With one of the best years in their history just ended, the big Chicago mail order concerns are starting in on a new record. January sales were larger than a year ago, again attesting the improved situation of the farmer and his disposition to buy generously.

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. last month totaled $19,302,853, a gain of 1.97 per cent over January, 1923. Although January is an "in between" month, the total last month was exceeded only four times last year and only three times in 1922. Sales of Montgomery Ward & Co. at $11,305,477 were the largest for any January in the company's history. The total marked a gain of 32.18 per cent over January, 1923, and exceeded January, 1920, the best previous record, by 25.73 per cent. The current total was exceeded six times last year, but only once in 1922.

General Trade Doing Well.

The week-end mercantile reviews report general trade proceedings fairly well, although cross-currents continue.

"Activity seems most manifest in the construction industries—iron, steel, coal, petroleum and building material," Bradstreet's says. "On the other hand, the apparel trades—cotton, woolens, silks and footwear—seem to lag, and wholesale manufacturing lines fell behind a year ago. Retail trade had another pretty good week and the conclusion seems to be that buying was slightly larger than in January, 1923."

"Business continues to move forward toward spring activity, and in many lines it is in substantial volume," Dun's says. "A little improvement in the demand for footwear has helped the markets for leather and hides."

"The weekly report shows a continuance of the upward movement in purchasing which began immediately after Jan. 1," the Credit Clearing House says. "The country as a whole shows an increase in purchasing activity equal to 1.8 per cent above last week."

Several items of corporation financing figured in yesterday's news. The entire issue of $26,500,000 common stock offered by the New York Central railroad to stockholders was taken up when the sale closed last night. The new stock will share in distribution of the rights to purchase Reading Coal company stock.

The Maxwell Motor corporation's new issue of $5,000,000 ten year 7 per cent convertible debentures will be offered to stockholders of record Feb. 11 at 98, in the ratio of $6.40 par value of debentures for each share of stock held. The "rights" will expire March 1. The proceeds of the issue will be used to pay off $4,500,000 of notes maturing next June. The Philadelphia Electric company soon will allot $10,000,000 of common stock at $25 a share, to provide for capital expenditures.

U. S. Food Products Plans Revised.

Revised plans for the reorganization of the United States Food Products company are said to provide for the formation of a new company with 200,000 shares of no par value common stock, 110,000 shares of preferred stock with preferential dividends of $7 a share annually, and $3,200,000 six year convertible 7 per cent notes. Present stockholders, it is understood, will be offered rights to subscribe to the new common stock and notes.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Superior Oil corporation has been called for Feb. 13 to ratify the issue of $1,000,000 five year first mortgage 7 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, having attached two forms of stock option warrants evidencing, respectively, rights of purchase as to 200,000 and as to 100,000 additional shares of common stock. Stockholders of record Feb. 13 are to be offered the privilege of subscribing for the bonds at the rate of $107.85 of bonds for each 100 shares held.

Chicago stocks were irregular yesterday, a feature being the rise in Yellow Manufacturing of 3 points. Yellow Cab advanced ¼, as did Montgomery Ward, the latter rise being attributed to an advance in January sales over the same period a year ago. Declines were: Boone Woolen Mills, ⅛; Stewart-Warner, ⅜, and Union Carbide and Swift International, ¼ each. On small sales gains were: Motor coach, 3 points; American Public Service preferred, 1½; Kellogg Switchboard and Supply, 1½, and U. S. Gypsum and Murray Manufacturing, a point each. United Light and Railways first preferred declined 2 points.

TAX FREE IN ILLINOIS

Montgomery Ward & Co.

INCORPORATED

Class "A" Cumulative Stock—Non-callable

THE name "Montgomery Ward" is synonymous with the mail order business, in which they are the oldest and one of the largest concerns in the world. The Company has more than 6,000,000 customers, its trade extending into every state in the Union and to many countries outside of the United States.

The Company has no funded indebtedness, and is in a splendid condition financially, its net income for the year ended December 31, 1923 [the most successful in the Company's history], after Federal taxes, being $7,202,625. After provision for the prior Preferred Stock there remained a balance of $31.45 per share applicable to current dividends and arrears on the 205,000 shares of Class "A" stock outstanding.

The directors of the Company have declared a dividend of $1.75 on this stock, payable to holders of record at February 7, 1924. At the offering price of $111 flat per share, the yield at this rate is over 6.30%. Cumulative dividend arrearages, as of January 1st, 1924, amount to $21.00, and the ultimate yield, if and when these are paid, will be approximately 8%.

The New York Times.

New York, Feb. 1. — [Special.] — Transactions on the stock exchange today merely indicated continuance of recent tendencies. The general impulse of prices seemed to be upward but with considerable uncertainty and with frequent realizing of speculative profits on the rise. The result of this combination of influences was that while, on occasions during the day, several industrial shares had scored substantial advances, prices were left with irregular changes for the day. There were a good many net declines, some of the shares which had been strongest in the earlier hours ending lower than on Thursday. Railway shares repeated their recent action of moving only fractionally.

Oil Shares Are Weak.

Most of the oil company shares were distinctly weak. It would be interesting to know—it would have to be mostly guesswork — how far this weakness in shares of those properties is one of the many consequences of the extraordinary political drama at Washington.

With each successive disclosure in that investigation, with its shattering of political reputations, Washington itself has declared that the ramifying influences could not possibly go further; yet the next day or two would carry them into absolutely new ground. It is not impossible that some speculative holders of the "oil shares" have fallen into the state of confused bewilderment which prevails in official Washington.

Sterling Exchange Advances.

The sterling exchange market repeated the procedure which it has made familiar after every overdone speculative decline since the war. When the ideas or apprehensions on which rates had been sold down were shown to have been exaggerated or unwarranted the "bear speculators" would buy first, then speculators for the rise would take a hand, and at last merchants who had postponed remittances would rush in to buy exchange.

Sterling rose 5¼ cents today; its best price was 8⅝ cents above Wednesday's closing, 13¼c above the price of a week ago and 15¼c above the low figure reached on Jan. 21. The franc moved up more moderately, partly, perhaps, because it lacks the immediate influence of the large trade obligations, which must be "covered" by direct remittance, that exist in the case of London.

Buenos Aires.

N. D. H.: The city of Buenos Aires, Argentina, is issuing $8,490,000 external 6½ per cent bonds, due 1955, to provide funds for public works. Buenos Aires is the largest city in the world south of the equator and ranks about tenth among all the cities of the world. Its population is estimated at 1,800,000. These bonds are payable, principal and interest, in United States gold coin. They are the direct obligation of the city. Its revenues from all sources, including municipally owned properties, for the fiscal year ended Feb. 29, 1924 (January and February estimated), are given as $30,394,755, while the service charges on its entire debt, including this issue, will require $5,339,799. Of the total revenues, about 38 per cent is derived from the general tax, which is based on rental value of property. The city has no floating debt. The service of all loans outstanding shall not exceed 20 per cent of the total annual revenues of the city without the sanction of the national congress. The assessed valuation (1921) is $1,127,479,951 and the total debt, $65,824,157, of which $35,450,742 is internal and $30,373,415 is external, including this issue. The value of municipally owned real estate, buildings, etc., is $148,579,200. These figures are in dollars with pesos converted at par. These bonds are a sound investment.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 1.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The opening of initial lines of goods by the American Woolen company on Thursday at prices substantially on a par with the prices fixed for heavyweights a year ago has been a matter of surprise to most of the trade. The response of the buyers to such attractive prices can hardly be determined as yet.

"The wool market is firm both here and abroad, with fine wools showing a strengthening tendency. Mohair is steady on moderate demand. Quotations:

"Domestic:

"Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces—Delaine, unwashed, 56@57c; fine unwashed, 50c; one-half blood combing, 56@57c; three-eighths blood combing, 56@57c.

NEW BUILDING.
Most attractive 4 room apts.; living rm. 12x19, built-in baths. Why pay high rent when you can live under our plan in the exclusive Edgewater district in a high grade building? Our co-operative plan will enable you to live in this building for $45 a month. Our buildings are located where values are climbing rapidly. When you pay rent of $100 per month for 5 years you have paid out $6,000 with nothing to show for it. Pay it to yourself and own your own apartment. 5501 Winthrop-av., corner Catalpa. Ph. Sunnyside 7496 and Ardmore 0237.

AM I RIGHT?
$4,500 will pay 3 years' rent with nothing to show for it. It will buy a good car which will be worth less than $1,000 after 3 years, or it will pay for the equity of a 5 rm. sun parlor apt., 1 blk. from Sheridan-rd., which will increase in value in 3 years. You can occupy the apt. just the same as the renter does and you can stay there. The upkeep is less on the apt. than on the car. You can buy any one of these three items on terms. "OWN A HOME first." If you WILL pay rent and you MUST have a car, buy the one you need. A MOVING VAN.

OWN YOUR OWN APT.
A small investment will secure a spacious 4 rm. apt. with an exceptionally large sun parlor, pantry with outside icing, and 4 large closets, 1 blk. from Sheridan-rd. in Rogers Park; expense for interest and operating is $37.87; now leased for $87.50. Buy this apt. now; collect the rent until the lease expires, and then have a fine home at lowest cost. Five room apt. also available. See

See Us Before Borrowing
$10 TO $300

The Fidelity Loan Co. is operated under the supervision of the State of Illinois, and provides a place where honest people without bank credit can borrow any amount from $10 to $300 without paying more than the legal interest and without having their employers, friends, or tradespeople know. NO OUTSIDE INQUIRIES. NO ENDORSERS. You can get the money in a few hours and repay it in monthly payments to suit your convenience. You pay only for the time you keep the money. It is only necessary that you are keeping house.

Loans $10 to $300

If you own furniture, a piano, or other personal property you can borrow $10 to $300 of us quickly and confidentially on easy terms and at legal rates. We also make "character loans" to responsible men and women having steady employment. You don't need to have a finely furnished home or a big salary to get a loan of us. We make no inquiries of friends, relatives, or employer. Loans can usually be arranged in a few hours. You can save time by bringing your credentials with you, such as receipts, references, or other identification. No red tape. 40 years in business is our reference for reliability.

CADILLAC

AUTOMOBILE SHOW WEEK BARGAINS.

Phaeton	$1,975
Touring	1,975
Victoria	2,700
Five Pass. Coupe...	2,700
Five Pass. Sedan...	2,775
Suburban	2,975

These automobiles have been completely reconditioned mechanically by our own craftsmen under our own roof. The bodies have been carefully repainted in our Coach Department and the upholstery and tops renewed whenever found necessary. Five new tires have been mounted on the cars. The standard 90-day new car warranty applies to each of these cars.

The person seeking a new automobile at or near these figures would be wise to investigate these cars. They offer features which a new car at their price could not supply—Cadillac dependability, riding, and handling ease, beauty of body lines, and Cadillac distinction.

We invite you to inspect our display. We shall consider it a privilege to show you our stock and take you through the service department.

FRANKLIN

NO WATER TO FREEZE OR BOIL.

FRANKLIN TOURING, LATE MODEL, SER. 9-B. The lightest, easiest riding, most economical and best road going car you can buy. Appearance like current car. Burn-off paint job; painted dustproof gray. Chassis and 6 cylinder air cooled engine (7 bearing crank shaft), first class and guaranteed. Aluminum body. Good tires, power tire pump, many extras. No car has Franklin's braking system. Compare these features with any car within $1,000 of its price; $885.

FRANKLIN 5 PASS. SEDAN, LATE MOD. 9-B. The Franklin is the only sedan having most liberal seating dimensions without so-called "big car" heavy weight. Wide doors; ample elbow room. Aluminum body refinished dustproof gray, black superstructure. Mechanically first class and guaranteed. Has 5 black wire wheels, 5 excellent cord tires, 2 bumpers, seat covers, other extras. Try this car for easy handling, easy riding, and hill climbing ability. See it today; $1,475.

PAIGE LIGHT 6 TOURING, '21, 5 PASS. This is the "6-44" model that has attained popularity because of its sturdiness and economical upkeep. A demonstration will please you. Has almost new cord tires, spare, 2 bumpers, lock, etc. Nothing necessary in the way of repairs. Priced $100 below market; $450.

REO '19 4 CYL. TOUR. WITH GLASS SIDES. Best 5 passenger value in city. One of those models that seem never to wear out. Almost new cord tires, spare, glass sides, etc. Excellent mechanically. First caller gets it for $125.
